Unions Spurn Plea To Curb Wage Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Leaders of the nation's two biggest labor unions, Teamsters and United Auto Workers, spurned Friday the Nixon administration's plea to restrain wage demands to help curb inflation. Union officials said they will ask for substantial increases in upcoming contracts.

Teamsters acting president Frank E. Fitzsimmons said some 450,000 truck drivers will vote next week on a proposed three-year wage and benefits increase of nearly 30 per cent. He said the increase could go even higher if any trucking company exceeds the national contract proposal.

The Labor Department will supervise the vote, Fitzsimmons said.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW said his union will demand increases well in excess of eight per cent a year for some 750,000 workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

"We expect to do a hell of a lot better than that for the guy in the shop," Reuther told more than 3,000 UAW convention delegates representing 1.6 million members. The Teamsters Union totals some 2 million workers.

The eight per cent figure Reuther mentioned was approved by the convention of salary increases, for the UAW's officers and staff members this year, including an increase in Reuther's current $32,907 annual salary. He warned newsmen not to speculate that the union would settle for eight per cent a year in talks with the Big Three auto makers. Those negotiations open in July for contracts expiring Sept. 14.

Says Communists Behind San Jose Demonstrations

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — President Jose T. Trejos says Communists were behind a violent street demonstration Friday night by youths protesting a deal between Costa Rica and a U.S. aluminum company.

"There were no students on the streets but only gangsters and professional agitators," the president said. "Communist elements tried to abuse the civic spirit of the students, provoking riots in the center of the city."

Thousands of young people took to the streets after Trejos signed a contract that will allow Alcoa, the Aluminum Company of America, to mine bauxite deposits at a 65,000-acre site in southern Costa Rica.

Proxmire Lashes Out At GOP Scare Tactics

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A leading Senate critic of defense spending accused the Pentagon today of flooding Congress with scare-tactic propaganda about Soviet missiles to protect the military's budget.

"This is the old 'scare hell out of them' technique which the Pentagon unveils each year just before their money bills are acted on," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., declared.

Referring to recent Pentagon-released information and photographs of the Soviet SS-9 missile and other weapons, Proxmire added, "There is nothing new or more threatening than before in these Pentagon revelations.

"They are timed more to protect the Pentagon's budget request than to alert the American people against any new or dangerous threat," the senator said in remarks prepared for a foreign policy institute at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

Proxmire said Soviet tests of the SS-9 have been known for months, a new Russian radar installation is above ground and vulnerable to attack, and "Soviet submarines with nuclear warheads have been sitting off our coast for years."

Yet,he said, the Pentagon decided to make use of the information when its budget request was before Congress.

Proxmire said the United States has the "assured destructive capability" against the Soviet Union.

The United States has the capability to launch more than 4,000 nuclear bombs on missiles, deliver another 7,000 by bomber or short-range missiles, and launch 6,000 bombs toward Moscow by using multiple warheads on submarine and Minutemen missiles, Proxmire said.

Opinion Polls In S. Vietnam Held Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is taking public opinion polls in Vietnam "to measure the attitudes of the South Vietnamese people," but won't disclose what it is asking them—or what they are replying.

Like a series of opinion surveys dating back five years, that information is classified.

The secrecy has drawn complaints from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who said Friday he has asked the agency to review the question.

USIA Director Frank Shakespeare sent Fulbright copies of the polls already conducted on April 6. They were stamped confidential.

"Unauthorized release of this material would seriously compromise national security," Shakespeare said.

Fulbright disagreed, saying after reviewing the polls that he saw no need for secrecy.

"For an agency which is supposedly devoted to promoting the free and open exchange of ideas and information, the suppression of polls or similar matters seems most unusual and uncalled for," he said.

In sending Fulbright the result of past USIA polls, the agency reported that "attitudinal surveys . . . are presently being fielded in Vietnam as part of a continuing program to assist operating officials to measure the attitudes of the South Vietnamese people."

Chicago Truckers Seek Better Deal

By The Associated Press

A tentative national Teamsters Union contract will be renegotiated if Chicago truck drivers get a better deal, the union's acting president says.

Frank E. Fitzsimmons said Friday that union members will vote on the national pact next week, but that trucking industry negotiators agreed to reopen talks if any company grants more than the $1.10 in wages and increased fringe benefits called for in the settlement.

Chicago drivers, who negotiate their contract separately from the national union, are asking for a three-year pact providing increases of $1.65 in wages and $10 a week in fringe benefits.

The national contract was worked out in Washington last month, but ratification by some 450,000 drivers has been delayed by efforts to arrange work rule changes for different sections of the country.

Firebombs Destroy Indian's Life Work

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Two firebombs which caused a $100,000 blaze at a Stanford University research center had a devastating impact on work by 10 scholars, Stanford officials report.

The blaze in the predawn hours Friday came a few hours after police evicted a group of anti-ROTC demonstrators from another campus building.

Stanford officials said an early assessment indicated the most tragic loss was destruction of a lifetime of research data by M.S. Srinivas of India, regarded as one of the world's leading sociologists.

Srinivas, a sociologist from the University of Delhi, was not available for comment, and a colleague, University of Chicago anthropologist Sol Tax, pleaded: "Don't disturb him. His mother just died this week and now his entire life's work has been destroyed."

Elsewhere on campus, demonstrators caused an additional $40,000 damage smashing windows at numerous buildings.

Loss in the fire at the Research Center for Advanced Study of Behavioral Sciences was figured at $100,000, but this did not include the scholarly losses, which educators termed "incalculable."

Srinivas is one of nine visiting scholars whose work was damaged or destroyed.

There were unofficial estimates that as much as 75 years of works might have been damaged.

Center Director O. Meredith said Srinivas' office apparently was hardest hit.

"What was burned was a life," he said. "An entire life totally destroyed by people bent on blind, mindless destruction. This man has done nothing but good to anyone and now he is ruined because of a childish social tantrum."

The window-smashing spree followed arrests of 22 persons among more than 100 who held an anti-ROTC sitin for 12 hours in the Old Student Union Building.

Calumet Woman Wounded, Mate Takes Own Life

CALUMET (AP) — An Upper Peninsula woman was reported in serious condition today after, police said, she was shot by her husband, who then took his own life.

Anna E. Raisanen, 52, was taken to Calumet Public Hospital after, police said, her left leg was shattered below the knee by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Police summoned to the Raisanen home today by the couple's two daughters, 14 and 16, found Mrs. Raisanen wounded and her husband, Eddie, 57, dead.

The Raisanen home is situated a few miles north of Calumet in Houghton County.

3 East Lansing Banks Targets Of Explosions

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) Explosions damaged the exteriors of three banks in the college community of East Lansing early today.

Police said the bombs went off simultaneously in the doorways of the East Lansing State Bank, the First National Bank and the East Lansing Savings and Loan. The First National was the most heavily damaged, with the front door being blown out.

The other banks suffered lesser damage. Bank officials said all three were expected to open today for regular Saturday business hours.

East Lansing is the home of Michigan State University, although police made no immediate connection between the blasts and the school.

Cambodia Conflict Gets 'Invasion' Tab

Nixon Pondering Plan To Send U.S. Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has branded the conflict in Cambodia "clearly a foreign invasion," but says President Nixon needs more time to decide whether the United States will pour arms into the Southeast Asian country.

"The obvious fact is that 40,000 Communist forces is clearly a foreign invasion, and in no sense could this be a pretense of a civil war," presidential press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Friday.

No Arms Respond

But Ziegler declined to say when the administration will respond to Cambodia's urgent appeals for U.S. arms aid.

Nixon has the whole situation under consideration, Ziegler said, adding: "He is watching it and is concerned with it."

The arms requests have put Nixon in a difficult political position, especially after he announced last Monday the phased withdrawal of an additional 150,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam within the next year.

The White House announced Thursday the United States has approved a plan by the South Vietnamese to send several thousand Soviet-built rifles to Cambodia.

Nixon Ponders Move

At the same time, Ziegler said, that action does not constitute a reply to Cambodia's repeated requests for U.S. assistance in putting down the Communist forces, a problem Nixon is pondering this weekend.

The President twice this week postponed meetings of the National Security Council, apparently to wait for the situation in Cambodia to jell.

Meantime, many members of Congress are expected to make it clear they oppose any U.S. involvement in the Cambodian conflict.

Keep Out: Mansfield

In a television interview on NBC Friday, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he feels the United States "absolutely" should stay out of Cambodia.

Despite the feelings of Mansfield and other lawmakers, Nixon, in his own Asian doctrine, said last summer on Guam the United States should stay out of Asian civil wars but can offer assistance in the event of external aggression.

In his state-of-the-world address in February, Nixon said "we shall look to the nation directly threatened to assume the primary responsibility of providing the manpower for its defense."

But he also said that in cases involving nonnuclear aggression "we shall furnish military and economic assistance when requested and as appropriate."

Congress Just Pleased With Apollo Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although their spacecraft failed them on their mission to explore the moon, two of the Apollo 13 astronauts were received like heroes on Capitol Hill by congressmen happy just to have them back.

And NASA officials indicated at a hearing before the Senate space committee that something as small as a bit of insulation or aluminum might have sparked the explosion that crippled the Apollo 13 service module enroute to the moon.

"We are essentially people who test equipment," James A. Lovell Jr., told the Senate hearing. "In this business you can't expect successes all the time."

Lovell and John L. Swigert Jr. spent most of two hours retelling the story of the trouble-plagued flight and their recovery, then lunched in a House dining room and spent an hour being photographed with congressmen and their staff members.

The third astronaut, Fred W. Haise Jr., remained behind in Houston nursing a urinary track infection. Marilyn Lovell, Jim's wife, said "he is pretty sick, with 104 degree temperature and taking a lot of medication."

Dr. Rocco A. Petrone, the Apollo program director, told newsmen after the hearing that some material reacting in one of the super-cold oxygen tanks might have provided "the energy source" that caused the explosion.

"We greatly suspect an energy source inside the tank," he said. "Wire insulation can be an energy source. Aluminum wire can be an energy source.

"The energy increase (that burst the tank) was probably caused by oxidation in the tank."

Car-Sharing Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new computer matching service is opening in Los Angeles, to bring together commuters who want to form car pools.

N.J. "Bud" Goldstone, a North American Rockwell engineer, announced Thursday formation of the firm, Compu-Transit. He said car sharing could remove one million of the 3.5 million cars that clog freeways in Los Angeles and Orange counties during rush hours.

Cost of his service will be $3.

Red Chinese Report Launch Of Satellite

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The North American Air Defense Command headquarters here has been tracking the earth orbiting satellite launched by Communist China since its launch Friday and a spokesman said today the satellite is flying regularly over the United States.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today that it had launched a satellite into orbit around the earth.

The official New China News Agency said the 381 pound satellite completes one revolution around the earth each 114 minutes and broadcasts the music of "Tung Fang Hung"—The East Is Red—at a frequency of 20.009 megacycles.

Launched Friday

The satellite was launched Friday, the agency said.

The agency said the satellite's orbit ranges from 273 miles to 1,480 miles above the earth at an angle to the equator of 68.5 degrees.

"The successful launching of the satellite marks a good beginning in the development of China's space technology," the agency added. "It is a great victory for Mao Tse-tung thought, . . and another fruitful result of the great proletarian cultural revolution."

The announcement began: "Our great leader, Chairman Mao, has stated: We too should produce manmade satellites. In the midst of the triumphant march of the people throughout the country to hail the great 1970, we are happy to announce that this great call issued by Chairman Mao has come true-China successfully launched its first manmade earth satellite on April 24, 1970."

No Technical Details

It gave no further technical details, nor did it say where the satellite was launched or with what type rocketry.

The launching, if confirmed, is likely to add to worries in the West over Communist China's already known capability to produce nuclear weapons. The question for some time has been how the Chinese would deliver them to a target.

Banner Of Unity

The announcement said China achieved its success "by holding high the banner of unity and victory of the ninth party congress, adhering to the principle of independence and self-reliance, faithfully carrying out the general line of going all out, aiming high and achieving greater, faster, better and more economical results in building socialism, and by grasping revolution, promoting production and other work and preparedness against war with concrete action."

Japan recently succeeded in putting up a satellite, joining the United States, the Soviet Union and France in the club of nations that have developed the rocketry to accomplish such a feat.

Police Seize Suspect In Assassination Try

NEW YORK (AP) — Nationalist Chinese Vice Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, son and heir apparent to his aging father, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan. A single pistol shot missed when a security guard deflected the aim of a 32-year-old college researcher from Taiwan, police said.

Police subdued the gunman on the steps of the Plaza Hotel Friday as Chiang went inside to a luncheon. The gunman, identified by police as Peter Huang, a researcher at Cornell University in Ithaca, was charged with attempted murder and resisting arrest. He was held without bail.

Police inspector William Averill said Huang had been demonstrating with a group of 30 members of the World United Formosans for Independence before he rushed at Chiang.

The gunman shouted, "Long live Taiwan! Down with Chiang Kai-shek!" as police subdued him.

The World United Formosans for Independence, which is dedicated to overthrowing the Chiang regime that has ruled Formosa, or Taiwan, since 1949, later issued a statement saying the group "deplores acts of violence . . . and wishes in no way associated with the act that took place at the Plaza Hotel."

The demonstrators carried placards saying, "We represent the silenced majority" and Taiwan is neither free nor China." Last Monday members of the same group picketed the White House in Washington shortly before the younger Chiang visited President Nixon.

Police also arrested a second man outside the hotel, booked him on the same charges and held him without bail. They identified him as Tzu-Tsai Cheng, 33, an architect, and said he was "acting in concert" in the assassination attempt.

47 States Will Change Time But Michigan Won't

By The Associated Press

Forty-seven states make the annual switch from standard time to daylight saving time Sunday morning.

Officially, clocks are set ahead an hour at 2 a.m. But there's no law against doing it at bedtime tonight. The lost hour is regained Oct. 25, when standard time again is in effect.

Under the federal Uniform Time Act, states may exempt themselves from the time change. Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii have done so.

A group of Indiana theater owners has asked the federal court to place the entire state in the central zone. Now, 12 counties are on central time while the rest of the state is in the eastern zone.

"The successful launching of the satellite marks a good beginning in the development of China's space technology," the agency added. "It is a great victory for Mao Tse-tung thought, .. and another fruitful result of the great proletarian cultural revolution."

The announcement began: "Our great leader, Chairman Mao, has stated: We too should produce manmade satellites. In the midst of the triumphant march of the people throughout the country to hail the great 1970, we are happy to announce that this great call issued by Chairman Mao has come true-China successfully launched its first manmade earth satellite on April 24, 1970."

No Technical Details

It gave no further technical details, nor did it say where the satellite was launched or with what type rocketry.

The launching, if confirmed, is likely to add to worries in the West over Communist China's already known capability to produce nuclear weapons. The question for some time has been how the Chinese would deliver them to a target.

Banner Of Unity

The announcement said China achieved its success "by holding high the banner of unity and victory of the ninth party congress, adhering to the principle of independence and self-reliance, faithfully carrying out the general line of going all out, aiming high and achieving greater, faster, better and more economical results in building socialism, and by grasping revolution, promoting production and other work and preparedness against war with concrete action."

Japan recently succeeded in putting up a satellite, joining the United States, the Soviet Union and France in the club of nations that have developed the rocketry to accomplish such a feat.

Police Seize Suspect In Assassination Try

NEW YORK (AP) — Nationalist Chinese Vice Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, son and heir apparent to his aging father, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan. A single pistol shot missed when a security guard deflected the aim of a 32-year-old college researcher from Taiwan, police said.

Police subdued the gunman on the steps of the Plaza Hotel Friday as Chiang went inside to a luncheon. The gunman, identified by police as Peter Huang, a researcher at Cornell University in Ithaca, was charged with attempted murder and resisting arrest. He was held without bail.

Police inspector William Averill said Huang had been demonstrating with a group of 30 members of the World United Formosans for Independence before he rushed at Chiang.

The gunman shouted, "Long live Taiwan! Down with Chiang Kai-shek!" as police subdued him.

The World United Formosans for Independence, which is dedicated to overthrowing the Chiang regime that has ruled Formosa, or Taiwan, since 1949, later issued a statement saying the group "deplores acts of violence . . . and was in no way associated with the act that took place at the Plaza Hotel."

The demonstrators carried placards saying, "We represent the silenced majority" and Taiwan is neither free nor China." Last Monday members of the same group picketed the White House in Washington shortly before the younger Chiang visited President Nixon.

Police also arrested a second man outside the hotel, booked him on the same charges and held him without bail. They identified him as Tzu-Tsai Cheng, 33, an architect, and said he was "acting in concert" in the assassination attempt.

47 States Will Change Time But Michigan Won't

By The Associated Press

Forty-seven states make the annual switch from standard time to daylight saving time Sunday morning.

Officially, clocks are set ahead an hour at 2 a.m. But there's no law against doing it at bedtime tonight. The lost hour is regained Oct. 25, when standard time again is in effect.

Under the federal Uniform Time Act, states may exempt themselves from the time change. Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii have done so.

A group of Indiana theater owners has asked the federal court to place the entire state in the central zone. Now, 12 counties are on central time while the rest of the state is in the eastern zone.

New Park Management Concept Due For U.P.

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of Panax Newspapers

LANSING—Some day Michigan is going to have a state park that will be managed according to a completely new concept, and it will be located in the Upper Peninsula.

"This would be the first move the Department of Natural Resources ever has made to manage a park area for wilderness values, outdoor recreational activities and timber production," commented Glenn C. Gregg, deputy director of the DNR in charge of parks and recreation.

The place already has been dedicated as the Craig Lake State Park in Baraga County, but funds for its development have not been appropriated.

Gregg, who formerly lived in Gwinn and was regional manager of the DNR in the Upper Peninsula before going to Lansing as deputy director, said Craig Lake State Park will be managed primarily as a semi-wilderness park with limited development, but some of the back lands will be managed for logging and timber stand improvement.

A Study Area

Although the principal use of the area probably will be for canoeing and backpacking, lakes within the park will be managed to provide the best possible fishing, Gregg said. Primitive camping facilities with hand pumps and pit toilets will be provided. Logging trails and roads will be converted to cross country hiking and snowmobile trails after logging has been discontinued.

"Craig Lake would be a study area to see if these uses are compatible with good park development," Gregg said. "It's a completely new concept in park management."

The management concept is somewhat similar to the zone plan being followed by the U. S. Forest Service on the Sylvania Tract in the Ottawa National Forest in Gogebic County. Sylvania is zoned for logging, general recreation (principally camping, fishing and hiking) and wilderness preservation.

Six Lakes in Park

The dedicated boundaries of Craig Lake State Park encompass 10,720 acres, of which the state now owns 4,518 acres.

Within the boundaries lie hardwood stands, swamps, massive rock outcroppings and miles of lake and stream frontage.

Largest of the six lakes within the park are Craig Lake and Crooked Lake, both fine bass waters. Other lakes are Clair, Nelligan, Teddy and an unnamed lake.

The principal stream in the park is the East Branch of the Peshekee River.

The chain of lakes and streams presents unusual opportunities for development of a series of canoe trips and portages in the park, Gregg said.

Land Obtained

Before the park boundaries were established, the state owned 2,120 acres within the area. Additional acreage became available after the death in a plane crash of Fred Miller of the Milwaukee brewing family, who owned frontage on Craig Lake and had built a lodge, a caretaker's residence and several outbuildings there.

Through a series of purchases and land exchanges beginning in 1966, the state acquired several key parcels within the park area.

The state purchased 674 acres with 19,400 feet of frontage on Crooked Lake from North Woods Products, Inc., of Marquette for $100,000.

Later the same year another 1,183 acres were added to state holdings through purchase from North Woods Products, also for $100,000. Included were 8,936 fet of frontage on Craig Lake.

A land exchange with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. in 1968 brought the state 239 more acres with 14,300 feet of frontage on Craig Lake, 1,329 feet on the Peshekee River and 600 feet on Clair Lake.

Another exchange with Cleveland-Cliffs gave an additional 265 acres to the state with 1,000 feet of frontage on Craig Lake later in 1968.

Funds Hold Key

"There is no way of knowing yet when developments will take place in Craig Lake State Park," Gregg said. "The key to the whole program is the availability of funds."

Meanwhile, fisihng, hiking, canoeing, etc. are permitted in the park site but camping is prohibited because of lack of water and sanitary facilities.

Gregg is not disturbed over the temporary delay in development of the area. He is confident that Craig Lake State Park evntually will become one of the finest parks in Michigan—and one of the most unusual.

Members of the League, who are supporting the nationwide issue of environmental control, are urged to attend the meeting to learn what they can do themselves to stop pollution.

The commission said they would work for about three months, starting with the end of the school year in June.

Munising To Host Firemen's Event

MUNISING—The Munising Volunteer Fire Department will host the 76th Annual Upper Peninsula Volunteer Firemen's Tournament July 23, 24, 25, Ted Belfry, city fire chief, announced today.

The tournament will be dedicated to George MacKenzie, who retired recently as Munising's fire chief, after serving in the department for 37 years.

Over 1,000 firemen and their wives are expected to attend from 54 fire departments in the U. P. The last time this event was held here was 1956.

Belfry, who is serving as general chairman, said that his committees are preparing three days of entertainment and meetings, in an effort to make this tournament one of the most outstanding ever held.

"We have already received confirmation, Belfry continued, from the following musical units that will take part in our parades: Iron Mountain White Berets, Menominee Northernaires, Marquette Majestics, Dollar Bay Twin City Bands and the Munising Silver Echoes. Also expected to participate will be the Ishpeming Blue Notes, Ontonagon Mountainaires, Ironwood Blue Notes and the L'Anse Eagles.

"In addition, a program of professional entertainment is also being lined up," Belfry said. "As an extra feature this year, the department is presently corresponding with major manufacturers of fire fighting equipment in hopes they will set up displays and give demonstrations of their products in Munising during the tournament.

Art Exhibit Opens Tuesday

MARQUETTE — The latest exhibition being sent to Marquette by Michigan's Project Outreach is "Museum Director's Choice," a collection of paintings illustrating the varied movements of European art in the 20th Century.

Opening Tuesday at Olson Library-Gallery on the Northern Michigan University campus, the exhibition has been personally selected by Willis F. Woods, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Included are works by Maurice de Vlaminck, Henry Moore, Fernand Leger, Henri Matisse and Georges Braque, as well as other European masters. According to Woods, "The works of art selected represented a broad visual foundation for art being created and exhibited today."

In drawing works from the collections of the Detroit Institute, Woods indicated that "Color, image, form, texture and spontaneity of the artist's insight of his 'new vision' were all factors that influenced my choice."

To make the viewer's experience richer and of greater depth, Project Outreach has published a catalog which will be available at the gallery during the show. Comments by Woods will be displayed alongside each painting.

"Museum Director's Choice" will be the fifth major exhibition brought to Marquette by Outreach. It will be open to the public, free of charge, weekdays from 9 to 9, Saturdays from 9 to 5 and Sundays from 1 to 5, through the third week of May.

Arrangements for guided group tours of the gallery may be made through Mrs. Robert Moore, 440 East Michigan St., Marquette, telephone 228-9250.

Stolen Car Taken On Smashing Ride

Escanaba police this morning were looking for a young man who took a stolen car on a wild ride Friday night.

Before it was over, the driver had backed through a fence, demolished a shed, hit a tree, hit a utility pole, smashed into the rear of a parked car and jumped the curb several times.

Jeanette LaCrosse, 1323 Sheridan Rd., reported to police at 11:27 p. m. Friday that someone entered the back door of her house, took her car' keys from her purse and drove away in her car, which had been parked at the back of the house.

Police gave this sequence of events from that point.

The driver in backing out of the yard, cut the wheels and the car backed through a fence owned by Leslie C. Porath, 1317 Sheridan Rd. Shifting to forward gears, the driver then proceeded north down the alley before turning east toward Sheridan Rd. and into a storage shed at Nelson's Cash Store, owned by H. George Nelson, 1108 Sheridan Rd.

The car emerged from the shed onto Sheridan Rd., zigzagged north across the intersection of Sheridan Rd. and 14th Ave. N., and jumped the curbing. The car hit a tree, then a city utility pole jarring the lighting globe loose so it smashed on the pavement, and then proceded into the rear of a parked car owned by Mary Kobasic, 1412 Sheridan Rd.

Officers said the Kobasic vehicle was pushed over the curb onto the lawn by the impact.

The stolen car, a 1964 model sedan, then angled across Sheridan Rd. over the curb on the opposite side before coming to rest.

Police said the driver fled on foot.

Hinton Earns General's Rank

K. I. SAWYER — The Department of the Air Force has announced that Col. John R. Hinton Jr., 410th Bomb Wing commander, will become a brigadier general effective May 1.

The 50-year-old colonel, commander of the Strategic Air Command wing here for nearly two years, is scheduled to become commander of the 307th Strategic Wing, U Tapao Air Field, Thailand, in July.

As commander of the bomb wing here, the veteran of 27 years in the Air Force accrued an outstanding record of performance during his 20 months at Sawyer. The eight squadrons under his control — two tactical and six support — conduct strategic bombardment operations on a global scale and provide support for Second Air Force and other SAC units.

Colonel Hinton arrived at K. I. Sawyer AFB in July 1968 from Minot AFB where he had been vice commander of the 450th Bomb Wing.

Young Driver Held On Murder Charge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An 18-year-old motorist was arraigned on open charge of murder Thursday after police charged he deliberately forced another auto to crash into an abutment during a 100-mile-an-hour chase.

Kathleen M. Tolar, 16, of Marne was killed in the crash and four other persons who were with her in the wrecked car were hospitalized.

Held Without Bail

Robert G. Flippo, 18, of Grand Rapids was held without bail following an appearance before Grand Rapids District Court Judge J. Robert Snolenski. The unemployed youth asked the court to appoint an attorney for him.

Flippo, according to Grand Rapids police, drove away virtually unscathed after his car rammed the other vehicle on I 696 near the Leonard overpass in Grand Rapids.

Four Injured

Police Lt. Richard Dryer listed the injured as Gary De Young, 20, who is in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital; Charles Tolar, 18, who is in the intensive care unit at the same hospital: John Tolar, 19, in serious condition at Butterworth hospital and the latter's wife, Sandra, 20, in satisfactory condition at Butterworth. The Tolars are brothers of the dead girl.

Find Beer In Car

Lt. Dryer said the incident apparently was triggered April 4 when Flippo and John Tolar were arrested on charges of being minors in possession of alcohol. He said the arrests came after police found some beer in the youths' car.

Dryer and Sgt. James VanderMeulen continued their investigation to find where the youths obtained the beer.

Arrested Wednesday were Flippo, John Tolar and Donald Stevens, 48, of Grand Rapids, the grocer who allegedly sold the beer, on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All were arraigned, and Stevens also was charged with selling beer to minors.

Later that night, police said, De Young and the Tolars went to Flippo's home and an argument developed, followed by the high speed chase.

New Highway Plan Hits Trouble In Legislature

BY DON HOENSHELL
(Panax Staff Writer)

LANSING — Michigan's new $1.6 billion roadbuilding plan for the 1970's encountered trouble quickly in the legislature.

The proposal by the Michigan Highway Commission has been in Gov. Milliken's hands since early April.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee and GOP bellwether in Lansing, said:

"You know what the department wants to do, they want to get as much of that 50-50 money as they can. But the total means a gasoline tax increase.

"I don't think the people are ready for that right now."

News Breaks First

Others in the legislature sniped at the department for not informing them of developments. Their first knowledge of the plan was disclosed in newspapers.

As the debate started in the capitol, fresh details on the first major state roadbuilding proposal since 1957 were disclosed. The basic finance plan, raising the gasoline tax one cent a gallon from six to seven cents, the diesel fuel levy from seven to nine cents are unchanged.

Local governments then could add another penny to each to raise money for streets and country roads.

Non-Freeway Routes

Charles H. Hewitt, a Detroit area banker and chairman of the highway commission, said the state program would apply only to non-freeway routes, now designated as state trunklines.

Michigan obtained 90 percent of the cost in the construction of the 1,175 miles of Interstate freeways.

Now to improve the state trucklines, the state needs money to apply for 50 per cent in federal funds.

The program would be to get $477 million from federal sources, matched 50-50 by the state, obtain another $500 million in state-supported bonding in $100 million segments and $194 million from gasoline taxes not used to back up the bonds.

Hewitt sent the memorandum detailing the plan to Milliken April 7 with a second detailed explanation written by Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth.

U. P. Freeway

General details, including the first east-west freeway across the Upper Peninsula, were disclosed earlier. Specifically, the program would include:

Upper Peninsula — U.S. 2 from Ironwood to Escanaba at a cost of $189.7 million and U.S. 2 from Rapid River to I-75 north of St. Ignace, costing $138.8 million. Total $328.3 million.

Stafseth's memorandum fixes the total program at $1,081 billion on 1968 unit costs but he said the inflation since that time would raise it to $1,591 billion, including egineering and right of way.

The proposed urban primary program would, also include:

- Widen I-75 in Sault Ste. Marie to five lanes, $1,047,000.
- Reconstruct U.S. 2 in Escanaba to four lanes, $910,000.
- Provide freeway construction on US-2 in Gladstone, 1.2 miles, $1,560,000.

Hewitt's memorandum to Milliken said that 82 per cent of the state's nonfreeway routes are now obsolete and should be refurbished.

Legislators said that while the state concentrated on the Interstate system, using 90 per cent federal money, the state's own highways were neglected.

Welfare Study Hearing Called

The Governor's Welfare Study Commission will hold a public hearing in Sault Ste. Marie Thursday, April 30.

Ronald O. Warner, chairman of the Study Commission, said that representatives of various government agencies and private organizations are urged to participate.

"These hearings are being conducted to give citizens the opportunity to offer their views on any aspect of the welfare program in Michigan," Warner said. "We have an enormous task before us and the Commission has decided that it is essential to have public hearings in Sault Ste. Marie and at least four other locations so that we can benefit from everyone's thinking."

The hearing will be held in the Community Room of the First National Bank, 320 Ashmun St., between 2 and 5 p. m., in the afternoon.

The Governor's Commission consists of 20-members — 12 from the public and 8 members of the Legislature. Public members represent a variety of interests vitally concerned with welfare and the legislators represent both political parties.

Rock

Mr. and Mrs. Philip LaCosse were grandparents twice on April 18. Mr. and Mrs. Richard LaCosse of Flint presented them with a grandson and Mr. and Mrs. Philip LaCosse Jr. of Rose City had a daughter on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Croasdell have moved to Indianapolis, Ind., where he is attending airline controller school for seven months.

Lecture Program

A lecture program by wildlife photographer, Ed Fuller, will be presented at the Rock school Wednesday, April 29 at 1:20 p. m. "Untamed," is a program on the mysteries of the animal world. The public is welcome.

Board Vacancy

The four term of Emil Lund is expiring this year on the Rock Board of Education. Anyone desiring to file a petition to run for the office may obtain a nominating petition from the school office or the secretary, Helen Johnson. Petitions have to be filed with the secretary no later than 4 p. m. Saturday, May 9.

Road Improvement

The Rock Lions Parks and Roads committee recently met with the Delta County Road Commission to discuss improvement of local road 432, for one mile east of Rock and road H-1, for one and a half miles past John Norman's farm. They were informed by the commission that improvement canot be done this year, but they hope to work on the roads next year. On the committee were Herb Westlund, Clarence Larson, Martin Kaminen, George Weingartner and John Norman.

New Highway Plan Hits Trouble In Legislature

BY DON HOENSHELL
(Panax Staff Writer)

LANSING — Michigan's new $1.6 billion roadbuilding plan for the 1970's encountered trouble quickly in the legislature.

The proposal by the Michigan Highway Commission has been in Gov. Milliken's hands since early April.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee and GOP bellwether in Lansing, said:

"You know what the department wants to do, they want to get as much of that 50-50 money as they can. But the total means a gasoline tax increase.

"I don't think the people are ready for that right now."

News Breaks First

Others in the legislature sniped at the department for not informing them of developments. Their first knowledge of the plan was disclosed in newspapers.

As the debate started in the capitol, fresh details on the first major state roadbuilding proposal since 1957 were disclosed. The basic finance plan, raising the gasoline tax one cent a gallon from six to seven cents, the diesel fuel levy from seven to nine cents are unchanged.

Local governments then could add another penny to each to raise money for streets and country roads.

Non-Freeway Routes

Charles H. Hewitt, a Detroit area banker and chairman of the highway commission, said the state program would apply only to non-freeway routes, now designated as state trunklines.

Michigan obtained 90 percent of the cost in the construction of the 1,175 miles of Interstate freeways.

Now to improve the state trucklines, the state needs money to apply for 50 per cent in federal funds.

The program would be to get $477 million from federal sources, matched 50-50 by the state, obtain another $500 million in state-supported bonding in $100 million segments and $194 million from gasoline taxes not used to back up the bonds.

Hewitt sent the memorandum detailing the plan to Milliken April 7 with a second detailed explanation written by Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth.

U. P. Freeway

General details, including the first east-west freeway across the Upper Peninsula, were disclosed earlier. Specifically, the program would include:

Upper Peninsula — U.S. 2 from Ironwood to Escanaba at a cost of $189.7 million and U.S. 2 from Rapid River to I-75 north of St. Ignace, costing $138.8 million. Total $328.3 million.

Stafseth's memorandum fixes the total program at $1,081 billion on 1968 unit costs but he said the inflation since that time would raise it to $1,591 billion, including egineering and right of way.

The proposed urban primary program would, also include:

- Widen I-75 in Sault Ste. Marie to five lanes, $1,047,000.
- Reconstruct U.S. 2 in Escanaba to four lanes, $910,000.
- Provide freeway construction on US-2 in Gladstone, 1.2 miles, $1,560,000.

Hewitt's memorandum to Milliken said that 82 per cent of the state's nonfreeway routes are now obsolete and should be refurbished.

Legislators said that while the state concentrated on the Interstate system, using 90 per cent federal money, the state's own highways were neglected.

Gone Fishing

No editorial today.

Gone fishing, mentally at least.

Michigan's regular trout season opened today, sending hundreds of fishermen and would-be fishermen into the brush in the spring version of the opening day of deer season. There's sort of a special excitement that goes with the season opener, even though fishing conditions — rain or snow is not unusual, cold weather is the norm rather than the exception and streams are running at flood stage — generally are less than ideal and the trout less than cooperative.

But the anglers go anyway in one of the rites of spring.

Like last year.

It was shirt-sleeve weather heading north into the Hiawatha National Forest on the White-River road the day before the season opened, the kind of day in the spring that would have made even the most optimistic individual suspicious. The sun was bright, a warm breeze was blowing and the air pouring through the open windows of the four-wheel drive vehicle felt refreshing. A six pack rested in the back of the car, along with fishing rods, landing nets, waders, tackle boxes and sleeping bags. A canoe was firmly lashed to the roof. Groceries, just in case, had been ferried to the camp by the other part of the party.

The ride went smoothly and the getaway was timed to allow a few scouting trips down seldom used side roads to check water levels in streams which offered potential for the next morning. Streams were high, but the feeder creeks not impossible. It looked like a great weekend.

Until the morning.

Dawn broke gray and the camp thermometer shivvered just above freezing, but the coffee was hot and spirits were high — no reflection on the night before, thank you — and the group was off for a small lake where few fishermen seemed to fish.

The wind was raw, cutting through windbreakers and sweater, as the canoe was carefully launched. Away from the shelter of the trees, a slight ripple was kicked up on the surface of the lake. And despite the chill, anticipatory excitement of the first cast was warming.

A spinner hit the water. There was the soft whir of a retrieving reel. Nothing. Another cast, another retrieve. Nothing. The second boat hit the lake. Nothing. Cold. Snow flurries in the air. Nothing. Try a worm. Nothing. Maybe that's why few fishermen seemed to fish the lake.

Time to move. On to that other lake which a year before had offered a modicum of success, producing several fine rainbows. The cold had cooled the spirits, but much of the optimism remained. It was somewhat disconcerting, therefore, to find a tent on the high bank and no sign of a fisherman, except for the snores from inside. Either he had risen early, landed a limit catch and retired for a nap or the fishing was so poor he had given up.

The wind was still raw. Sky still gray. Into the lake went the canoe.

Worm first, this time. Fingers too numb to change to a lure. The canoe drifted, line dragging.

Strike. Fish on. A nice one. Get the net.

The 15-inch rainbow rocketed out of the water once, twice, then began to tire and was guided toward the canoe by the firm pressure of the reel. Alongside. Into the net. It didn't seem so sold.

And so went the opening day.

A single fish, but not skunked.

The rain began to fall. The car was warm, the camp warmer. More rain.

And so went the weekend in one camp in the Upper Peninsula.

So it may go today and Sunday.

No editorial Monday. Gone fishing.

Animal In The Road

Driving through a suburban neighborhood, a motorist noticed a dog in the road ahead, gazing intently at something in the distance. Assuming that the dog would get out of his way, the motorist kept right on going.

Unfortunately, the dog failed to move until the last moment, too late to escape sudden death under the car's wheels.

Could this motorist be held legally liable for killing the dog? A court ruled that he could indeed. Pointing out that the motorist had enough time and enough space to swerve, with no danger to himself, the court said he had no right so heedlessly to snuff out the dog's life.

As a rule, a motorist must show a decent concern for dogs and other animals in our streets and highways. This does not mean, however, that he must take precautions that would inhibit normal driving practice. Consider this case:

A motorist approaching a farm saw several turkeys by the roadside. Just as he drew near, one of the turkeys scuttled out in front of his car and was struck down.

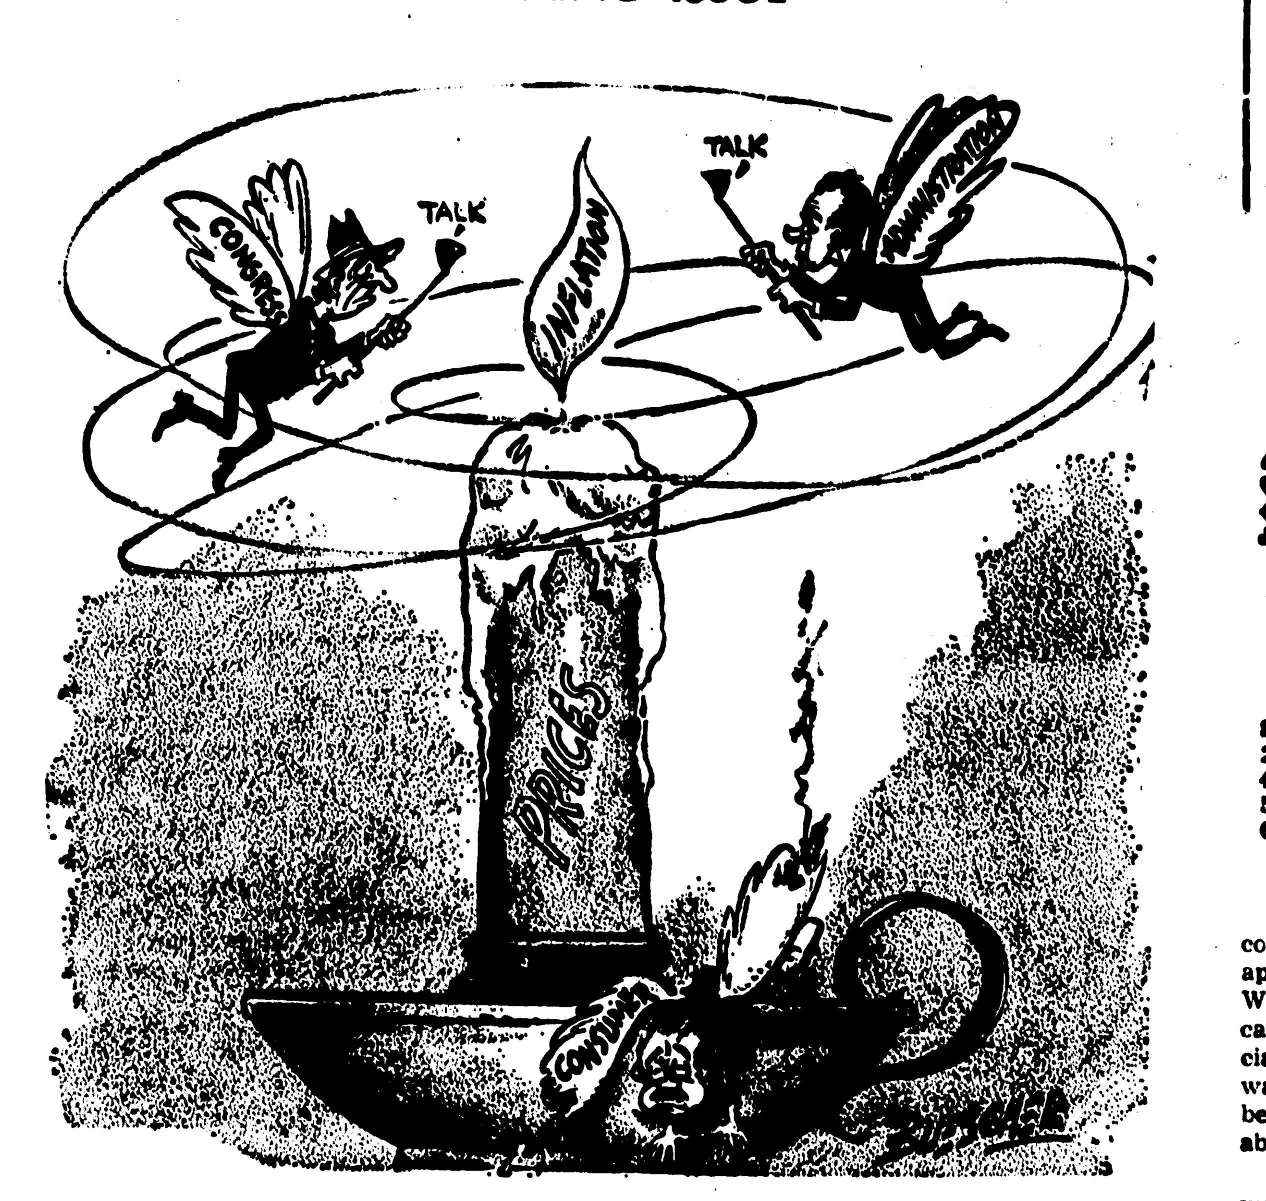
In short order, the farmer sued the motorist for damages. He argued that, since the turkeys were in plain sight, the motorist should have slowed down — just in case. But the judge held the motorist not liable, saying:

"I do not believe the law imposed upon him the duty of slowing down so he could immediately stop, just because one of these turkeys might take a notion to cross the road at an injudicious moment. Highways are not built for animals or fowls to stray in."

Of course, the motorist is even less to blame if the accident was simply not within the range of foreseeability. Another man was making a wide turn to enter his driveway one night when a neighbor's dog dashed unseen out of the darkness. The dog suffered fatal injuries, and his owner duly demanded damages on the theory that the car was on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

But a court denied the claim, because the location of the car was not the real cause of the dog's death. The court said ... was unfair to blame the motorist for an accident he could not have either foreseen or avoided.

BURNING ISSUE



Kelley, Milliken Ignore Crusading James Turner

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley is going to ignore Publisher James Turner.

So is Gov. Milliken.

Turner is the gadfly crusader for reform in the judiciary who has spread his campaign statewide from his Livingston County base and who this week said he will be a candidate for governor.

He told newsmen that Milliken and Kelley are "apparently protecting each other," charging that the governor knows many of the facts available to him (Turner) and is doing nothing.

Turner warms over his charges that Kelley is linked to the Mafia through a boyhood friend in Detroit, that his appointment as attorney general in 1962 was engineered by former Detroit Mayor Frank Cavanagh.

"In one fell swoop Turner put Cavanagh, (former Gov.) Swainson, (who appointed Kelley) and Kelley in bed with the Mafia and accused Milliken of associating with them," said one observer.

But at that point, the substance disappeared.

Turner said he would not name names or dates or places "because I might stumble over a few" without his records, which he said are available in his Howell office of Today Magazine.

He mentioned Kelley's appointment of special assistants but declined to follow up.

* * *

Turner said that Democratic and Republican state central committees have run up big telephone bills without any attempt by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to collect them.

Some candidates have unpaid telephone bills of between $1,000 and $5,000 under the same conditions, whatever they are.

"This must stop," Turner said.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, retiring after 16 years in office, said he has known Turner for years, that he's sincere, but the question of his supporting him is a question.

"I'm a Democrat," Hare said.

Sincerity rests easily on Turner. He appears to convince people when he says he believes in the democratic process, the political forms and in the Ten Commandments.

He flatly states he is $75,000 in debt, that he will within two weeks disclose all the sources of his income and how it is spent and urges all candidates to do the same.

Turner says the state paid $50,000 for a gravel pit that even the State Police couldn't find in two weeks of searching, that there are 100 grand jury indictments in Wayne County that have never been prosecuted.

* * *

The picture he presents is that of an angry middle-aged man of pure motives sacrificing himself and his future for the betterment of mankind.

Turner said he was a high school graduate in Texas and a Democrat before he came to Michigan 12 years ago and now will run against Milliken as a Republican candidate for governor.

He said he will provide detail for his charges against Milliken and Kelley in a May 7 "position paper."

Turner said he will continue to be publisher of Today Magazine throughout the campaign.

He is a political enigma and it is rare that he says anything that can be checked without going to his office in Howell. Even then the authenticity of letters and documents must be nailed down.

Kelley's office will get the report for Turner on the performance of grand juries, as he requested.

But otherwise Kelley will ignore Turner and so will Milliken—and wait for May 7.

EVERY DAY TASK

"Earth Day" has come and gone. We have cleaned up our parks and school grounds. We have worried about the dismal condition of our planet. Now that "Earth Day" is over, does our distress end?

Hopefully, Escanaba citizens are still asking themselves, "What Can I Do?"

Bay de Noc Community College sponsored an Environmental Symposium Wednesday to explore answers to this critical question. Discussion at the evening session challenged the individual citizen and consumer of Escanaba to help in four ways:

1, The Escanaba consumer can establish collection posts in the city for newspapers, returnable bottles and metal cans. These items are returned to the manufacturer (at his expense) and recycled for further use;

2, The Escanaba consumer can use his "dollar power" to promote ecologically desirable products. These include low phosphate detergents and lead-free gasoline;

3, The Escanaba consumer can refuse to purchase products that are destructive to air, land and water;

4, All citizens can stimulate awareness of total environment at home.

Only by making every day an "Earth Day" can we hope to restore and maintain this beautiful world.

DAY TO COME?

"Earth Day Program Thoroughly Backed," "Mead Given Go Ahead On Pulp Mill"—two headlines on the front page of the Escanaba Daily Press of April 22.

A page to remember—a day yet to come when Mead cuts the ribbon to the $65 million pulp mill in Escanaba.

Mead won. The company plans a show place. What happens when a $65 million show place doesn't work?

Again we have a wait and see atmosphere in the city. Is this pulp mill going to work?

Hats off to the Save Our Air committee. You all have guts to go as far as you did. Did this committee get enough help from the people of Escanaba?

Or do we all just don't care? Or are we too silent for fear of losing jobs, losing progress or losing the Mead Corp.?

Bottled Water Now Major U.S. Industry

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the nation's water supplies become contaminated, more and more Americans are pouring their drinking water from bottles rather than drawing it from taps.

At least 700 companies are now in the business. The American Bottle Water Association estimates, and their sales this year are expected to exceed $75 million. That will mean a $25 million increase in just three years.

Pollution isn't providing the only pressure beneath the sales geyster. Water shortages, affluence and more discriminating tastes are contributing. And new uses are being found all the time.

Understandably, millions of gallons of bottled water have been used to standardize the taste of liquors, beverages and other products, and dietetic considerations have dictated its use in other preparations.

Some of the newer uses weren't foreseen just a decade ago. Jet aircraft fuel is sometimes mixed with bottled water to keep engines cool during take-offs; and it is a final rinse in the plating of space vehicle skins.

Almost every sales forecast calls for continued increases in the business for years to come, a fact not lost on some of the major food and beverage companies which have been buying heavily into the industry.

The industry originally consisted of spring water companies, but now many bottlers begin with ordinary tap water, distill or demineralize it, and then reconstitute the product, perhaps with a bit of real spring water in order to give life to the taste.

Few spring water companies distribute over large areas. Many are still very small operations, in part because of the limited volume of their source.

Only one company, Mountain Valley Water Co. of Hot Springs, Ark., claims to distribute nationally from one source.

Its president, John Scott, claims that while some springs change temperature every day, the temperature and flow of his spring has not varied in a century.

Mountain Valley, it is said, was "discovered" by Hernando DeSoto in 1541, but presumably Indians had been drinking the water for many years before, for almost all civilizations have been attracted to springs.

Bishops Launch $50 Million Fund Crusade For Poor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have launched a $50 million crusade to aid blacks and other impoverished minorities.

At the semiannual meeting this week the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' also condemned the recent wave of state legislation to lift restrictions on abortions, and promised a campaign for social acceptance of pregnancies and births out of wedlock.

In acting to implement a $50 million drive against poverty, economic inequities and racism, the bishops decided to seek funds through special Thanksgiving offerings beginning next November.

They rejected proposals for combining the new fund raising with the annual Lenten appeal to finance Catholic Relief Services, the Church's international charitable arm, which raises about $8 million annually.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

Let's suppose you're in a contract the outcome of which appears to depend on a finesse. Whenever you rnu into such a case, you should make it a special point to also look for a way of increasing your chances beyond the 50 per cent probability of winning the finesse.

Take this hand where it would seem that declarer must win the spade finesse to make the slam. However, there is actually a good chance of making the hand even though West has the king of spades, and it costs declarer nothing to test this possibility before attempting the finesse.

Accordingly, he wins the club lead with the ace and cashes the K-Q of hearts and A-K of diamonds. He notes that West plays the 10-8 of diamonds as the suit is led.

Declarer crosses to dummy's king of clubs and plays the five of diamonds.

East cannot afford to step up with the queen, which would crash West's jack, so he follows low.

South does not bother to ruff the diamond because there is an excellent chance that West started with either the J-10-8 or Q-10-8. He discards a spade instead. As the cards happen to lie. West is forced to win with the jack and South automatically has the rest of the tricks because West is endplayed.

The suggested method of play succeeds because the diamonds are favorably divided, but it should be noted that, if they were not, declarer would still have the spade finesse available. The important point is that South substantially increases his chances of making the slam by first sounding out the diamonds.

Good Or Bad, Words Must Be Used Right

Dear Ann Landers: May I borrow your column to give a few million people a free English lesson?

Every time I hear someone misuse the words bad and badly, I cringe. It is so simple to learn to use these words properly. Bad is an adjective. You feel bad if you hurt someone's feelings. You do not feel badly. People frequently make a similar mistake with the words good and well. A person does not look well in her new dress, she looks good in it. To say a person looks well means they do not look sick. Food tastes bad, not badly. Or it tastes good, not well. Anyone who can't complete the series is a hopeless case.

Where are today's English teachers? Don't they teach English anymore?

I am an English teacher and I'm no longer teaching. I guess that answers my question. — D. L., Washington

Dear D. L.: Thanks for a good letter. You did well. What I mean is you didn't do badly.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a factory where it is necessary to stand or sit alongside other women for several hours at a time. A girl no older than 20 started to work here last August. At first she was very quiet. After three weeks on the job she began to talk—mostly about her little boy who was born out of wedlock. Then she began to bring pictures—every other day. (She must spend $20 a week on film.)

All we hear is Van, Van, Van. It's Van this and Van that. To listen to her, Van is the most beautiful, the smartest, sweetest, and best behaved child in the world.

We all have children. Ann, and naturally we think our kids are special, but no mother at the factory brags about her legitimate kids the way this girl carries on about her illegitimate one. Is there a polite way to shut her up?—Vanned Out

Dear Out: No way—polite or impolite. The girl probably feels defensive because the boy was born out of wedlock. Once you understand why this young mother goes in for excesses you should find her bragging less irritating.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I worked hard for 30 years. We built a good business and although it seemed as if we were killing ourselves, we enjoyed it. When we received an offer to sell out at a handsome profit, we took it —thinking the time had come to take it easy. So my husband went on a job from 8 till 5.

We are both restless in our new life. My husband is depressed because he doesn't have enough to do. I hate having him around the house so much. We used to be busy and happy. Now, from 5:15 till midnight, we sit around and look at each other.

Are we too old at 54 to start a new business? We have the money, good health and energy. What do you say?—Haunted By Doubts

Dear Doubts: Obviously you both need a challenge in order to feel useful and productive. Neither you nor your husband are happy out of harness so my advice is to get back into business—on a smaller scale. You'll be glad you did.

Gone Fishing

No editorial today.

Gone fishing, mentally at least.

Michigan's regular trout season opened today, sending hundreds of fishermen and would-be fishermen into the brush in the spring version of the opening day of deer season. There's sort of a special excitement that goes with the season opener, even though fishing conditions — rain or snow is not unusual, cold weather is the norm rather than the exception and streams are running at flood stage — generally are less than ideal and the trout less than cooperative.

But the anglers go anyway in one of the rites of spring.

Like last year.

It was shirt-sleeve weather heading north into the Hiawatha National Forest on the White-River road the day before the season opened, the kind of day in the spring that would have made even the most optimistic individual suspicious. The sun was bright, a warm breeze was blowing and the air pouring through the open windows of the four-wheel drive vehicle felt refreshing. A six pack rested in the back of the car, along with fishing rods, landing nets, waders, tackle boxes and sleeping bags. A canoe was firmly lashed to the roof. Groceries, just in case, had been ferried to the camp by the other part of the party.

The ride went smoothly and the getaway was timed to allow a few scouting trips down seldom used side roads to check water levels in streams which offered potential for the next morning. Streams were high, but the feeder creeks not impossible. It looked like a great weekend.

Until the morning.

Dawn broke gray and the camp thermometer shivvered just above freezing, but the coffee was hot and spirits were high — no reflection on the night before, thank you — and the group was off for a small lake where few fishermen seemed to fish.

The wind was raw, cutting through windbreakers and sweater, as the canoe was carefully launched. Away from the shelter of the trees, a slight ripple was kicked up on the surface of the lake. And despite the chill, anticipatory excitement of the first cast was warming

A spinner hit the water. There was the soft whir of a retrieving reel. Nothing. Another cast, another retrieve. Nothing. The second boat hit the lake. Nothing. Cold. Snow flurries in the air. Nothing. Try a worm. Nothing. Maybe that's why few fishermen seemed to fish the lake.

Time to move. On to that other lake which a year before had offered a modicom of success, producing several fine rainbows. The cold had cooled the spirits, but much of the optimism remained. It was somewhat disconcerting, therefore, to find a tent on the high bank and no sign of a fisherman, except for the snores from inside. Either he had risen early, landed a limit catch and retired for a nap or the fishing was so poor he had given up.

The wind was still raw. Sky still gray. Into the lake went the canoe.

Worm first, this time. Fingers too numb to change to a lure. The canoe drifted, line dragging.

Strike. Fish on. A nice one. Get the net.

The 15-inch rainbow rocketed out of the water once, twice, then began to tire and was guided toward the canoe by the firm pressure of the reel. Alongside. Into the net. It didn't seem so bold.

And so went the opening day.

A single fish, but not skunked.

The rain began to fall. The car was warm, the camp warmer. More rain.

And so went the weekend in one camp in the Upper Peninsula.

So it may go today and Sunday.

No editorial Monday. Gone fishing.

Animal In The Road

Driving through a suburban neighborhood, a motorist noticed a dog in the road ahead, gazing intently at something in the distance. Assuming that the dog would get out of his way, the motorist kept right on going.

Unfortunately, the dog failed to move until the last moment, too late to escape sudden death under the car's wheels.

Could this motorist be held legally liable for killing the dog? A court ruled that he could indeed. Pointing out that the motorist had enough time and enough space to swerve, with no danger to himself, the court said he had no right so heedlessly to snuff out the dog's life.

As a rule, a motorist must show a decent concern for dogs and other animals in our streets and highways. This does not mean, however, that he must take precautions that would inhibit normal driving practice. Consider this case:

A motorist approaching a farm saw several turkeys by the roadside. Just as he drew near, one of the turkeys scuttled out in front of his car and was struck down.

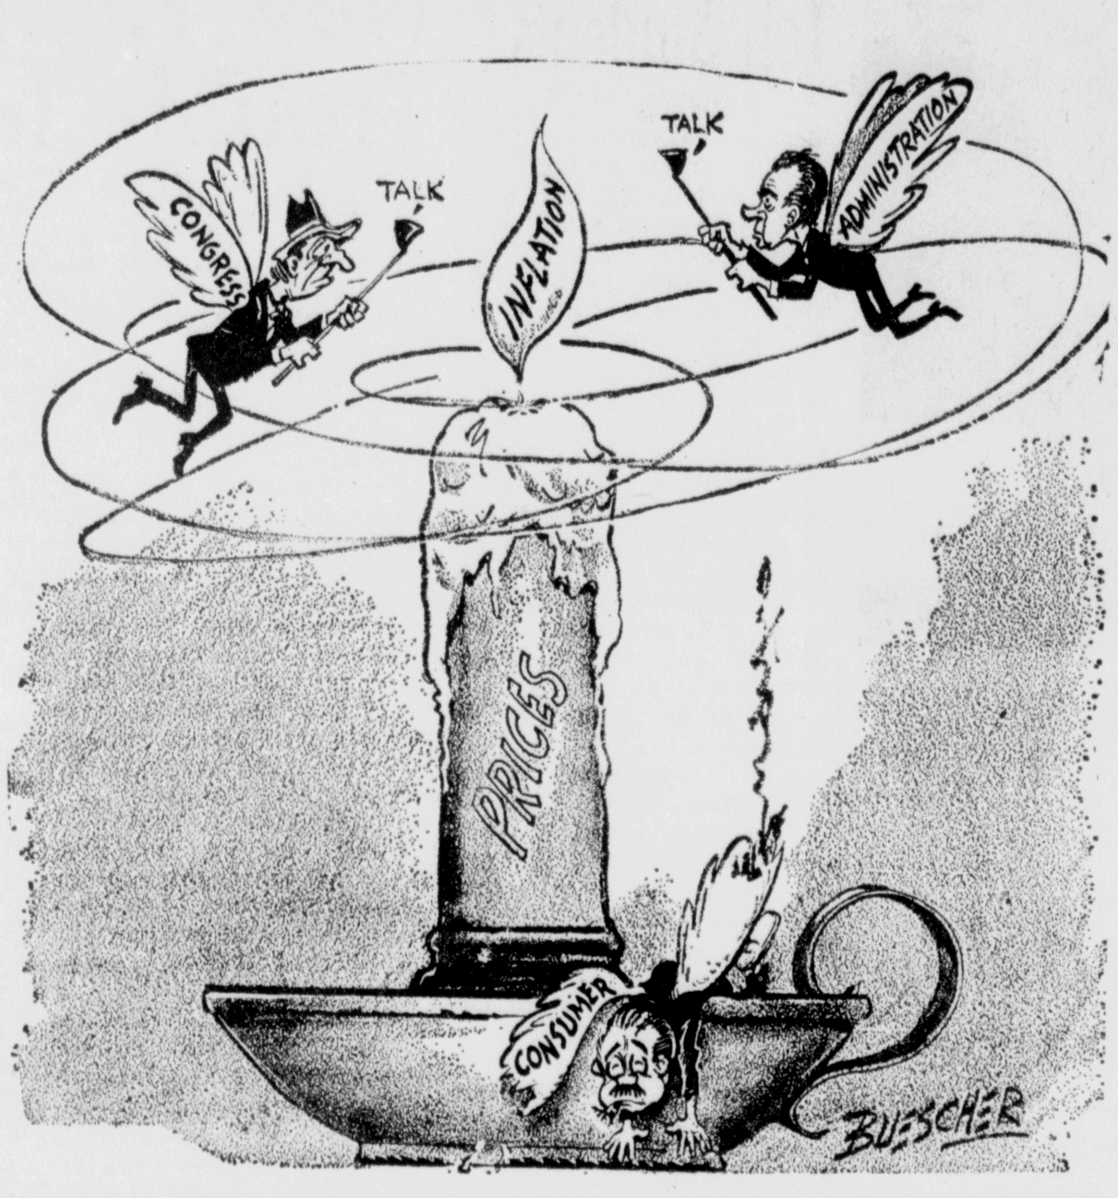
In short order, the farmer sued the motorist for damages. He argued that, since the turkeys were in plain sight, the motorist should have slowed down — just in case. But the judge held the motorist not liable, saying:

"I do not believe the law imposed upon him the duty of slowing down so he could immediately stop, just because one of these turkeys might take a notion to cross the road at an injudicious moment. Highways are not built for animals or fowls to stray in."

Of course, the motorist is even less to blame if the accident was simply not within the range of foreseeability. Another man was making a wide turn to enter his driveway one night when a neighbor's dog dashed unseen out of the darkness. The dog suffered fatal injuries, and his owner duly demanded damages on the theory that the car was on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

But a court denied the claim, because the location of the car was not the real cause of the dog's death. The court said it was unfair to blame the motorist for an accident he could not have either foreseen or avoided.

BURNING ISSUE



Kelley, Milliken Ignore Crusading James Turner

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley is going to ignore Publisher James Turner.

So is Gov. Milliken.

Turner is the gadfly crusader for reform in the judiciary who has spread his campaign statewide from his Livingston County base and who this week said he will be a candidate for governor.

He told newsmen that Milliken and Kelley are "apparently protecting each other," charging that the governor knows many of the facts available to him (Turner) and is doing nothing.

Turner warms over his charges that Kelley is linked to the Mafia through a boyhood friend in Detroit, that his appointment as attorney general in 1962 was engineered by former Detroit Mayor Frank Cavanagh.

"In one fell swoop Turner put Cavanagh, (former Gov.) Swainson, (who appointed Kelley) and Kelley in bed with the Mafia and accused Milliken of associating with them," said one observer.

But at that point, the substance disappeared.

Turner said he would not name names or dates or places "because I might stumble over a few" without his records, which he said are available in his Howell office of Today Magazine.

He mentioned Kelley's appointment of special assistants but declined to follow up.

★ ★ ★

Turner said that Democratic and Republican state central committees have run up big telephone bills without any attempt by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to collect them.

Some candidates have unpaid telephone bills of between $1,000 and $5,000 under the same conditions, whatever they are.

"This must stop," Turner said.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, retiring after 16 years in office, said he has known Turner for years, that he's sincere, but the question of his supporting him is a question.

"I'm a Democrat," Hare said.

Sincerity rests easily on Turner. He appears to convince people when he says he believes in the democratic process, the political forms and in the Ten Commandments.

He flatly states he is $75,000 in debt, that he will within two weeks disclose all the sources of his income and how it is spent and urges all candidates to do the same.

Turner says the state paid $50,000 for a gravel pit that even the State Police couldn't find in two weeks of searching, that there are 100 grand jury indictments in Wayne County that have never been prosecuted.

★ ★ ★

The picture he presents is that of an angry middle-aged man of pure motives sacrificing himself and his future for the betterment of mankind.

Turner said he was a high school graduate in Texas and a Democrat before he came to Michigan 12 years ago and now will run against Milliken as a Republican candidate for governor.

He said he will provide detail for his charges against Milliken and Kelley in a May 7 "position paper."

Turner said he will continue to be publisher of Today Magazine throughout the campaign.

He is a political enigma and it is rare that he says anything that can be checked without going to his office in Howell. Even then the authenticity of letters and documents must be nailed down.

Kelley's office will get the report for Turner on the performance of grand juries, as he requested.

But otherwise Kelley will ignore Turner and so will Milliken—and wait for May 7.

EVERY DAY TASK

"Earth Day" has come and gone. We have cleaned up our parks and school grounds. We have worried about the dismal condition of our planet. Now that "Earth Day" is over, does our distress end?

Hopefully, Escanaba citizens are still asking themselves, "What Can I Do?"

Bay de Noc Community College sponsored an Environmental Symposium Wednesday to explore answers to this critical question. Discussion at the evening session challenged the individual citizen and consumer of Escanaba to help in four ways:

1, The Escanaba consumer can establish collection posts in the city for newspapers, returnable bottles and metal cans. These items are returned to the manufacturer (at his expense) and recycled for further use;

2, The Escanaba consumer can use his "dollar power" to promote ecologically desirable products. These include low phosphate detergents and lead-free gasoline;

3, The Escanaba consumer can refuse to purchase products that are destructive to air, land and water;

4, All citizens can stimulate awareness of total environment at home.

Only by making every day an "Earth Day" can we hope to restore and maintain this beautiful world.

DAY TO COME?

"Earth Day Program Thoroughly Backed," "Mead Given Go Ahead On Pulp Mill"—two headlines on the front page of the Escanaba Daily Press of April 22.

A page to remember—a day yet to come when Mead cuts the ribbon to the $65 million pulp mill in Escanaba.

Mead won. The company plans a show place. What happens when a $65 million show place doesn't work?

Again we have a wait and see atmosphere in the city. Is this pulp mill going to work?

Hats off to the Save Our Air committee. You all have guts to go as far as you did. Did this committee get enough help from the people of Escanaba? Or do we all just don't care? Or are we too silent for fear of losing jobs, losing progress or losing the Mead Corp.?

Bottled Water Now Major U.S. Industry

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the nation's water supplies become contaminated, more and more Americans are pouring their drinking water from bottles rather than drawing it from taps.

At least 700 companies are now in the business, The American Bottle Water Association estimates, and their sales this year are expected to exceed $75 million. That will mean a $25 million increase in just three years.

Pollution isn't providing the only pressure beneath the sales geyster. Water shortages, affluence and more discriminating tastes are contributing. And new uses are being found all the time.

Understandably, millions of gallons of bottled water have been used to standardize the taste of liquors, beverages and other products, and dietetic considerations have dictated its use in other preparations.

Some of the newer uses weren't foreseen just a decade ago. Jet aircraft fuel is sometimes mixed with bottled water to keep engines cool during takeoffs; and it is a final rinse in the plating of space vehicle skins.

Almost every sales forecast calls for continued increases in the business for years to come, a fact not lost on some of the major food and beverage companies which have been buying heavily into the industry.

The industry originally consisted of spring water companies, but now many bottlers begin with ordinary tap water, distill or demineralize it, and then reconstitute the product, perhaps with a bit of real spring water in order to give life to the taste.

Few spring water companies distribute over large areas. Many are still very small operations, in part because of the limited volume of their source. Only one company, Mountain Valley Water Co. of Hot Springs, Ark., claims to distribute nationally from one source.

Its president, John Scott, claims that while some springs change temperature every day, the temperature and flow of his spring has not varied in a century.

Mountain Valley, it is said, was "discovered" by Hernando DeSoto in 1541, but presumably Indians had been drinking the water for many years before, for almost all civilizations have been attracted to springs.

Bishops Launch $50 Million Fund Crusade For Poor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have launched a $50 million crusade to aid blacks and other impoverished minorities.

At the semiannual meeting this week the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' also condemned the recent wave of state legislation to lift restrictions on abortions, and promised a campaign for social acceptance of pregnancies and births out of wedlock.

In acting to implement a $50 million drive against poverty, economic inequities and racism, the bishops decided to seek funds through special Thanksgiving offerings beginning next November.

They rejected proposals for combining the new fund raising with the annual Lenten appeal to finance Catholic Relief Services, the Church's international charitable arm, which raises about $8 million annually.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

Let's suppose you're in a contract the outcome of which appears to depend on a finesse. Whenever you rnu into such a case, you should make it a special point to also look for a way of increasing your chances beyond the 50 per cent probability of winning the finesse.

Take this hand where it would seem that declarer must win the spade finesse to make the slam. However, there is actually a good chance of making the hand even though West has the king of spades, and it costs declarer nothing to test this possibility before attempting the finesse.

Accordingly, he wins the club lead with the ace and cashes the K-Q of hearts and A-K of diamonds. He notes that West plays the 10-8 of diamonds as the suit is led.

Declarer crosses to dummy's king of clubs and plays the five of diamonds.

East cannot afford to step up with the queen, which would crash West's jack, so he follows low.

South does not bother to ruff the diamond because there is an excellent chance that West started with either the J-10-8 or Q-10-8. He discards a spade instead. As the cards happen to lie, West is forced to win with the jack and South automatically has the rest of the tricks because West is endplayed.

The suggested method of play succeeds because the diamonds are favorably divided, but it should be noted that, if they were not, declarer would still have the spade finesse available. The important point is that South substantially increases his chances of making the slam by first sounding out the diamonds.

When voltages too low to cause fires or shocks are used, painted walls and ceilings become heat sources. A wall at a London research center has been giving off heat for more than eight months.

Good Or Bad, Words Must Be Used Right

Dear Ann Landers: May I borrow your column to give a few million people a free English lesson?

Every time I hear someone misuse the words bad and badly, I cringe. It is so simple to learn to use these words properly. Bad is an adjective. You feel bad if you hurt someone's feelings. You do not feel badly. People frequently make a similar mistake with the words good and well. A person does not look well in her new dress, she looks good in it. To say a person looks well means they do not look sick. Food tastes bad, not badly. Or it tastes good, not well. Anyone who can't complete the series is a hopeless case.

Where are today's English teachers? Don't they teach English anymore?

I am an English teacher and I'm no longer teaching. I guess that answers my question. — D. L., Washington

Dear D. L.: Thanks for a good letter. You did well. What I mean is you didn't do badly.

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a factory where it is necessary to stand or sit alongside other women for several hours at a time. A girl no older than 20 started to work here last August. At first she was very quiet. After three weeks on the job she began to talk—mostly about her little boy who was born out of wedlock. Then she began to bring pictures—every other day. (She must spend $20 a week on film.)

All we hear is Van, Van, Van. It's Van this and Van that. To listen to her, Van is the most beautiful, the smartest, sweetest, and best behaved child in the world.

We all have children, Ann, and naturally we think our kids are special, but no mother at the factory brags about her legitimate kids the way this girl carries on about her illegitimate one. Is there a polite way to shut her up?—Vanned Out

Dear Out: No way—polite or impolite. The girl probably feels defensive because the boy was born out of wedlock. Once you understand why this young mother goes in for excesses you should find her bragging less irritating.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I worked hard for 30 years. We built a good business and although it seemed as if we were killing ourselves, we enjoyed it. When we received an offer to sell out at a handsome profit, we took it —thinking the time had come to take it easy. So my husband went on a job from 9 till 5.

We are both restless in our new life. My husband is depressed because he doesn't have enough to do. I hate having him around the house so much. We used to be busy and happy. Now, from 5:15 till midnight, we sit around and look at each other.

Are we too old at 54 to start a new business? We have the money, good health and energy. What do you say?—Haunted By Doubts

Dear Doubts: Obviously you both need a challenge in order to feel useful and productive. Neither you nor your husband are happy out of harness so my advice is to get back into business—on a smaller scale. You'll be glad you did.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Magnificent tapestries, sometimes taking years to complete, decorated the walls of many homes and churches in the Middle Ages. Woven with richly colored strands of silk and wool, they often pictured scenes from the Bible. To create a beautiful tapestry required patience . . . skill . . . devotion.

Today each of us weaves a tapestry — the fabric of our lives. We sit at a loom, wondering whether the pattern of our lives will be of bright rose, green or golden threads, or whether the events will show as somber, dark colors.

A weaver in the Middle Ages worked on the reverse side of his tapestry. By looking up at a mirror, he could see how the entire design looked on the right side.

When we look up to God in worship, we can see with clarity the pattern of our lives. Attend the church of your choice for perspective on your life's tapestry.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Magnificent tapestries, sometimes taking years to complete, decorated the walls of many homes and churches in the Middle Ages. Woven with richly colored strands of silk and wool, they often pictured scenes from the Bible. To create a beautiful tapestry required patience . . . skill . . . devotion.

Today each of us weaves a tapestry — the fabric of our lives. We sit at a loom, wondering whether the pattern of our lives will be of bright rose, green or golden threads, or whether the events will show as somber, dark colors.

A weaver in the Middle Ages worked on the reverse side of his tapestry. By looking up at a mirror, he could see how the entire design looked on the right side.

When we look up to God in worship, we can see with clarity the pattern of our lives. Attend the church of your choice for perspective on your life's tapestry.

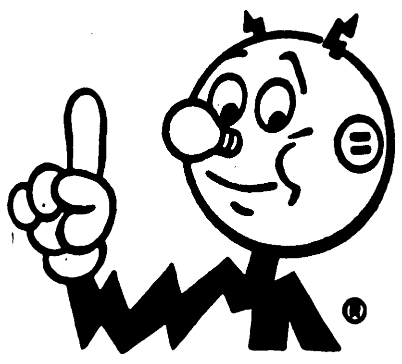
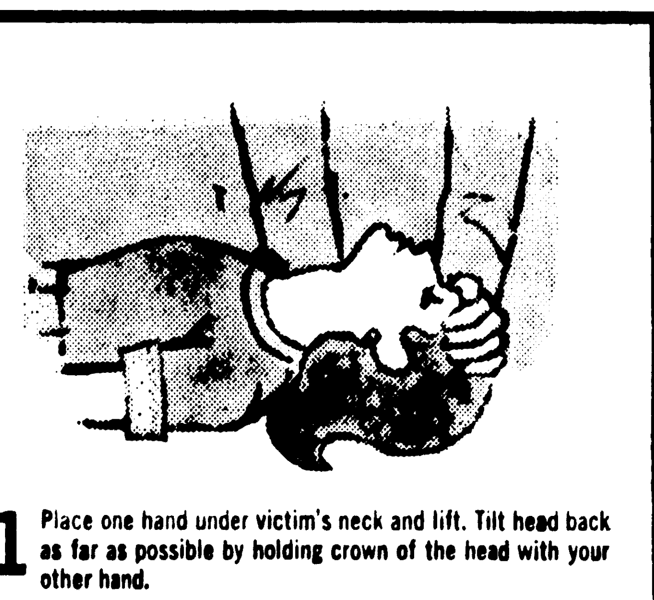
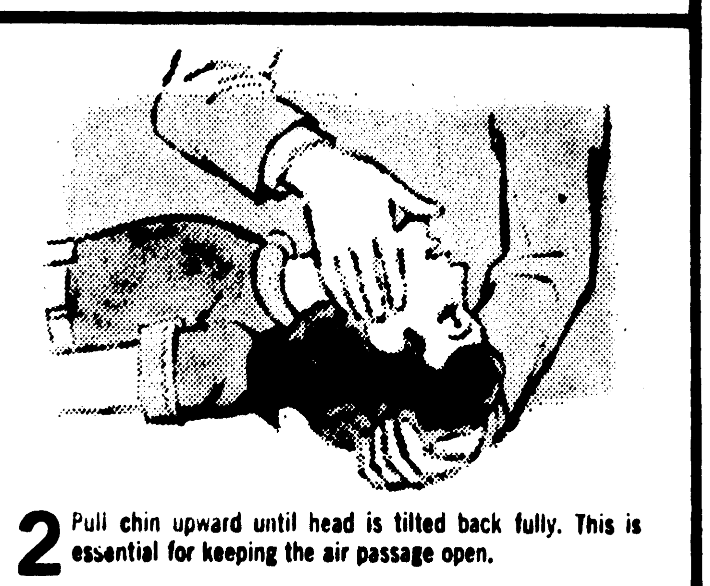
BE PREPARED
to save a life through
mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing



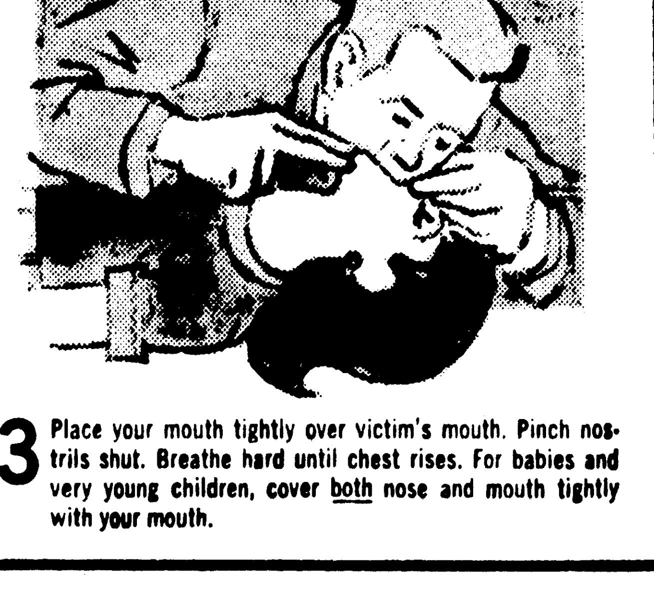
When breathing stops, this simple procedure may be used in cases of drowning, electric shock, choking, overdose of medicine, carbon monoxide poisoning and other respiratory emergencies.
For an adult, follow these FOUR simple steps and breathe vigorously about 12 times a minute. For a small child, take relatively short breaths, about 20 per minute.
Before attempting rescue breathing, lay victim on back. Turn head to side and wipe any foreign matter out of mouth with fingers. Then straighten victim's head.



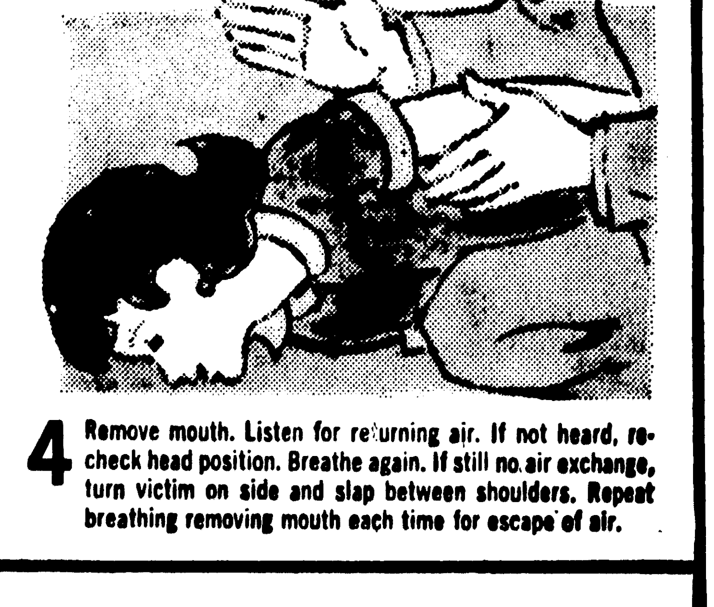
1 Place one hand under victim's neck and lift. Tilt head back as far as possible by holding crown of the head with your other hand.



2 Pull chin upward until head is tilted back fully. This is essential for keeping the air passage open.



3 Place your mouth tightly over victim's mouth. Pinch nostrils shut. Breathe hard until chest rises. For babies and very young children, cover both nose and mouth tightly with your mouth.



4 Remove mouth. Listen for returning air. If not heard, recheck head position. Breathe again. If still no air exchange, turn victim on side and slap between shoulders. Repeat breathing removing mouth each time for escape of air.

Knicks Rally, Upend Lakers

NEW YORK (AP) — The hot hand belonged to Los Angeles' Jerry West, the cold shoulder to New York's Willis Reed ... until a pair of lightfingered latecomers eased the pressure off the Knickerbockers' backs and dropped it back into the Lakers' laps.

Cazzie Russell and Walt Frazier, who had squirmed on the bench as New York blew a 20-point lead to the West-led Lakers, ignited a fourth quarter counter-attack that gave the Knicks a 124-112 victory in the opener of the National Basketball Association's championship playoff series Friday night.

Reed poured in 37 points, despite a first-half shoulder injury, as the Knicks got the jump in the best-of-7 set, which resumes Monday night at Madison Square Garden. Super-sub Mike Riordan, picking up the slack when Frazier got into foul trouble, added 19.

But it was Russell and Frazier, held to a combined total of two points through the first 39½ minutes, who turned the tide after West scored 16 of his 33 points in a third quarter spurt that sent the Lakers, trailing 50-30 at one point, to a 98-95 edge early in the final session.

"The Man Upstairs just seems to be on my side," said Russell, who followed Frazier's first field goal since the opening quarter with his first basket of the game, puting the Knicks ahead 99-98, and then hit three more two-pointers down the stretch.

"It took a little time for the adrenaline to flow tonight," added Cazzie, who was 0-for-3 from the floor in the first half.

"This is my first world championship series. I wouldn't say I was jittery, but I guess I was trying too hard in the first half. I know I wasn't as warm as I was when I came back in."

Frazier, sacrificing his offensive game in an effort to defend against West, was yanked after picking up his fourth foul with just 51 seconds gone in the third quarter. But he scored another key basket—off his own steal—during the Knicks' deciding burst and helped limit the Lakers to 20 fourth quarter points.

Penguins Out To Tie Series; Hawks Eye Win

By The Associated Press

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh is hoping to keep the heat on St. Louis and Billy Reay of Chicago is trying to cool off Boston as the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs continue Sunday.

"The heat went up as soon as we came on the ice," said Kelly after the Penguins dropped the Blues 3-2 Thursday to cut St. Louis' margin to 2-1 in the best-of-7 West Division playoffs. "If it's too hot in the kitchen, stay out. If it's too hot on the ice, stay off."

While Kelly was trying to keep momentum in Pittsburgh, Reay was trying to stop it in Boston, where the Bruins hold a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-7 East Division finals.

Boston, with the home ice advantage, was favored for a four-game sweep and to advance to the NHL finals for the first time in 12 years.

"We had better be up for Sunday's game," said defenseman Dallas Smith of Boston. "We were high for the first two games in Chicago and we won easily. "We weren't up for the third game ... and it could've cost us.

"The Black Hawks are too good, great shooters. Our goalie, Gerry Cheevers, kept us alive and we're going to have to contribute."

A superb defensive performance by Cheevers helped the Bruins whip the Black Hawks 5-2 Thursday.

Although Cheevers has been outstanding in Boston's five-game playoff winning string which started with two over New York, the key to Boston's success is stopping Chicago's Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita.

Veteran Eddie Westfall has done a good job of shutting off Hull. The Golden Jet had only one shot on goal in the third game. Mikita has also been closely shadowed and only got off three shots Thursday.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh Penguin officials say some 10,600 tickets have been sold for Sunday's game, largest in the expansion club's three-year history.

Everything Going Fine As Tigers Post 8th Straight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Kaline couldn't remember the last time he slammed out five straight hits Bill Freehan knew it was his first hit ever off Minnesota reliever Tom Hall.

But Detroit Manager Mayo Smith was delighted by it all.

The streaking Tigers posted their eighth straight victory and remained atop the American League's East Division with an 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins Friday.

405-Foot Homer

Freehan lofted a 405-foot, two-run homer in the seventh inning off Hall after Jim Northrop walked for the tie-breaking runs.

"It was the first time I've got a hit off him," said Freehan, the Tiger catcher. "I didn't face him too much last year when he was rookie but I remember having trouble with him."

Kaline slapped out three singles and two doubles in five trips in raising his average almost 60 points to .373.

"I haven't had five hits in a game in a long time—must be as far back as '55 or '56," Kaline said after he reached the 2,465-hit level and moved into fourth place on the all-time Detroit hitting list.

10 - 3 Record

The Tigers, who were supposed to be suffering without suspended pitcher Denny McLain, now have a 10-3 record. "Our pitching has been great ...absolutely fantastic," said Kaline. "We're a team, if we get the pitching, will score some runs and win some games."

It was John Hiller's turn to star on the mound for the Tigers. He held the hot-hitting Twins, who went into the game batting .295 as a team, to three hits in 5 2-3 innings in relief of Joe Niekro.

Attitude Good

"There's a great attitude on this club," said Smith. "You have to be a little surprised by our start in this situation. But our pitching is doing the job."

The Tigers started producing runs in the first inning when Dick McAuliffe lined a home run on the game's second pitch and Kaline doubled home Coco Gutierrez for a two-run lead.

But the Twins came back to tie in their first when Brant Alyea—the AL's RBI leader with 20—laced a bases-loaded double over Kaline's glove.

Four Runs In Third

The Tigers came back for four more in the third on Cesar Tovar's bases-loaded throwing error and Freehan's run-scoring single.

Alyea doubled in two more Twins' runs in the third, Tovar tripled in a run in the fourth and Harmon Killebrew slammed a home run in the fifth to tie the game before Freehan's drive settled it in the seventh.

"After we got two runs ahead," said Smith, "we knew we had to hang on."

Hitters Have Last Say In NL Victories

By The Associated Press

Not content to leave the hitting to the hitters, National League pitchers took matters in their own hands Friday with positive results on three separate fronts.

St Louis managed just three hits against Cincinnati's rookie flash, Wayne Simpson, but one of them was a sixth inning single by hurler George Culver that touched off a two-run rally and helped the Cards to a 3-1 victory over the Reds.

San Francisco broke an eighth inning tie against Montreal with a pair of three-run homers by Ron Hunt and Dick Dietz but the hit that started the rally was a double by, of course, pitcher Gaylord Perry. The Giants went on to win the game 12-3.

In Chicago, pitcher Ken Holtzman ripped a tie-breaking, two-run double and the streaking Cubs won their eighth straight, knocking off Houston 6-3.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Atlanta shut out Pittsburgh 9-0, Philadelphia edged San Diego 5-4 and Los Angeles edged New York 1-0 in 15 innings.

Lou Brock opened the Cards-Reds game with a leadoff homer—only the second run in four starts off Simpson. Then the Reds' rookie shut the door on the Cards until the sixth when Culver, who had been matching zeroes with the youngster, opened with a single. Errors by Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion sunk Simpson, allowing two runs to score and that was all Culver needed.

Perez jolted his ninth homer of the year and two other hits, raising his average to 500. The nine homers broke the National League record for the month of April. The old mark of eight was shared by Lee Walls, Willie McCovey and Wally Moon.

After the Expos had pushed across a run to tie the Giants at 2-2 in the seventh inning, Perry lashed a one-out double, Bobby Bonds walked and Hunt followed with his homer. Then Willie Mays walked, Ken Henderson singled and Dietz slugged another three-run homer.

Perry had a single and Mays ended an 0-for-15 slump with a single as the Giants added four insurance runs in the eighth—three of them crossing on a pair of wild pitches by reliever Carrol Sembera.

Holtzman had held the Astros hitless until the sixth inning before Houston broke through for a pair of runs. But the Cubs bounced right back in the bottom half with hits by Billy Williams, Johnny Callison and J.C. Martin producing two runs before Holtzman's two-out double brought two more across.

Callison iced it with a two-run homer in the seventh as Chicago built its longest winning streak since 1953 when the Cubs strung 10 victories together.

Jim Nash scattered five hits and the Braves halted a six-game losing streak by blanking Pittsburgh. Tony Gonzalez drove in three runs and Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 15 games for Atlanta.

Beard Snares Tourney Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard had just fired an eight-under-par 64, including a string of six consecutive birdies, but refused to be jarred out of his conservative, easy-going role.

"You know me," he said. "I never have anything to say."

Beard's remarkable round — he needed only 24 putts — put him into the second round lead in the $150,000 Tournament of Champions Friday.

Was he thinking about the all-time PGA record of eight consecutive birdies when he had his string going?

"No, not really. You just hit it and go find it and hit it again."

Was it his best putting round?

"I don't know. I don't keep records on that sort of thing so I really don't know."

Has he ever had six birdies in a row?

"Again, I don't know. I've had five before, I'm sure. I don't know about six."

How would he characterize his round?

"I played well. You have to to shoot 64. But it was kind of ragged at times."

Ragged or not, the 134 total — 10 under par on the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course — left him with a three shot lead going into today's third round.

British Open Champion Tony Jacklin had a 68 for 137 and Australian Bruce Crampton was in third place with a 69 for 138.

South African Gary Player, the defending champion and first round leader, never really got it going and drifted back with a 72 for 140. He was tied at that figure with Jack Nicklaus and Masters Champion Billy Casper, each with a 69.

Howard's Orbiting Homer Beats Angels

By The Associated Press

Frank Howard usually lets his bat do his talking but he decided to get his vocal chords into the debate Friday night. The bat won.

The giant slugger unloaded with his bat in the third inning of Washington's 5-3 victory over California, smashing one of the longest home runs in the history of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

Howard blasted a pitch by Andy Messersmith down a runway in the upper deck in left field, estimated at more than 500 feet. It was his fourth homer of the season and snapped a 3-3 tie.

Two innings later, Howard was gone. Called out on strikes by umpire Jim Honochick, Howard protested at the plate and continued his squawk from the dugout. Honochick, as usual, had the last word— "Goodbye."

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore shaded Kansas City 7-5, Detroit stopped Minnesota 8-6 and Cleveland whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-1. Milwaukee at Boston and Oakland at the New York Yankees were rained out.

Besides his mammoth homer, Howard started a three-run uprising in the first inning with a two-out walk. Mike Epstein singled and Lee Maye followed with a homer. The Angels scored in the second on Jim Fregosi's two-run single and Roger Repoz knotted it in the third with a homer.

After Howard's homer put the Senators back in front, winning pitcher Dice Bosman drove in an insurance run with a fourth-inning single.

The Royals got solo homers from Bob Oliver (two), Jackie Hernandez and Amos Otis and led Baltimore 5-4 when the Orioles displayed some long-ball power of their own. Frank Robinson and Boog Powell hit consecutive homers in the seventh and Powell doubled home an insurance run in the ninth after Pete Richert put down a Kansas City threat. Baltimore starter Mike Cuellar also homered.

Tony Horton's bases-loaded two-run double broke a scoreless deadlock in the sixth inning and started the Indians to their victory over the White Sox. Another run scored on a wild pitch and Ted Uhlaender homered in the eighth.

Knicks Rally, Upend Lakers

NEW YORK (AP) — The hot hand belonged to Los Angeles' Jerry West, the cold shoulder to New York's Willis Reed . . . until a pair of lightfingered latecomers eased the pressure off the Knickerbockers' backs and dropped it back into the Lakers' laps.

Cazzie Russell and Walt Frazier, who had squirmed on the bench as New York blew a 20-point lead to the West-led Lakers, ignited a fourth quarter counter-attack that gave the Knicks a 124-112 victory in the opener of the National Basketball Association's championship playoff series Friday night.

Reed poured in 37 points, despite a first-half shoulder injury, as the Knicks got the jump in the best-of-7 set, which resumes Monday night at Madison Square Garden. Super-sub Mike Riordan, picking up the slack when Frazier got into foul trouble, added 19.

But it was Russell and Frazier, held to a combined total of two points through the first 39½ minutes, who turned the tide after West scored 16 of his 33 points in a third quarter spurt that sent the Lakers, trailing 50-30 at one point, to a 98-95 edge early in the final session.

"The Man Upstairs just seems to be on my side," said Russell, who followed Frazier's first field goal since the opening quarter with his first basket of the game, putting the Knicks ahead 99-98, and then hit three more two-pointers down the stretch.

"It took a little time for the adrenaline to flow tonight," added Cazzie, who was 0-for-3 from the floor in the first half.

"This is my first world championship series. I wouldn't say I was jittery, but I guess I was trying too hard in the first half. I know I wasn't as warm as I was when I came back in."

Frazier, sacrificing his offensive game in an effort to defend against West, was yanked after picking up his fourth foul with just 51 seconds gone in the third period. But he scored another key basket—off his own steal—during the Knicks' deciding burst and helped limit the Lakers to 20 fourth quarter points.

Penguins Out To Tie Series; Hawks Eye Win

By The Associated Press

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh is hoping to keep the heat on St. Louis and Billy Reay of Chicago is trying to cool off Boston as the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs continue Sunday.

"The heat went up as soon as we came on the ice," said Kelly after the Penguins dropped the Blues 3-2 Thursday to cut St. Louis' margin to 2-1 in the best-of-7 West Division playoffs. "If it's too hot in the kitchen, stay out. If it's too hot on the ice, stay off."

While Kelly was trying to keep momentum in Pittsburgh, Reay was trying to stop it in Boston, where the Bruins hold a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-7 East Division finals.

Boston, with the home ice advantage, was favored for a four-game sweep and to advance to the NHL finals for the first time in 12 years.

"We had better be up for Sunday's game," said defenseman Dallas Smith of Boston. "We were high for the first two games in Chicago and we won easily. "We weren't up for the third game . . . and it could've cost us."

"The Black Hawks are too good, great shooters. Our goalie, Gerry Cheevers, kept us alive and we're going to have to contribute."

A superb defensive performance by Cheevers helped the Bruins whip the Black Hawks 5-2 Thursday.

Although Cheevers has been outstanding in Boston's five-game playoff winning string which started with two over New York, the key to Boston's success is stopping Chicago's Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita.

Veteran Eddie Westfall has done a good job of shutting off Hull. The Golden Jet had only one shot on goal in the third game. Mikita has also been closely shadowed and only got off three shots Thursday.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh Penguin officials say some 10,500 tickets have been sold for Sunday's game, largest in the expansion club's three-year history.

Hockey Tourney Plans Underway

DETROIT (AP) — Brown University of Providence, R. I., accepted an invitation Friday to play in the 1970 Great Lakes Invitational Hockey Tournament at Detroit's Olympia Stadium Dec. 29 and 30. Michigan Tech. will host its school and the other two teams will be chosen later.

JIM DUBORD, Holy Name Crusader triple winner, crosses the finish line in the 220 yard dash during Friday's triangular track meet between the Crusaders, Escanaba and Gladstone at the Escanaba Athletic Field. Dubord also won the 100 yard dash and the long jump. Coming in a close second is teammate Tom Ness, while John Skellenger of Gladstone, in the background is finishing third. (Daily Press Photo)

Everything Going Fine As Tigers Post 8th Straight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Kaline couldn't remember the last time he slammed out five straight hits. Bill Freehan knew it was his first hit ever off Minnesota reliever Tom Hall.

But Detroit Manager Mayo Smith was delighted by it all.

The streaking Tigers posted their eighth straight victory and remained atop the American League's East Division with an 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins Friday.

405-Foot Homer

Freehan lofted a 405-foot, two-run homer in the seventh inning off Hall after Jim Northrop walked for the tie-breaking runs.

"It was the first time I've got a hit off him," said Freehan, the Tiger catcher. "I didn't face him too much last year when he was rookie but I remember having trouble with him."

Kaline slapped out three singles and two doubles in five trips in raising his average almost 60 points to .373.

"I haven't had five hits in a game in a long time—must be as far back as '55 or '56," Kaline said after he reached the 2,465-hit level and moved into fourth place on the all-time Detroit hitting list.

10 - 3 Record

The Tigers, who were supposed to be suffering without suspended pitcher Denny McLain, now have a 10-3 record.

"Our pitching has been great ..absolutely fantastic," said Kaline. "We're a team, if we get the pitching, will score some runs and win some games."

It was John Hiller's turn to star on the mound for the Tigers. He held the hot-hitting Twins, who went into the game batting .295 as a team, to three hits in 5 2-3 innings in relief of Joe Niekro.

Attitude Good

"There's a great attitude on this club," said Smith. "You have to be a little surprised by our start in this situation. But our pitching is doing the job."

The Tigers started producing runs in the first inning when Dick McAuliffe lined a home run on the game's second pitch and Kaline doubled home Coco Gutierrez for a two-run lead.

But the Twins came back to tie in their first when Brant Alyea—the AL's RBI leader with 20—laced a bases-loaded double over Kaline's glove.

Four Runs In Third

The Tigers came back for four more in the third on Cesar Tovar's bases-loaded throwing error and Freehan's run-scoring single.

Alyea doubled in two more Twins' runs in the third, Tovar tripled in a run in the fourth and Harmon Killebrew slammed a home run in the fifth to tie the game before Freehan's drive settled it in the seventh.

"After we got two runs ahead," said Smith, "we knew we had to hang on."

In Chicago, pitcher Ken Holtzman ripped a tie-breaking, two-run double and the streaking Cubs won their eighth straight, knocking off Houston 6-3.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Atlanta shut out Pittsburgh 9-0, Philadelphia edged San Diego 5-4 and Los Angeles edged New York 1-0 in 15 innings.

Lou Brock opened the Cards-Reds game with a leadoff homer—only the second run in four starts off Simpson. Then the Reds' rookie shut the door on the Cards until the sixth when Culver, who had been matching zeroes with the youngster, opened with a single. Errors by Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion sunk Simpson, allowing two runs to score and that was all Culver needed.

Callison iced it with a two-run homer in the seventh as Chicago built its longest winning streak since 1953 when the Cubs strung 10 victories together.

Jim Nash scattered five hits and the Braves halted a six-game losing streak by blanking Pittsburgh. Tony Gonzalez drove in three runs and Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 15 games for Atlanta.

The Crusaders used eight first place finishes to score 72 points in the meet while Escanaba finished the afternoon with 49 and the Gladstone Braves finished third with 27 points. The meet was the first for both Escanaba and Gladstone and the second for Holy Name as they opened their season last Wednesday at Menominee.

Beard Snares Tourney Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard had just fired an eight-under-par 64, including a string of six consecutive birdies, but refused to be jarred out of his conservative, easy-going role.

"You know me," he said, "I never have anything to say." Beard's remarkable round — he needed only 24 putts — put him into the second round lead in the $150,000 Tournament of Champions Friday.

Was he thinking about the all-time PGA record of eight consecutive birdies when he had his string going?

"No, not really. You just hit it and go find it and hit it again."

Was it his best putting round?

"I don't know. I don't keep records on that sort of thing so I really don't know."

Has he ever had six birdies in a row?

"Again, I don't know. I've had five before, I'm sure. I don't know about six."

How would he characterize his round?

"I played well. You have to to shoot 64. But it was kind of ragged at times."

Ragged or not, the 134 total — 10 under par on the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course — left him with a three shot lead going into today's third round.

British Open Champion Tony Jacklin has a 68 for 137 and Australian Bruce Crampton was in third place with a 69 for 138.

Howard's Orbiting Homer Beats Angels

By The Associated Press

Frank Howard usually lets his bat do his talking but he decided to get his vocal chords into the debate Friday night. The bat won.

The giant slugger unloaded with his bat in the third inning of Washington's 5-3 victory over California, smashing one of the longest home runs in the history of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

Howard blasted a pitch by Andy Messersmith down a runway in the upper deck in left field, estimated at more than 500 feet. It was his fourth homer of the season and snapped a 3-3 tie.

Two innings later, Howard was gone. Called out on strikes by umpire Jim Honochick, Howard protested at the plate and continued his squawk from the dugout. Honochick, as usual, had the last word— "Goodbye."

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore shaded Kansas City 7-5, Detroit stopped Minnesota 8-6 and Cleveland whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-1. Milwaukee at Boston and Oakland at the New York Yankees were rained out.

Besides his mammoth homer, Howard started a three-run uprising in the first inning with a two-out walk. Mike Epstein singled and Lee Maye followed with a homer. The Angels scored in the second on Jim Fregosi's two-run single and Roger Repoz knotted it in the third with a homer.

After Howard's homer put the Senators back in front, winning pitcher Dick Bosman drove in an insurance run with a fourth-inning single.

The Royals got solo homers from Bob Oliver (two), Jackie Hernandez and Amos Otis and led Baltimore 5-4 when the Orioles displayed some long-ball power of their own. Frank Robinson and Boog Powell hit consecutive homers in the seventh and Powell doubled home an insurance run in the ninth after Pete Richert put down a Kansas City threat. Baltimore starter Mike Cuellar also homered.

Tony Horton's bases-loaded two-run double broke a scoreless deadlock in the sixth inning and started the Indians to their victory over the White Sox. Another run scored on a wild pitch and Ted Uhlaender homered in the eighth.

Non-Profit IDC Plan Gets City Approval

Area businessmen, city and county government officials and representatives of various organizations gathered at the Surf Thursday night to hear three experts discuss the pros and cons of an Industrial Development Corporation (IDC).

Speaking to the group were Roger Rehberg of Lansing, executive secretary of the Governor's Committee to the Northern Great Lakes; Lee Meyers, Escanaba, executive chairman, Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress (UPCAP); and Aarne Ervast, Laurium, Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Dept. of Commerce.

The local consensus was favorable toward formation of a non-profit IDC to work for industrial expansion in this area. An application will be filed for incorporation and an organizational charter adopted.

The non-profit IDC (any realized profits will be reinvested and no dividends paid) will solicit memberships from private individuals and business and industry, according to Howard H. Handorf, County Extension Director and a member of the IDC steering committee.

Driver Injured In Road Mishap

Michigan State Police report a one-car accident which occurred Thursday night at 10:30 on M-77 in Germfask Township.

A car driven by Noel Losey, 21, Germfask, went out of control and rolled over. Losey told troopers he might have dozed off. He was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law — too fast for conditions.

The driver suffered some injuries but elected to seek his own medical treatment. His automobile was towed from the scene of the mishap, troopers said.

Still under investigation by state police is an accident involving a semi-truck and motorcycle which happened Wednesday at 4 p.m. on U.S. 2 in Manistique Township.

Theron St. John, 16, and his brother Richard, 12, were riding on a cycle and attempting a left turn off the highway when their cycle struck the side of semi-truck driven by Duane Blackberg, 28, Iron Mountain.

Blackberg told troopers he saw the cyclist signal for a left turn but didn't think he would be able to slow down quickly enough to avoid hitting the boys and veered into the left lane to avoid striking the cycle.

The two St. John boys, who live at 308 Weston Ave., were taken to the hospital for treatment of leg injuries.

Milliken Speaks Out Against Protestors

EAST LANSING (AP)— Gov. William Milliken spoke out against violent protest Friday night, saying the American public "has just about reached the limits of its patience."

Addressing the annual awards dinner of the Michigan Associated Press Broadcast Association (MAPBA), Milliken said dissenters should "use their powers of protest wisely."

The governor said "the real possibility exists that today's violent and excessive dissent could become tomorrow's violent and excessive repression."

"Our society will not be perfected by turmoil and violence," Milliken said. "It will be perfected only by decent people putting their anger and their frustration and their discontent to work to make things better."

Milliken said he was not opposed to dissent in the forms of speeches, picketing, writing, marching or demonstrating.

"I believe that during the sixties great social progress resulted from this kind of protest," he said. "But as we move into the seventies, we are seeing an ugly turn in the direction of protest. Many people have become impatient with the nonviolent forms of protest which worked so successfully in the civil rights revolution."

He said the danger is that "those who commit violence in the name of dissent could, in the process, destroy the right of dissent."

Milliken termed "the growing acceptance of violence and disruption for achieving social change" as "one of the most important and most dangerous developments in this country today."

The governor said there is much injustice in America, and that it should be solved.

However, he said, "above all of these facts of life in 1970, America hovers a more important reality—that the institutions of democracy can stand only so much battering and so much abuse before they collapse in the face of this angry onslaught."

Milliken said democracy is not a perfect system, but that over the long run the majority "is more often right, better informed, and more dependable in its judgement than any minority ever could be."

"The advocates of violence in this society conveniently ignore the suffering which their violence inflicts on people," Milliken said. "They excuse their violence in the name of some abstract cause, refusing to admit that violence only begets violence, or that the means do not justify the ends."

"We can save democracy only by setting fire to the conscience of America," he said. "With words, not bombs, we must stir this great sleeping majority out of its sleep."

He said our institutions must be made responsive to "the complaints of the aggrieved minorities in this land."

Earlier in the day, the AP broadcasters announced they have named Milliken as their Newsmaker of the Year for 1969.

Building Funds Made Available By Private Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced that private institutions have pledged to increase commitments for residential mortgages by $2 billion this year.

This would provide about 150,000 new residences and a spur to a construction industry that has been characterized as in a recession.

The pledges came from commercial banks, life insurance companies and trustees of pension funds.

Bruce MacLaury, deputy undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, predicted that the extra morgage commitments will help pull down interest rates. He said that even before this the points some home purchasers have to pay will be eliminated.

President Nixon welcomed the pledges of more mortgage commitments, predicting they will enhance significantly "our ability to meet critical housing needs."

Milliken Speaks Out Against Protestors

EAST LANSING (AP)— Gov. William Milliken spoke out against violent protest Friday night, saying the American public "has just about reached the limits of its patience."

Addressing the annual awards dinner of the Michigan Associated Press Broadcast Association (MAPBA), Milliken said dissenters should "use their powers of protest wisely."

The governor said "the real possibility exists that today's violent and excessive dissent could become tomorrow's violent and excessive repression."

"Our society will not be perfected by turmoil and violence." Milliken said. "It will be perfected only by decent people putting their anger and their frustration and their discontent to work to make things better."

Milliken said he was not opposed to dissent in the forms of speeches, picketing, writing, marching or demonstrating.

"I believe that during the sixties great social progress resulted from this kind of protest," he said. "But as we move into the seventies, we are seeing an ugly turn in the direction of protest. Many people have become impatient with the nonviolent forms of protest which worked so successfully in the civil rights revolution."

He said the danger is that 'those who commit violence in the name of dissent could, in the process, destroy the right of dissent."

Milliken termed "the growing acceptance of violence and disruption for achieving social change" as "one of the most important and most dangerous developments in this country today."

The governor said there is much injustice in America, and that it should be solved.

However, he said, "above all of these facts of life in 1970, America hovers a more important reality—that the institutions of democracy can stand only so much battering and so much abuse before they collapse in the face of this angry onslaught."

Milliken said democracy is not a perfect system, but that over the long run the majority "is more often right, better informed, and more dependable in its judgement than any minority ever could be."

"The advocates of violence in this society conveniently ignore the suffering which their violence inflicts on people.' Milliken said. "They excuse their violence in the name of some abstract cause, refusing to admit that violence only begets violence, or that the means do not justify the ends."

"We can save democracy only by setting fire to the conscience of America," he said. "With words, not bombs, we must stir this great sleeping majority out of its sleep."

He said our institutions must be made responsive to "the complaints of the aggrieved minorities in this land."

Earlier in the day, the AP broadcasters announced they have named Milliken as their Newsmaker of the Year for 1969.

Building Funds Made Available By Private Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced that private institutions have pledged to increase commitments for residential mortgages by $2 billion this year.

This would provide about 150,000 new residences and a spur to a construction industry that has been characterized as in a recession.

The pledges came from commercial banks, life insurance companies and trustees of pension funds.

Bruce MacLaury, deputy undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, predicted that the extra morgage commitments will help pull down interest rates. He said that even before this the points some home purchasers have to pay will be eliminated.

President Nixon welcomed the pledges of more mortgage commitments, predicting they will enhance significantly "our ability to meet critical housing needs."

Calendar Sale Starts Sunday

The annual sale of Community Birthday Calendars by the Gladstone High School Band Booster Club will get under way Sunday.

A picture of the high school marching band will appear on the front of the calendar and will list schedules for school activities, meeting dates of local organizations as well as birthdays and anniversaries of subscribers.

Band Booster members will be making house to house calls all next week and the cost of each calendar is $1 and each additional listing is 25 cents. The maximum cost of a calendar is $2. Band Boosters make over 75 per cent of their money on this project and according to Mrs. Tony Marmalick, chairman, a good response from local residents will make this year's sale well worth while.

Proceeds are used to sponsor the band on a concert tour whenever possible and it is hoped that with the support of the entire community they will be able to continue these trips.

In the event anyone is unintentionally missed in this campaign a calendar may be obtained by calling Mrs. Tony Marmalick, 425-5191 during the week.

Records Falling In Drake Relays

The fabulous Mills brothers of Texas A & M made up half of a swift quartet that set a world mark of 1:21.7 in the 880-yard relay Friday afternoon after tying the old record of 1:22.1, set by San Jose State in 1967, in preliminaries earlier in the day.

The record-shattering team was led by Donny Rogers, who turned his 220 yards in 20.9 seconds and passed the baton to Rockie Woods who produced a 21.2-second 220, which was followed by Marvin Mills' 20.0 and Curtis Mills' grueling 19.6.

The Aggies missed a chance to try for another record when they were disqualified in the preliminaries of the one - mile relay for being out of lane.

In all, six records and one tie were recorded in the university college division of the relays, and two federation events produced new marks going into the final day of the annual classic.

The Mills brothers, whose 880-yard relay mark also stands for the American, NCAA and Drake Relays record, teamed up with Woods and Scott Hendricks in 440-yard relay preliminaries to set a relays record of 40.s, matched two heats later by Oklahoma State.

The Cowboys team, which matched the Aggies in toppling the 40.4 standard set by Kansas in 1969, was composed of Jeff Litvak, Jim Bolding, Dennis Schultz and Earl Harris.

Dale Alexander, Dave Peterson, Bob Barratti and Ken Swenson of Kansas State erased the old meet record of 7:18.3 set by their school last year by pumping out a 7:16.3 in the two-mile relay.

Bowling Green turned in a 16:26.4 four-mile relay effort to tear down the old Relays record of 16:38.7 set by Kansas in 1966.

Chicago Bowler Grabs No. 4 Spot In ABC All-Events

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Russ London of Chicago put together series of 631, 730 and 588 here Friday for a 1,949 total which moved him into fourth place in the regular all-events standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

London, 30, teamed with Ernest Beavers, also of Chicago to post 1,293 and gain a tie with Richard Jones and Frank Ward of Philadelphia for fifth place in the regular doubles.

London had a total of 25 strikes and his 730 series in the doubles was the highest rolled in that division so far in the tournament, and the second highest in any division.

London opened his doubles with 236, came back with 214 and posted a 280 finale. In singles, he had games of 197, 181 and 210. Russ registerered single of 216, 201 and 214 for William A. Pope Co. of Chicago in team action Thursday night.

Henry Figg's 623 series highlighted by a 2783 game-highest posted in the Booster Team division so far-paced Pepsi Cola of Munster, Ind., to a 2,719 and eighth place in the Booster standings.

ABA Records Fall As LA Stars Clip Dallas Quintet

By The Associated Press

Dallas got the jump on Los Angeles—but Los Angeles had the reach on Dallas.

Despite a big early Dallas lead, Los Angeles' rebounding power told the eventual story as the Stars dumped the Chaps 146-139 to take a 3-2 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

The best-of-7 Western Division semifinal set switches to Long Beach, Calif., for the sixth game Sunday.

In Friday night's only other game, Indiana whipped Carolina 110-106 to win their best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals, 4-0.

He also scored the game high 38 one time in the first half, Dallas had a 15-point lead and appeared to have a comfortable margin. The Chaps led 70-60 at the intermission.

But then Los Angeles ran off a 15-1 spurt at the start of the second half that pulled the Stars away. Craig Raymond, Los Angeles' seven-foot center, picked off 18 rebounds as the Stars outrebounded the Chaps, 61-48. He also scored 20 points to go with Bob Warren's 20, and Merv Jackson's 23 and Mack Calvin's game-high 38.

Guard Glen Combs was high for Dallas with 32 points and Cincy Powell had 23 as the Chaps fired 48 percent from the field.

The 285 points scored by the teams was an ABA playoff record, breaking the old mark of 282 by the same clubs.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means to thank our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the recent loss of our dear husband, father and grandfather, John Pearce. We wish to thank Pastor Walfred E. In Memoriam

Johnson

In memory of our beloved father and grandfather, Carl J. Johnson, who passed away seven years ago, April 26, 1963.

It is now seven years
Since God called you home.
Mom shed many tears,
She felt so alone.
Four months have now passed
Since God called Mom too.
We know she's happy at last
To share Heaven with you.
Precious memories of home
Are still in our mind,
As parents you couldn't have been,
More loving, patient and kind.
Since you both have left us,
We're very lonesome and sad:
But facing the future with Jesus
Some day we'll all be glad.

'Jumping Robert' Eyes Chute Mark

FLINT (AP) — Robert J. Rhyne plans to celebrate his 41st birthday by going up and down and up and down and up and down—41 times to be exact—for a parachute jumping record.

The Flint factory worker won't celebrate his birthday until Tuesday but his try at 41 parachute jumps is planned for today at the Dalton Airport near Flint.

"As far as I know, it would be a record number of jumps east of the Mississippi River," said Rhyne, who belongs to the Saginaw Valley Sport Parachute Club. "I know of one guy who made 51 jumps in one day down in Texas."

Rhyne, who has been skydiving seven years, made 14 jumps as a paratrooper during the Korean War and now figures his total at more than 700.

Using two planes, Rhyne said he will attempt his jumps from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., with two 10 - minute breaks in the morning and afternoon and a half-hour for lunch.

Rhyne said most jumps he has ever made in one day was seven, "but I wasn't trying to set any records before."

Fish Week Set Despite Troubles

LANSING (AP) — Proclaiming next week as Michigan Fish Week, Gov. William Milliken has announced plans for a fish dinner to be held Wednesday in the capitol rotunda.

"The fishing industry has been an important industry in the development of our state," Milliken said. "It remains so, despite localized problems posed by contamination of some waters, and by the precautionary, and hopefully temporary, curtailment of fishing in these waters."

Milliken referred to his fishing ban on Michigan waters of Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River, resulting from the scare over mercury contamination in fish.

Hart Displeased With Draft News

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D - Mich., said that president Nixon's speech on the draft Thursday was "disappointing" because of two questions to which it was not addressed."

"The President gave no suggestion as to the size of the Army he believes the national security will demand," Hart said, adding there was "no suggestion as to how we might reduce the size of our standing army."

Hart said that Nixon also "made no mention of the questio of selective conscientious objectors. Also, remembering that the administration sold the present draft lottery system on the basis that it would eliminate much of the uncertainty of the draft, Congress must take a long look at this direct national call proposal."

Chairman Named For Sports Fete

DETROIT (AP) — Gail Smith, director of advertising and merchandising for General Motors Corp., was named Friday as general chairman of the 16th annual Michigan Sports Hall of Fame induction banquet May 14. Records Falling In Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The 61st running of the Drake Relays here shaped up more like a game of dominoes today with records—world, American, National Collegiate and meet — falling left and right.

The fabulous Mills brothers of Texas A & M made up half of a swift quartet that set a world mark of 1:21.7 in the 880-yard relay Friday afternoon after tying the old record of 1:22.1, set by San Jose State in 1967, in preliminaries earlier in the day.

The record-shattering team was led by Donny Rogers, who turned his 220 yards in 20.9 seconds and passed the baton to Rockie Woods who produced a 21.2-second 220, which was folowed by Marvin Mills' 20.0 and Curtis Mills' grueling 19.6.

The Aggies missed a chance to try for another record when they were disqualified in the preliminaries of the one - mile relay for being out of lane.

In all, six records and one tie were recorded in the university college division of the relays, and two federation events produced new marks going into the final day of the annual classic.

The Mills brothers, whose 880-yard relay mark also stands for the American, NCAA and Drake Relays record, teamed up with Woods and Scott Hendricks in 440-yard relay preliminaries to set a relays record of 40.s, matched two heats later by Oklahoma State.

The Cowboys team, which matched the Aggies in toppling the 40.4 standard set by Kansas in 1969, was composed of Jeff Litvak, Jim Bolding, Dennis Schultz and Earl Harris.

Dale Alexander, Dave Peterson, Bob Barratti and Ken Swenson of Kansas State erased the old meet record of 7:18.3 set by their school last year by pumping out a 7:16.3 in the two-mile relay.

Bowling Green turned in a 16:26.4 four-mile relay effort to tear down the old Relays record of 16:38.7 set by Kansas in 1966.

Chicago Bowler Grabs No. 4 Spot In ABC All-Events

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Russ London of Chicago put together series of 631, 730 and 588 here Friday for a 1,949 total which moved him into fourth place in the regular all-events standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

London, 30, teamed with Ernest Beavers, also of Chicago to post 1,293 and gain a tie with Richard Jones and Frank Ward of Philadelphia for fifth place in the regular doubles.

London had a total of 25 strikes and his 730 series in the doubles was the highest rolled in that division so far in the tournament, and the second highest in any division.

London opened his doubles with 236, came back with 214 and posted a 280 finale. In singles, he had games of 197, 181 and 210. Russ registerered single of 216, 201 and 214 for William A. Pope Co. of Chicago in team action Thursday night.

Henry Figg's 623 series highlighted by a 2783 game-highest posted in the Booster Team division so far-paced Pepsi Cola of Munster, Ind., to a 2,719 and eighth place in the Booster standings.

ABA Records Fall As LA Stars Clip Dallas Quintet

By The Associated Press

Dallas got the jump on Los Angeles—but Los Angeles had the reach on Dallas.

Despite a big early Dallas lead, Los Angeles' rebounding power told the eventual story as the Stars dumped the Chaps 146-139 to take a 3-2 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

The best-of-7 Western Division semifinal set switches to Long Beach, Calif., for the sixth game Sunday.

In Friday night's only other game, Indiana whipped Carolina 110-106 to win their best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals, 4-0.

He also scored the game high 38 one time in the first half. Dallas had a 15-point lead and appeared to have a comfortable margin. The Chaps led 70-60 at the intermission.

But then Los Angeles ran off a 15-1 spurt at the start of the second half that pulled the Stars away. Craig Raymond, Los Angeles' seven-foot center, picked off 18 rebounds as the Stars outrebounded the Chaps, 61-48. He also scored 20 points to go with Bob Warren's 20, and Merv Jackson's 23 and Mack Calvin's game-high 38.

Guard Glen Combs was high for Dallas with 32 points and Cincy Powell had 23 as the Chaps fired 48 percent from the field.

The 285 points scored by the teams was an ABA playoff record, breaking the old mark of 282 by the same clubs.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Card of Thanks

Pearce

We wish to take this means to thank our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the recent loss of our dear husband, father and grandfather, John Pearce. We wish to thank Pastor Walfred E. Nelson for his comforting words; to all who sent cards, flowers, donations of food to the house and to church, and to all who assisted both at home and serving of dinner at church and to anyone who in anyway helped relieve our burden. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

In Memoriam

Johnson

In memory of our beloved father and grandfather, Carl J. Johnson, who passed away seven years ago, April 26, 1963.

It is now seven years
Since God called you home.
Mom shed many tears,
She felt so alone.
Four months have now passed
Since God called Mom too,
We know she's happy at last
To share Heaven with you.
Precious memories of home
Are still in our mind,
As parents you couldn't have been,
More loving, patient and kind.
Since you both have left us,
We're very lonesome and sad;
But facing the future with Jesus
Some day we'll all be glad.

'Jumping Robert' Eyes Chute Mark

FLINT (AP) — Robert J. Rhyne plans to celebrate his 41st birthday by going up and down and up and down and up and down—41 times to be exact —for a parachute jumping record.

The Flint factory worker won't celebrate his birthday until Tuesday but his try at 41 parachute jumps is planned for today at the Dalton Airport near Flint.

"As far as I know, it would be a record number of jumps east of the Mississippi River," said Rhyne, who belongs to the Saginaw Valley Sport Parachute Club. "I know of one guy who made 51 jumps in one day down in Texas."

Rhyne, who has been skydiving seven years, made 14 jumps as a paratrooper during the Korean War and now figures his total at more than 700.

Using two planes, Rhyne said he will attempt his jumps from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., with two 10 - minute breaks in the morning and afternoon and a half-hour for lunch.

Rhyne said most jumps he has ever made in one day was seven, "but I wasn't trying to set any records before."

Fish Week Set Despite Troubles

LANSING (AP) — Proclaiming next week as Michigan Fish Week, Gov. William Milliken has announced plans for a fish dinner to be held Wednesday in the capitol rotunda.

"The fishing industry has been an important industry in the development of our state," Milliken said. "It remains so, despite localized problems posed by contamination of some waters, and by the precautionary, and hopefully temporary, curtailment of fishing in these waters."

Milliken referred to his fishing ban on Michigan waters of Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River, resulting from the scare over mercury contamination in fish.

Hart Displeased With Draft News

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D - Mich., said that president Nixon's speech on the draft Thursday was "disappointing" because of two questions to which it was not addressed."

"The President gave no suggestion as to the size of the Army he believes the national security will demand," Hart said, adding there was "no suggestion as to how we might reduce the size of our standing army."

Hart said that Nixon also "made no mention of the questio of selective conscientious objectors. Also, remembering that the administration sold the present draft lottery system on the basis that it would eliminate much of the uncertainty of the draft, Congress must take a long look at this direct national call proposal."

Chairman Named For Sports Fete

DETROIT (AP) — Gail Smith, director of advertising and merchandising for General Motors Corp., was named Friday as general chairman of the 16th annual Michigan Sports Hall of Fame induction banquet May 14. It will honor the 1970 selectees — Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions; Billy Rogell, ex-Detroit Tiger, and the late Charles Forsythe, former director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Abbie Hoffman Gets Capitol Brush-Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — While 375 elegantly dressed ladies had their hairdos wilted by a steady rain, Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman giggled at the delay he caused and shouted through the White House fence.

Hoffman was turned away when he tried to attend a White House ladies' tea for Finch College Alumnae as bodyguard for rock singer Grace Slick.

"Of course, he's not a Finch alumna," noted hostess Tricia Nixon, who is. "If he had been, we would have invited him."

Miss slick, lead singer of the "Jefferson Airplane," declined to attend the party when Hoffman was barred.

"We would have been glad to have had her attend the tea if she thought she could have without her 'bodyguard,'" Miss Nixon said.

Even without Hoffman, Miss Slick would have been a sensation at the tea in her fish net see-through blouse.

But it was obvious that the White House did not know who Miss Slick was when she was included in the guest list as a Finch alumna. A spokesman said the light dawned when she called to ask permission to bring a guard.

"I always have somebody with me," said Miss Slick at the gate, "especially at the White House."

"We're not going to let one of the first ladies of the New Nation go in there unescorted are we?" quipped Hoffman looking out of character in "straight" clothes, a green suit, white shirt and neatly knotted tie.

"They lose a lot of guests in there," he clucked.

When Hoffman got to the gate, a guard told him, "You know this is for ladies only." To which Hoffman replied, "I'm her bodyguard." After which the guard shoved Hoffman's body away from the entrance.

While the couple awaited further word, Hoffman said, "Some dude's coming out. Tricia's old man or something like that."

Haiti Shelled By Mutineers

MIAMI (AP) — Haiti was sealed off today after mutineers seized three Haitian coast guard vessels and fired on the island country's capital of Port au Prince.

The shells, apparently aimed at the palace of President Francois Duvalier, injured one person and damaged several homes, the government said.

Duvalier immediately closed airports and halted telephone service for all but the palace and minister-level officials.

Citizens were ordered to clear the streets.

The curfew was expected to be lifted today.

Arthur Bonhomme, the Haitian ambassador to the United States, said in Washington that Port au Prince was shelled twice by the rebel seamen.

The type of vessels used was not immediately known. In the past, the Haitian coast guard used 95-foot cutters with 40mm cannons.

The ambassador said Duvalier asked the United States for air cover in case trouble erupted again. However, a U.S. State Department official said the Haitians had been advised that "we can't intervene."

Duvalier has been bothered with such outbursts for 13 years since he became president of the small Caribbean country. He gained the presidency on popularity attained as a country doctor.

Haiti shares the Caribbean island with the Dominican Republic.

No Pollution On Credit River

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — The trout season opens today on the Credit River, and fishermen along the bank will say thanks to an antipollution project which made good.

Ten years ago the Credit was a filthy, choked stream, neglected and abused for more than a century. Now it breaks clean across its rapids on the way to Lake Ontario.

Money and dedicated men brought the Credit back to life and provided a haven for trout and Kokanee salmon. Part of the $3.5 million expended since 1963 came from communities in the Credit watershed; more came from the Ontario government.

More than $1 million built a dam to provide a constant flow of water. Other money went for land acquisitions along the banks, to provide protection against future ravages. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority Foundation has taken control of 3,000 acres through purchase or gifts. At the same time, the provincial Water Resources Commission saw to it that no urban effluents reached the river.

Robert Turnbull, a Toronto Globe and Mail writer who pinpointed the Credit's troubles in a 1963 series, says: "There is no room for complacency. . .One moment of relaxed vigilance and the Credit could slide back into degradation."

Briefly Told

The Golden Age Club will meet Sunday at the Civic Center at 2 p.m. Members are asked to bring a dish of their choice.

Boy Scout Troop 414 will hold their Pack meeting Monday at 7 p. m. at St. Patrick's Parish Hall. "Circus," is the program theme and will feature clowns, magic acts, animal, Indian dancing, a bull fight and hobo band. Awards will also be presented.

Times Reports Police Payoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — New York policemen receive "millions of dollars a year" in illicit payments from gamblers, narcotics dealers and businessmen, the New York Times reported Saturday.

Widespread graft among policemen was documented in a six-month survey by Times reporters, the newspaper said, with information coming from policemen, former policemen, private citizens and police and court records.

Quoting sources within the police department, the Times said a "number of cases" of corruption already have been brought before city administrators and top police officials, but have gone uninvestigated.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, after reading the Times article, termed the findings "extremely serious" and said they "go to the heart of the effectiveness of law enforcement in our city."

The mayor appointed a top-level committee Thursday to investigate police corruption.

The Times said most law enforcement experts agree that the most regular source of police corruption in New York City is the "numbers racket," with annual payoffs estimated by some at $15 million in all levels of government in the city.

According to policemen interviewed, graft connected with narcotics enforcement is less carefully organized, the Times said, but "the potential profits are much larger."

Quoting a police source, the newspaper said payoffs could range from $5,000 for agereeing to change testimony against an accused drug seller to $50,000 for the sale of a "wire" — conversations recorded by a wiretap.

Trucker Didn't Let Girl Scout Cookies Crumble

ST. LOUS (AP) — Donal Lane, president of Teamsters Local 600, found the Girl Scout cookie too tough to crumble.

Delivery of nearly 1.5 million boxes of Girl Scout cookies have been delayed since April 1 by the strike of Lane's 9,500 truck drivers.

Mrs. Charlotte Davis, executive secretary of the St. Louis Gerl Scout Council, complained that Lane had refused to consider her pleas that he release them from the warehouse.

Lane not only agreed Thursday to spring the cookies loose, but he ordered his union business agents to deliver them to distribution points without charge.

The annual cookie sale accounts for nearly half the council's budget.

Recruiting More White Students In School Plans

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Elizabeth City State University, which has about 1,000 Negro students and 25 whites, has begun a campaign to recruit more whites.

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission regional office in Charlottesville, Va., had asked the school, which receives some federal funds, what steps it was taking to desegregate.

Dr. Marion D. Thorpe, president of the state-supported school, replied the state was being asked to assist in hiring a fuflltime recruiter to devote special attention to students.

Forts To Open Gates May 16

LANSING — Gates at Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island and Fort Michilimackinac in Mackinaw City will swing open to the public May 16, two weeks ahead of the past schedule, in a special move to dovetail with Michigan Week and attract large school groups before their classrooms close for the summer.

Michigan Week is set for May 16-23.

Last year, the two forts drew a combined record turnout of 475,000 tourists, reports the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, which operates both popular historic sites.

Another busy season is seen for the forts in 1970 where the Commission has spent more than $200,000 during the past winter to add a number of new exhibits which showcase more historic settings of these facilities.

Among major new improvements at Fort Michilimackinac this season are the reconstructed 1740 Priest's House and a 35-foot Indian-crafted birchbark canoe which was purchased by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

At Fort Mackinac, latest restoration work will give tourists their first chance to pass through the rebuilt 1859 barracks — complete with soldiers' bunks — and the 1879 one-room schoolhouse.

Opening on Mackinac Island around mid-June will be the Benjamin Blacksmith Shop where a skilled smith will hammer hand-forged iron, and a State Park Visitor Center to acquaint tourists with historic attractions of the Island.

Ask Reduction In Seaway Tolls

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Spokesmen for the Great Lakes shipping economy urged the government Friday to reduce tolls which an official said is hurting the Midwest economy by placing the St. Lawrence Seaway "in the hands of loan sharks."

Complaints about Seaway passage expenses were registered by U.S. and Canadian representatives during a meeting sponsored by National Waterways Conference Inc. It was the first in a series of hearings on the costs faced by Great Lakes States in their efforts to ship goods to the sea.

"The tolls were a compromise to get the Seaway, so we ought not to ask for their total removal until federal tax difficulties are solved," Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles said. "But the federal government ought to be removing barriers to our economy, not increasing them."

The meeting was designed to organize opposition to U.S. Transportation Department proposals for increasing Seaway tolls in 1971.

Louis C. Purdey of Toledo, Ohio, president of the conference, said the increasing interest on the original Seaway investment is making the waterway "a prisoner of its debt."

The Seaway, he said, has recovered more than $36 million in the last 10 years through tolls, but the over-all debt has risen to more than $155 million. This, he said, leads to suggestions for higher tolls to meet the increase, but higher tolls will discourage commercial traffic.

Purdey called for revisions of the legislation "which literally placed the Seaway in the hands of loan sharks."

He noted the Senate is considering a revision bill, sponsored by 15 senators.

Senate Okays 'Explosive' Bill

LANSING (AP) — Aiming to halt the use of home-made bombs, the Michigan Senate has overwhelmingly endorsed a bill requiring official permits to purchase explosives such as dynamite and blasting caps.

The Senate voted 34-0 this week for the bill sponsored by Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte, and sent it to the House.

Under the measure, no one under 21 would be allowed to buy explosives.

Those over 21 would be required to obtain a permit from a local police agency if they wanted to buy "just about everything that's needed to complete a bombing."

Included would be nitroglycerine, dynamite, blasting caps, electric blasting caps, safety fuses, fuses and lighters for explosives, fuse ignitors, picric acid, lead acid fulminate of mercury, detonating primers but not reloading primers, "and other dangerous explosive material."

Exempted from the list were black powder and smokeless powder, which some senators argued were used primarily by sportsmen, not persons who'd use them for bombs.

Meanwhile, conscious of public concern over pollution, the Senate rejected a move to allow communities under 4,000 population to exempt themselves from state law governing disposal of garbage and other refuse.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville, won only two "aye" votes and 30 "nays." Reconsideration was slated for next week.

Byker and others argued that small communities could not afford the sanitary landfills required for refuse disposals and, in some cases, people "just pile junk by the side of the road."

"If they can't bury it, they've got to burn it," said Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids. "And then they've got smoke."

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, said he was "tired of hearing that we can't afford to clear up pollution. We can't afford not to."

By a 22-12 vote, the Senate passed a House-approved measure that would allow a farmer to dispose of rubbish "accumulated as a part of the improvement of the planting of privately owned farm land" on his own land.

Abbie Hoffman Gets Capitol Brush-Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — While 375 elegantly dressed ladies had their hairdos wilted by a steady rain, Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman giggled at the delay he caused and shouted through the White House fence.

Hoffman was turned away when he tried to attend a White House ladies' tea for Finch College Alumnae as bodyguard for rock singer Grace Slick.

"Of course. he's not a Finch alumna," noted hostess Tricia Nixon, who is. "If he had been, we would have invited him."

Miss slick, lead singer of the "Jefferson Airplane," declined to attend the party when Hoffman was barred.

"We would have been glad to have had her attend the tea if she thought she could have without her 'bodyguard,' " Miss Nixon said.

Even without Hoffman, Miss Slick would have been a sensation at the tea in her fish net see-through blouse.

But it was obvious that the White House did not know who Miss Slick was when she was included in the guest list as a Finch alumna. A spokesman said the light dawned when she called to ask permission to bring a guard.

"I always have somebody with me," said Miss Slick at the gate, "especially at the White House."

"We're not going to let one of the first ladies of the New Nation go in there unescorted are we?" quipped Hoffman looking out of character in "straight" clothes, a green suit, white shirt and neatly knotted tie.

"They lose a lot of guests in there," he clucked.

When Hoffman got to the gate, a guard told him, "You know this is for ladies only." To which Hoffman replied, "I'm her bodyguard." After which the guard shoved Hoffman's body away from the entrance.

While the couple awaited further word, Hoffman said, "Some dude's coming out. Tricia's old man or something like that."

Haiti Shelled By Mutineers

MIAMI (AP) — Haiti was sealed off today after mutineers seized three Haitian coast guard vessels and fired on the island country's capital of Port au Prince.

The shells, apparently aimed at the palace of President Francois Duvalier, injured one person and damaged several homes, the government said.

Duvalier immediately closed airports and halted telephone service for all but the palace and minister-level officials.

Citizens were ordered to clear the streets.

The curfew was expected to be lifted today.

Arthur Bonhomme, the Haitian ambassador to the United States, said in Washington that Port au Prince was shelled twice by the rebel seamen.

The type of vessels used was not immediately known. In the past, the Haitian coast guard used 95-foot cutters with 40mm cannons.

The ambassador said Duvalier asked the United States for air cover in case trouble erupted again. However, a U.S. State Department official said the Haitians had been advised that "we can't intervene."

Duvalier has been bothered with such outbursts for 13 years since he became president of the small Caribbean country. He gained the presidency on popularity attained as a country doctor.

Haiti shares the Caribbean island with the Dominican Republic.

Times Reports Police Payoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — New York policemen receive "millions of dollars a year" in illicit payments from gamblers, narcotics dealers and businessmen, the New York Times reported Saturday.

Widespread graft among policemen was documented in a six-month survey by Times reporters, the newspaper said, with information coming from policemen, former policemen, private citizens and police and court records.

Quoting sources within the police department, the Times said a "number of cases" of corruption already have been brought before city administrators and top police officials, but have gone uninvestigated.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, after reading the Times article, termed the findings "extremely serious" and said they "go to the heart of the effectiveness of law enforcement in our city."

The mayor appointed a top-level committee Thursday to investigate police corruption.

The Times said most law enforcement experts agree that the most regular source of police corruption in New York City is the "numbers racket," with annual payoffs estimated by some at $15 million in all levels of government in the city.

According to policemen interviewed, graft connected with narcotics enforcement is less carefully organized, the Times said, but "the potential profits are much larger."

Quoting a police source, the newspaper said payoffs could range from $5,000 for agereeing to change testimony against an accused drug seller to $50,000 for the sale of a "wire" — conversations recorded by a wiretap.

No Pollution On Credit River

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — The trout season opens today on the Credit River, and fishermen along the bank will say thanks to an antipollution project which made good.

Ten years ago the Credit was a filthy, choked stream, neglected and abused for more than a century. Now it breaks clean across its rapids on the way to Lake Ontario.

Money and dedicated men brought the Credit back to life and provided a haven for trout and Kokanee salmon. Part of the $3.5 million expended since 1963 came from communities in the Credit watershed; more came from the Ontario government.

More than $1 million built a dam to provide a constant flow of water. Other money went for land acquisitions along the banks, to provide protection against future ravages. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority Foundation has taken control of 3,000 acres through purchase or gifts. At the same time, the provincial Water Resources Commission saw to it that no urban effluents reached the river.

Robert Turnbull, a Toronto Globe and Mail writer who pinpointed the Credit's troubles in a 1963 series, says: "There is no room for complacency. . .One moment of relaxed vigilance and the Credit could slide back into degradation."

The Golden Age Club will meet Sunday at the Civic Center at 2 p.m. Members are asked to bring a dish of their choice.

Boy Scout Troop 414 will hold their Pack meeting Monday at 7 p. m. at St. Patrick's Parish Hall. "Circus," is the program theme and will feature clowns, magic acts, animal, Indian dancing, a bull fight and hobo band. Awards will also be presented.

Trucker Didn't Let Girl Scout Cookies Crumble

ST. LOUS (AP) — Donal Lane, president of Teamsters Local 600, found the Girl Scout cookie too tough to crumble.

Delivery of nearly 1.5 million boxes of Girl Scout cookies have been delayed since April 1 by the strike of Lane's 9,500 truck drivers.

Mrs. Charlotte Davis, executive secretary of the St. Louis Gcrl Scout Council, complained that Lane had refused to consider her pleas that he release them from the warehouse.

Lane not only agreed Thursday to spring the cookies loose, but he ordered his union business agents to deliver them to distribution points without charge.

The annual cookie sale accounts for nearly half the council's budget.

Recruiting More White Students In School Plans

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Elizabeth City State University, which has about 1,000 Negro students and 25 whites, has begun a campaign to recruit more whites.

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission regional office in Charlottesville, Va., had asked the school, which receives some federal funds, what steps it was taking to desegregate.

Dr. Marion D. Thorpe, president of the state-supported school, replied the state was being asked to assist in hiring a fulltime recruiter to devote special attention to students.

Unions Spurn Plea To Curb Wage Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Leaders of the nation's two biggest labor unions, Teamsters and United Auto Workers, spurned Friday the Nixon administration's plea to restrain wage demands to help curb inflation. Union officials said they will ask for substantial increases in upcoming contracts.

Teamsters acting president Frank E. Fitzsimmons said some 450,000 truck drivers will vote next week on a proposed three-year wage and benefits increase of nearly 30 per cent. He said the increase could go even higher if any trucking company exceeds the national contract proposal.

The Labor Department will supervise the vote, Fitzsimmons said.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW said his union will demand increases well in excess of eight per cent a year for some 750,000 workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

"We expect to do a hell of a lot better than that for the guy in the shop," Reuther told more than 3,000 UAW convention delegates representing 1.6 million members. The Teamsters Union totals some 2 million workers.

The eight per cent figure Reuther mentioned was approved by the convention of salary increases, for the UAW's officers and staff members this year, including an increase in Reuther's current $32,907 annual salary. He warned newsmen not to speculate that the union would settle for eight per cent a year in talks with the Big Three auto makers. Those negotiations open in July for contracts expiring Sept. 14.

Says Communists Behind San Jose Demonstrations

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — President Jose T. Trejos says Communists were behind a violent street demonstration Friday night by youths protesting a deal between Costa Rica and a U.S. aluminum company.

"There were no students on the streets but only gangsters and professional agitators," the president said. "Communist elements tried to abuse the civic spirit of the students, provoking riots in the center of the city."

Thousands of young people took to the streets after Trejos signed a contract that will allow Alcoa, the Aluminum Company of America, to mine bauxite deposits at a 65,000-acre site in southern Costa Rica.

Cambodia Conflict Gets 'Invasion' Tab

Nixon Pondering Plan To Send U.S. Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has branded the conflict in Cambodia "clearly a foreign invasion," but says President Nixon needs more time to decide whether the United States will pour arms into the Southeast Asian country.

"The obvious fact is that 40,000 Communist forces is clearly a foreign invasion, and in no sense could this be a pretense of a civil war," presidential press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Friday.

No Arms Respond

But Ziegler declined to say when the administration will respond to Cambodia's urgent appeals for U.S. arms aid.

Nixon has the whole situation under consideration, Ziegler said, adding: "He is watching it and is concerned with it."

The arms requests have put Nixon in a difficult political position, especially after he announced last Monday the phased withdrawal of an additional 150,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam within the next year.

The White House announced Thursday the United States has approved a plan by the South Vietnamese to send several thousand Soviet-built rifles to Cambodia.

Nixon Ponders Move

At the same time, Ziegler said, that action does not constitute a reply to Cambodia's repeated requests for U.S. assistance in putting down the Communist forces, a problem Nixon is pondering this weekend.

The President twice this week postponed meetings of the National Security Council, apparently to wait for the situation in Cambodia to jell.

Meantime, many members of Congress are expected to make it clear they oppose any U.S. involvement in the Cambodian conflict.

Keep Out: Mansfield

In a television interview on NBC Friday, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he feels the United States "absolutely" should stay out of Cambodia.

Despite the feelings of Mansfield and other lawmakers, Nixon, in his own Asian doctrine, said last summer on Guam the United States should stay out of Asian civil wars but can offer assistance in the event of external aggression.

In his state-of-the-world address in February, Nixon said "we shall look to the nation directly threatened to assume the primary responsibility of providing the manpower for its defense."

But he also said that in cases involving nonnuclear aggression "we shall furnish military and economic assistance when requested and as appropriate."

Proxmire Lashes Out At GOP Scare Tactics

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A leading Senate critic of defense spending accused the Pentagon today of flooding Congress with scare-tactic propaganda about Soviet missiles to protect the military's budget.

"This is the old 'scare hell out of them' technique which the Pentagon unveils each year just before their money bills are acted on," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., declared.

Referring to recent Pentagon-released information and photographs of the Soviet SS-9 missile and other weapons, Proxmire added, "There is nothing new or more threatening than before in these Pentagon revelations.

"They are timed more to protect the Pentagon's budget request than to alert the American people against any new or dangerous threat," the senator said in remarks prepared for a foreign policy institute at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

Proxmire said Soviet tests of the SS-9 have been known for months, a new Russian radar installation is above ground and vulnerable to attack, and "Soviet submarines with nuclear warheads have been sitting off our coast for years."

Yet,he said, the Pentagon decided to make use of the information when its budget request was before Congress.

Proxmire said the United States has the "assured destructive capability" against the Soviet Union.

The United States has the capability to launch more than 4,000 nuclear bombs on missiles, deliver another 7,000 by bomber or short-range missiles, and launch 6,000 bombs toward Moscow by using multiple warheads on submarine and Minutemen missiles, Proxmire said.

Opinion Polls In S. Vietnam Held Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is taking public opinion polls in Vietnam "to measure the attitudes of the South Vietnamese people," but won't disclose what it is asking them—or what they are replying.

Like a series of opinion surveys dating back five years, that information is classified.

The secrecy has drawn complaints from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who said Friday he has asked the agency to review the question.

USIA Director Frank Shakespeare sent Fulbright copies of the polls already conducted on April 6. They were stamped confidential.

"Unauthorized release of this material would seriously compromise national security," Shakespeare said.

Fulbright disagreed, saying after reviewing the polls that he saw no need for secrecy.

"For an agency which is supposedly devoted to promoting the free and open exchange of ideas and information, the suppression of polls or similar matters seems most unusual and uncalled for," he said.

In sending Fulbright the result of past USIA polls, the agency reported that "attitudinal surveys . . . are presently being fielded in Vietnam as part of a continuing program to assist operating officials to measure the attitudes of the South Vietnamese people."

Congress Just Pleased With Apollo Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although their spacecraft failed them on their mission to explore the moon, two of the Apollo 13 astronauts were received like heroes on Capitol Hill by congressmen happy just to have them back.

And NASA officials indicated at a hearing before the Senate space committee that something as small as a bit of insulation or aluminum might have sparked the explosion that crippled the Apollo 13 service module enroute to the moon.

"We are essentially people who test equipment," James A. Lovell Jr., told the Senate hearing. "In this business you can't expect successes all the time."

Lovell and John L. Swigert Jr. spent most of two hours retelling the story of the trouble-plagued flight and their recovery, then lunched in a House dining room and spent an hour being photographed with congressmen and their staff members.

The third astronaut, Fred W. Haise Jr., remained behind in Houston nursing a urinary track infection. Marilyn Lovell, Jim's wife, said "he is pretty sick, with 104 degree temperature and taking a lot of medication."

Dr. Rocco A. Petrone, the Apollo program director, told newsmen after the hearing that some material reacting in one of the super-cold oxygen tanks might have provided "the energy source" that caused the explosion.

"We greatly suspect an energy source inside the tank," he said. "Wire insulation can be an energy source. Aluminum wire can be an energy source.

"The energy increase (that burst the tank) was probably caused by oxidation in the tank."

Car-Sharing Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new computer matching service is opening in Los Angeles, to bring together commuters who want to form car pools.

N.J. "Bud" Goldstone, a North American Rockwell engineer, announced Thursday formation of the firm, Compu-Transit. He said car sharing could remove one million of the 3.5 million cars that clog freeways in Los Angeles and Orange counties during rush hours.

Cost of his service will be $3.

Red Chinese Report Launch Of Satellite

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The North American Air Defense Command headquarters here has been tracking the earth orbiting satellite launched by Communist China since its launch Friday and a spokesman said today the satellite is flying regularly over the United States.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today that it had launched a satellite into orbit around the earth.

The official New China News Agency said the 381 pound satellite completes one revolution around the earth each 114 minutes and broadcasts the music of "Tung Fang Hung"—The East Is Red—at a frequency of 20.009 megacycles.

Launched Friday

The satellite was launched Friday, the agency said.

The agency said the satellite's orbit ranges from 273 miles to 1,480 miles above the earth at an angle to the equator of 68.5 degrees.

"The successful launching of the satellite marks a good beginning in the development of China's space technology," the agency added. "It is a great victory for Mao Tse-tung thought, . . and another fruitful result of the great proletarian cultural revolution."

The announcement began: "Our great leader, Chairman Mao, has stated: We too should produce manmade satellites. In the midst of the triumphant march of the people throughout the country to hail the great 1970, we are happy to announce that this great call issued by Chairman Mao has come true-China successfully launched its first manmade earth satellite on April 24, 1970."

No Technical Details

It gave no further technical details, nor did it say where the satellite was launched or with what type rocketry.

The launching, if confirmed, is likely to add to worries in the West over Communist China's already known capability to produce nuclear weapons. The question for some time has been how the Chinese would deliver them to a target.

Banner Of Unity

The announcement said China achieved its success "by holding high the banner of unity and victory of the ninth party congress, adhering to the principle of independence and self-reliance, faithfully carrying out the general line of going all out, aiming high and achieving greater, faster, better and more economical results in building socialism, and by grasping revolution, promoting production and other work and preparedness against war with concrete action."

Japan recently succeeded in putting up a satellite, joining the United States, the Soviet Union and France in the club of nations that have developed the rocketry to accomplish such a feat.

Firebombs Destroy Indian's Life Work

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Two firebombs which caused a $100,000 blaze at a Stanford University research center had a devastating impact on work by 10 scholars, Stanford officials report.

The blaze in the predawn hours Friday came a few hours after police evicted a group of anti-ROTC demonstrators from another campus building.

Stanford officials said an early assessment indicated the most tragic loss was destruction of a lifetime of research data by M.S. Srinivas of India, regarded as one of the world's leading sociologists.

Srinivas, a sociologist from the University of Delhi, was not available for comment. and a colleague, University of Chicago anthropologist Sol Tax, pleaded: "Don't disturb him. His mother just died this week and now his entire life's work has been destroyed."

Elsewhere on campus, demonstrators caused an additional $40,000 damage smashing windows at numerous buildings.

Loss in the fire at the Research Center for Advanced Study of Behavioral Sciences was figured at $100,000, but this did not include the scholarly losses, which educators termed "incalculable."

Srinivas is one of nine visiting scholars whose work was damaged or destroyed.

There were unofficial estimates that as much as 75 years of works might have been damaged.

Center Director O. Meredith said Srinivas' office apparently was hardest hit.

"What was burned was a life," he said. "An entire life totally destroyed by people bent on blind, mindless destruction. This man has done nothing but good to anyone and now he is ruined because of a childish social tantrum."

The window-smashing spree followed arrests of 22 persons among more than 100 who held an anti-ROTC sitin for 12 hours in the Old Student Union Building.

Chicago Truckers Seek Better Deal

By The Associated Press

A tentative national Teamsters Union contract will be renegotiated if Chicago truck drivers get a better deal, the union's acting president says.

Frank E. Fitzsimmons said Friday that union members will vote on the national pact next week, but that trucking industry negotiators agreed to reopen talks if any company grants more than the $1.10 in wages and increased fringe benefits called for in the settlement.

Chicago drivers, who negotiate their contract separately from the national union, are asking for a three-year pact providing increases of $1.65 in wages and $10 a week in fringe benefits.

The national contract was worked out in Washington last month, but ratification by some 450,000 drivers has been delayed by efforts to arrange work rule changes for different sections of the country.

3 East Lansing Banks Targets Of Explosions

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) Explosions damaged the exteriors of three banks in the college community of East Lansing early today.

Police said the bombs went off simultaneously in the doorways of the East Lansing State Bank, the First National Bank and the East Lansing Savings and Loan. The First National was the most heavily damaged, with the front door being blown out.

The other banks suffered lesser damage. Bank officials said all three were expected to open today for regular Saturday business hours.

East Lansing is the home of Michigan State University, although police made no immediate connection between the blasts and the school.

Police Seize Suspect In Assassination Try

NEW YORK (AP) — Nationalist Chinese Vice Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, son and heir apparent to his aging father, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan. A single pistol shot missed when a security guard deflected the aim of a 32-year-old college researcher from Taiwan, police said.

Police subdued the gunman on the steps of the Plaza Hotel Friday as Chiang went inside to a luncheon. The gunman, identified by police as Peter Huang, a researcher at Cornell University in Ithaca, was charged with attempted murder and resisting arrest. He was held without bail.

Police inspector William Averill said Huang had been demonstrating with a group of 30 members of the World United Formosans for Independence before he rushed at Chiang.

The gunman shouted, "Long live Taiwan! Down with Chiang Kai-shek!" as police subdued him.

The World United Formosans for Independence, which is dedicated to overthrowing the Chiang regime that has ruled Formosa, or Taiwan, since 1949, later issued a statement saying the group "deplores acts of violence . . . and was in no way associated with the act that took place at the Plaza Hotel."

The demonstrators carried placards saying, "We represent the silenced majority" and Taiwan is neither free nor China." Last Monday members of the same group picketed the White House in Washington shortly before the younger Chiang visited President Nixon.

Police also arrested a second man outside the hotel, booked him on the same charges and held him without bail. They identified him as Tzu-Tsai Cheng, 33, an architect, and said he was "acting in concert" in the assassination attempt.

47 States Will Change Time But Michigan Won't

By The Associated Press

Forty-seven states make the annual switch from standard time to daylight saving time Sunday morning.

Officially, clocks are set ahead an hour at 2 a.m. But there's no law against doing it at bedtime tonight. The lost hour is regained Oct. 25, when standard time again is in effect.

Under the federal Uniform Time Act, states may exempt themselves from the time change. Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii have done so.

A group of Indiana theater owners has asked the federal court to place the entire state in the central zone. Now, 12 counties are on central time while the rest of the state is in the eastern zone.

New Park Management Concept Due For U.P.

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of Panax Newspapers

LANSING—Some day Michigan is going to have a state park that will be managed according to a completely new concept, and it will be located in the Upper Peninsula.

"This would be the first move the Department of Natural Resources ever has made to manage a park area for wilderness values, outdoor recreational activities and timber production," commented Glenn C. Gregg, deputy director of the DNR in charge of parks and recreation.

The place already has been dedicated as the Craig Lake State Park in Baraga County, but funds for its development have not been appropriated.

Gregg, who formerly lived in Gwinn and was regional manager of the DNR in the Upper Peninsula before going to Lansing as deputy director, said Craig Lake State Park will be managed primarily as a semi-wilderness park with limited development, but some of the back lands will be managed for logging and timber stand improvement.

A Study Area

Although the principal use of the area probably will be for canoeing and backpacking, lakes within the park will be managed to provide the best possible fishing, Gregg said. Primitive camping facilities with hand pumps and pit toilets will be provided. Logging trails and roads will be converted to cross country hiking and snowmobile trails after logging has been discontinued.

"Craig Lake would be a study area to see if these uses are compatible with good park development," Gregg said. "It's a completely new concept in park management."

The management concept is somewhat similar to the zone plan being followed by the U. S. Forest Service on the Sylvania Tract in the Ottawa National Forest in Gogebic County. Sylvania is zoned for logging, general recreation (principally camping, fishing and hiking) and wilderness preservation.

Six Lakes in Park

The dedicated boundaries of Craig Lake State Park encompass 10,720 acres, of which the state now owns 4,518 acres.

Within the boundaries lie hardwood stands, swamps, massive rock outcroppings and miles of lake and stream frontage.

Largest of the six lakes within the park are Craig Lake and Crooked Lake, both fine bass waters. Other lakes are Clair, Nelligan, Teddy and an unnamed lake.

The principal stream in the park is the East Branch of the Peshekee River.

The chain of lakes and streams presents unusual opportunities for development of a series of canoe trips and portages in the park, Gregg said.

Land Obtained

Before the park boundaries were established, the state owned 2,120 acres within the area. Additional acreage became available after the death in a plane crash of Fred Miller of the Milwaukee brewing family, who owned frontage on Craig Lake and had built a lodge, a caretaker's residence and several outbuildings there.

Through a series of purchases and land exchanges beginning in 1966, the state acquired several key parcels within the park area.

The state purchased 674 acres with 19,400 feet of frontage on Crooked Lake from North Woods Products, Inc., of Marquette for $100,000.

Later the same year another 1,183 acres were added to state holdings through purchase from North Woods Products, also for $100,000. Included were 8,936 fet of frontage on Craig Lake.

A land exchange with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. in 1968 brought the state 239 more acres with 14,300 feet of frontage on Craig Lake, 1,320 feet on the Peshekee River and 600 feet on Clair Lake.

Another exchange with Cleveland-Cliffs gave an additional 265 acres to the state with 1,000 feet of frontage on Craig Lake later in 1968.

Funds Hold Key

"There is no way of knowing yet when developments will take place in Craig Lake State Park," Gregg said. "The key to the whole program is the availability of funds."

Meanwhile, fisihng, hiking, canoeing, etc. are permitted in the park site but camping is prohibited because of lack of water and sanitary facilities.

Gregg is not disturbed over the temporary delay in development of the area. He is confident that Craig Lake State Park evntually will become one of the finest parks in Michigan—and one of the most unusual.

League To Meet, Discuss Action On Pollution

"Pollution Starts At Home" will be the topic of discussion at the Monday meeting of the Escanaba League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Ronald Baston, 1114 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, former chairman of the League Water Committee, will present ideas on what individuals can do to control environmental pollution. Mrs. Ken Benson, 1020 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, and Mrs. David Farrand, 1406 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, will assist the presentation.

Members of the League, who are supporting the nationwide issue of environmental control, are urged to attend the meeting to learn what they can do themselves to stop pollution.

The meeting begins at 8 p. m. at 1815 Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba. Mrs. N. L. Lindquist is hosting the meeting.

Youths To Work With Road Group

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Commission says up to 200 inner city youths from Michigan's major cities will be hired for highway maintenance work this summer. The boys, about half from the Detroit area and the rest from outstate cities, will be assigned to litter pick-up, upkeep of highway right-of-way, work in highway rest areas and roadside parks and to other maintenance chores. The commission said they would work for about three months, starting with the end of the school year in June.

A PLAY ABOUT Rip Van Winkle will be featured Monday night at the annual Sixth Grade program of Lemmer School students for parents. Rehearsing the production, Connie McGraw, left, is about to use her broom to awaken Rip, played by Tim Londo, with Jim Wendelberger and Brian Thorsen ready to lend assistance. The program begins at 7 p. m. and the public is invited. (Daily Press Photo)

Lemmer School Sixth Graders Slate Program

The third annual sixth grade program will be held in the Lemmer School Multi-Purpose Room Monday at 7 p. m., with 72 pupils of Mrs. Frances Krantz and Don Anderson participating. The public is invited.

The program will open with a number of vocal selections, including patriotic numbers, an old time favorite, a blues melody and two fun songs.

Material covered in the social studies program during the year will be explained. Each child has made a shadow box representing a person, country or event studied. A shadow box is a scene made of construction paper which is then placed into a painted shoe box. Short reports will be given about some of these projects.

Some of this year's art work will be displayed on the gym walls.

Concluding the evening's program, the children will present a play about "Rip Van Winkle." Scenery for the play has been painted by the class members.

K.C. Ceremonies Planned Monday

The Escanaba Council 640 Knights of Columbus are commemorating the anniversary of the initiation of the late President John F. Kennedy into the Knights of Columbus by sponsoring an admission degree on Monday at the K.C. clubrooms in the Sherman Hotel at 8 p.m.

Gene L. Marcantonio, grand knight, announced that the local council will join with approximately 6,000 other Knights of Columbus councils throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, Guatemala and the Virgin Islands to pay tribute to the memory of one of the order's most distinguished members.

Several candidates will receive the admission degree Monday and in addition to the initiation ceremonies, an audio-visual program will be presented by the council chaplain, Father Norbert Freiburger.

Irving Houle, general program chairman, is in charge of the initiation ceremonies, assisted by the initiation staff. Lunch and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Munising To Host Firemen's Event

MUNISING—The Munising Volunteer Fire Department will host the 76th Annual Upper Peninsula Volunteer Firemen's Tournament July 23, 24, 25, Ted Belfry, city fire chief, announced today.

The tournament will be dedicated to George MacKenzie, who retired recently as Munising's fire chief, after serving in the department for 37 years.

Over 1,000 firemen and their wives are expected to attend from 54 fire departments in the U. P. The last time this event was held here was 1956.

Belfry, who is serving as general chairman, said that his committees are preparing three days of entertainment and meetings, in an effort to make this tournament one of the most outstanding ever held.

"We have already received confirmation, Belfry continued, from the following musical units that will take part in our parades: Iron Mountain White Berets, Menominee Northernaires, Marquette Majestics, Dollar Bay Twin City Bands and the Munising Silver Echoes. Also expected to participate will be the Ishpeming Blue Notes, Ontonagon Mountainaires, Ironwood Blue Notes and the L'Anse Eagles.

"In addition, a program of professional entertainment is also being lined up," Belfry said. "As an extra feature this year, the department is presently corresponding with major manufacturers of fire fighting equipment in hopes they will set up displays and give demonstrations of their products in Munising during the tournament.

Art Exhibit Opens Tuesday

MARQUETTE — The latest exhibition being sent to Marquette by Michigan's Project Outreach is "Museum Director's Choice," a collection of paintings illustrating the varied movements of European art in the 20th Century.

Opening Tuesday at Olson Library-Gallery on the Northern Michigan University campus, the exhibition has been personally selected by Willis F. Woods, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Included are works by Maurice de Vlaminck, Henry Moore, Fernand Leger, Henri Matisse and Georges Braque, as well as other European masters. According to Woods, "The works of art selected represented a broad visual foundation for art being created and exhibited today."

In drawing works from the collections of the Detroit Institute, Woods indicated that "Color, image, form, texture and spontaneity of the artist's insight of his 'new vision' were all factors that influenced my choice."

To make the viewer's experience richer and of greater depth, Project Outreach has published a catalog which will be available at the gallery during the show. Comments by Woods will be displayed alongside each painting.

"Museum Director's Choice" will be the fifth major exhibition brought to Marquette by Outreach. It will be open to the public, free of charge, weekdays from 9 to 9, Saturdays from 9 to 5 and Sundays from 1 to 5, through the third week of May.

Arrangements for guided group tours of the gallery may be made through Mrs. Robert Moore, 440 East Michigan St., Marquette, telephone 228-9250.

Stolen Car Taken On Smashing Ride

Escanaba police this morning were looking for a young man who took a stolen car on a wild ride Friday night.

Before it was over, the driver had backed through a fence, demolished a shed, hit a tree, hit a utility pole, smashed into the rear of a parked car and jumped the curb several times.

Jeanette LaCrosse, 1323 Sheridan Rd., reported to police at 11:27 p. m. Friday that someone entered the back door of her house, took her car' keys from her purse and drove away in her car, which had been parked at the back of the house.

Police gave this sequence of events from that point.

The driver in backing out of the yard, cut the wheels and the car backed through a fence owned by Leslie C. Porath, 1317 Sheridan Rd. Shifting to forward gears, the driver then proceeded north down the alley before turning east toward Sheridan Rd. and into a storage shed at Nelson's Cash Store, owned by H. George Nelson, 1108 Sheridan Rd.

The car emerged from the shed onto Sheridan Rd., zigzagged north across the intersection of Sheridan Rd. and 14th Ave. N., and jumped the curbing. The car hit a tree, then a city utility pole jarring the lighting globe loose so it smashed on the pavement, and then proceded into the rear of a parked car owned by Mary Kobasic, 1412 Sheridan Rd.

Officers said the Kobasic vehicle was pushed over the curb onto the lawn by the impact.

The stolen car, a 1964 model sedan, then angled across Sheridan Rd. over the curb on the opposite side before coming to rest.

Police said the driver fled on foot.

Deliberate Mishap?

Young Driver Held On Murder Charge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An 18-year-old motorist was arraigned on open charge of murder Thursday after police charged he deliberately forced another auto to crash into an abutment during a 100-mile-an-hour chase.

Kathleen M. Tolar, 16, of Marne was killed in the crash and four other persons who were with her in the wrecked car were hospitalized.

Held Without Bail

Robert G. Flippo, 18, of Grand Rapids was held without bail following an appearance before Grand Rapids District Court Judge J. Robert Snolenski. The unemployed youth asked the court to appoint an attorney for him.

Flippo, according to Grand Rapids police, drove away virtually unscathed after his car rammed the other vehicle on I 696 near the Leonard overpass in Grand Rapids.

Four Injured

Police Lt. Richard Dryer listed the injured as Gary De Young, 20, who is in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital; Charles Tolar, 18, who is in the intensive care unit at the same hospital: John Tolar, 19, in serious condition at Butterworth hospital and the latter's wife, Sandra, 20, in satisfactory condition at Butterworth. The Tolars are brothers of the dead girl.

Find Beer In Car

Lt. Dryer said the incident apparently was triggered April 4 when Flippo and John Tolar were arrested on charges of being minors in possession of alcohol. He said the arrests came after police found some beer in the youths' car.

Dryer and Sgt. James VanderMeulen continued their investigation to find where the youths obtained the beer.

Arrested Wednesday were Flippo, John Tolar and Donald Stevens, 48, of Grand Rapids, the grocer who allegedly sold the beer, on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All were arraigned, and Stevens also was charged with selling beer to minors.

Later that night, police said, De Young and the Tolars went to Flippo's home and an argument developed, followed by the high speed chase.

Woman Injured In One-Car Accident

Pauline Bonjean, 72, of Wilson, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital for treatment of injuries resulting from a one-car accident at about 10:45 a. m. Friday.

Mrs. Bonjean was reported in good condition at the hospital today.

State Police said the accident occurred at the intersection of U. S. 2 & 41, and County Rd. 557, in Menominee County, Harris Township.

Officers said the Bonjean vehicle, while making a right turn, pulled to the left when the brakes were applied, causing Mrs. Bonjean to lose control. The car ran off the road and struck a tree.

Officers said Mrs. Bonjean was taken to the hospital by a private vehicle.

New Highway Plan Hits Trouble In Legislature

BY DON HOENSHELL
(Panax Staff Writer)

LANSING — Michigan's new $1.6 billion roadbuilding plan for the 1970's encountered trouble quickly in the legislature.

The proposal by the Michigan Highway Commission has been in Gov. Milliken's hands since early April.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee and GOP bellwether in Lansing, said:

"You know what the department wants to do, they want to get as much of that 50-50 money as they can. But the total means a gasoline tax increase.

"I don't think the people are ready for that right now."

News Breaks First

Others in the legislature sniped at the department for not informing them of developments. Their first knowledge of the plan was disclosed in newspapers.

As the debate started in the capitol, fresh details on the first major state roadbuilding proposal since 1957 were disclosed. The basic finance plan, raising the gasoline tax one cent a gallon from six to seven cents, the diesel fuel levy from seven to nine cents are unchanged.

Local governments then could add another penny to each to raise money for streets and country roads.

Non-Freeway Routes

Charles H. Hewitt, a Detroit area banker and chairman of the highway commission, said the state program would apply only to non-freeway routes, now designated as state trunklines.

Michigan obtained 90 percent of the cost in the construction of the 1,175 miles of Interstate freeways.

Now to improve the state trucklines, the state needs money to apply for 50 per cent in federal funds.

The program would be to get $477 million from federal sources, matched 50-50 by the state, obtain another $500 million in state-supported bonding in $100 million segments and $194 million from gasoline taxes not used to back up the bonds.

Hewitt sent the memorandum detailing the plan to Milliken April 7 with a second detailed explanation written by Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth.

U. P. Freeway

General details, including the first east-west freeway across the Upper Peninsula, were disclosed earlier. Specifically, the program would include:

Upper Peninsula — U.S. 2 from Ironwood to Escanaba at a cost of $189.7 million and U.S. 2 from Rapid River to I-75 north of St. Ignace, costing $138.8 million. Total $328.3 million.

Stafseth's memorandum fixes the total program at $1,081 billion on 1968 unit costs but he said the inflation since that time would raise it to $1,591 billion, including egineering and right of way.

The proposed urban primary program would, also include:

- Widen I-75 in Sault Ste. Marie to five lanes, $1,047,000.
- Reconstruct U.S. 2 in Escanaba to four lanes, $910,000.
- Provide freeway construction on US-2 in Gladstone, 1.2 miles, $1,560,000.

Hewitt's memorandum to Milliken said that 82 per cent of the state's nonfreeway routes are now obsolete and should be refurbished.

Legislators said that while the state concentrated on the Interstate system, using 90 per cent federal money, the state's own highways were neglected.

Gone Fishing

No editorial today.

Gone fishing, mentally at least.

Michigan's regular trout season opened today, sending hundreds of fishermen and would-be fishermen into the brush in the spring version of the opening day of deer season. There's sort of a special excitement that goes with the season opener, even though fishing conditions — rain or snow is not unusual, cold weather is the norm rather than the exception and streams are running at flood stage — generally are less than ideal and the trout less than cooperative.

But the anglers go anyway in one of the rites of spring.

Like last year.

It was shirt-sleeve weather heading north into the Hiawatha National Forest on the White-River road the day before the season opened, the kind of day in the spring that would have made even the most optimistic individual suspicious. The sun was bright, a warm breeze was blowing and the air pouring through the open windows of the four-wheel drive vehicle felt refreshing. A six pack rested in the back of the car, along with fishing rods, landing nets, waders, tackle boxes and sleeping bags. A canoe was firmly lashed to the roof. Groceries, just in case, had been ferried to the camp by the other part of the party.

The ride went smoothly and the getaway was timed to allow a few scouting trips down seldom used side roads to check water levels in streams which offered potential for the next morning. Streams were high, but the feeder creeks not impossible. It looked like a great weekend.

Until the morning.

Dawn broke gray and the camp thermometer shivvered just above freezing, but the coffee was hot and spirits were high — no reflection on the night before, thank you — and the group was off for a small lake where few fishermen seemed to fish.

The wind was raw, cutting through windbreakers and sweater, as the canoe was carefully launched. Away from the shelter of the trees, a slight ripple was kicked up on the surface of the lake. And despite the chill, anticipatory excitement of the first cast was warming

A spinner hit the water. There was the soft whir of a retrieving reel. Nothing. Another cast, another retrieve. Nothing. The second boat hit the lake. Nothing. Cold. Snow flurries in the air. Nothing. Try a worm. Nothing. Maybe that's why few fishermen seemed to fish the lake.

Time to move. On to that other lake which a year before had offered a modicom of success, producing several fine rainbows. The cold had cooled the spirits, but much of the optimism remained. It was somewhat disconcerting, therefore, to find a tent on the high bank and no sign of a fisherman, except for the snores from inside. Either he had risen early, landed a limit catch and retired for a nap or the fishing was so poor he had given up.

The wind was still raw. Sky still gray. Into the lake went the canoe.

Worm first, this time. Fingers too numb to change to a lure. The canoe drifted, line dragging.

Strike. Fish on. A nice one. Get the net.

The 15-inch rainbow rocketed out of the water once, twice, then began to tire and was guided toward the canoe by the firm pressure of the reel. Alongside. Into the net. It didn't seem so sold.

And so went the opening day.

A single fish, but not skunked.

The rain began to fall. The car was warm, the camp warmer. More rain.

And so went the weekend in one camp in the Upper Peninsula.

So it may go today and Sunday.

No editorial Monday. Gone fishing.

Animal In The Road

Driving through a suburban neighborhood, a motorist noticed a dog in the road ahead, gazing intently at something in the distance. Assuming that the dog would get out of his way, the motorist kept right on going.

Unfortunately, the dog failed to move until the last moment, too late to escape sudden death under the car's wheels.

Could this motorist be held legally liable for killing the dog? A court ruled that he could indeed. Pointing out that the motorist had enough time and enough space to swerve, with no danger to himself, the court said he had no right so heedlessly to snuff out the dog's life.

As a rule, a motorist must show a decent concern for dogs and other animals in our streets and highways. This does not mean, however, that he must take precautions that would inhibit normal driving practice. Consider this case:

A motorist approaching a farm saw several turkeys by the roadside. Just as he drew near, one of the turkeys scuttled out in front of his car and was struck down.

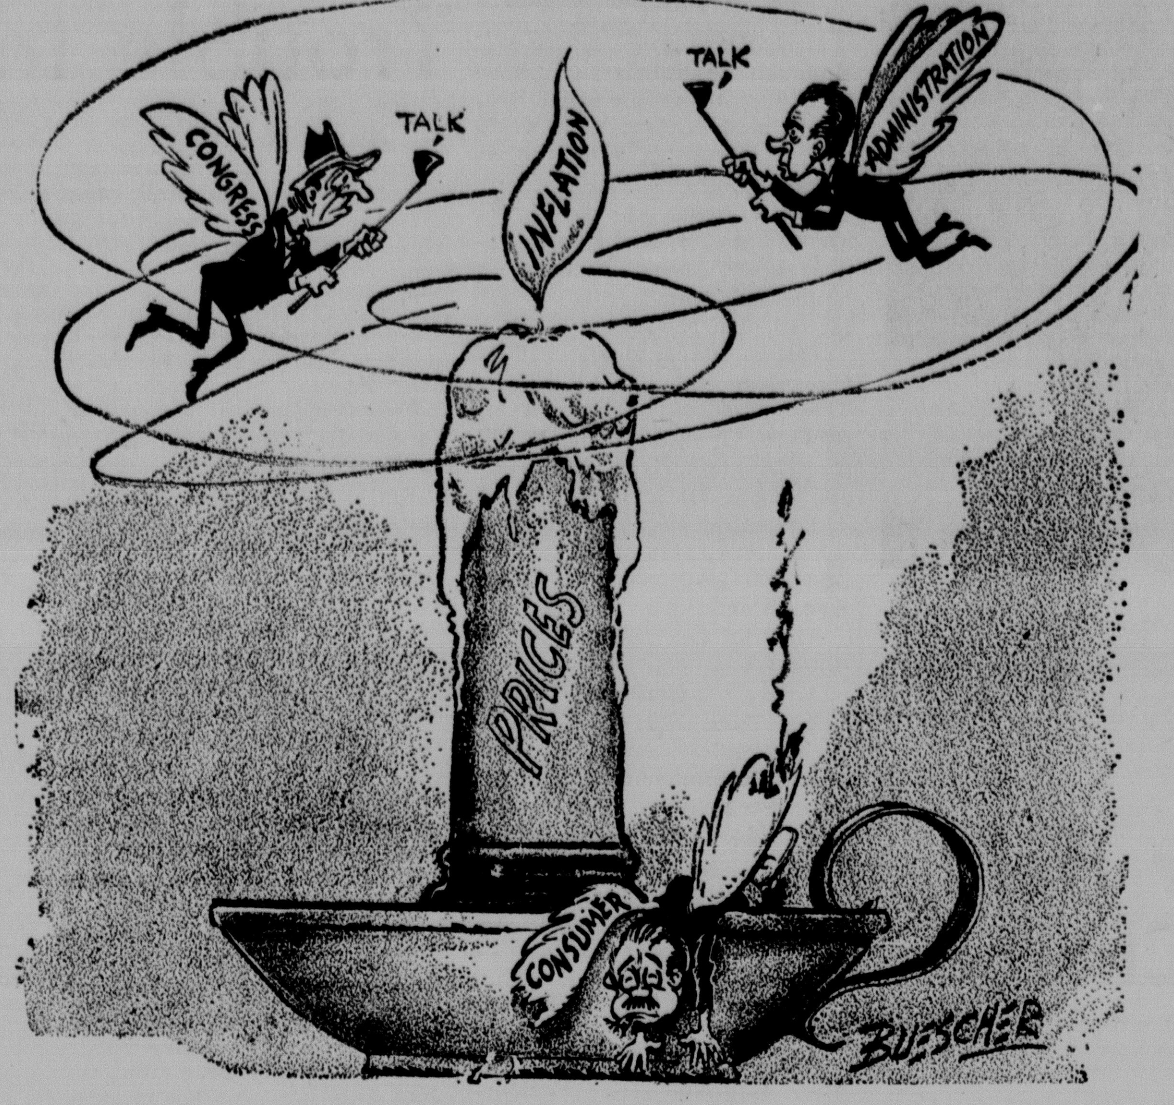
In short order, the farmer sued the motorist for damages. He argued that, since the turkeys were in plain sight, the motorist should have slowed down — just in case. But the judge held the motorist not liable, saying:

"I do not believe the law imposed upon him the duty of slowing down so he could immediately stop, just because one of these turkeys might take a notion to cross the road at an injudicious moment. Highways are not built for animals or fowls to stray in."

Of course, the motorist is even less to blame if the accident was simply not within the range of foreseeability. Another man was making a wide turn to enter his driveway one night when a neighbor's dog dashed unseen out of the darkness. The dog suffered fatal injuries, and his owner duly demanded damages on the theory that the car was on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

But a court denied the claim, because the location of the car was not the real cause of the dog's death. The court said .. was unfair to blame the motorist for an accident he could not have either foreseen or avoided.

BURNING ISSUE



Kelley, Milliken Ignore Crusading James Turner

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley is going to ignore Publisher James Turner.

So is Gov. Milliken.

Turner is the gadfly crusader for reform in the judiciary who has spread his campaign statewide from his Livingston County base and who this week said he will be a candidate for governor.

He told newsmen that Milliken and Kelley are "apparently protecting each other," charging that the governor knows many of the facts available to him (Turner) and is doing nothing.

Turner warms over his charges that Kelley is linked to the Mafia through a boyhood friend in Detroit, that his appointment as attorney general in 1962 was engineered by former Detroit Mayor Frank Cavanagh.

"In one fell swoop Turner put Cavanagh, (former Gov.) Swainson, (who appointed Kelley) and Kelley in bed with the Mafia and accused Milliken of associating with them," said one observer.

But at that point, the substance disappeared.

Turner said he would not name names or dates or places "because I might stumble over a few" without his records, which he said are available in his Howell office of Today Magazine.

He mentioned Kelley's appointment of special assistants but declined to follow up.

★ ★ ★

Turner said that Democratic and Republican state central committees have run up big telephone bills without any attempt by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to collect them.

Some candidates have unpaid telephone bills of between $1,000 and $5,000 under the same conditions, whatever they are.

"This must stop," Turner said.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, retiring after 16 years in office, said he has known Turner for years, that he's sincere, but the question of his supporting him is a question.

"I'm a Democrat," Hare said.

Sincerity rests easily on Turner. He appears to convince people when he says he believes in the democratic process, the political forms and in the Ten Commandments.

He flatly states he is $75,000 in debt, that he will within two weeks disclose all the sources of his income and how it is spent and urges all candidates to do the same.

Turner says the state paid $50,000 for a gravel pit that even the State Police couldn't find in two weeks of searching, that there are 100 grand jury indictments in Wayne County that have never been prosecuted.

★ ★ ★

The picture he presents is that of an angry middle-aged man of pure motives sacrificing himself and his future for the betterment of mankind.

Turner said he was a high school graduate in Texas and a Democrat before he came to Michigan 12 years ago and now will run against Milliken as a Republican candidate for governor.

He said he will provide detail for his charges against Milliken and Kelley in a May 7 "position paper."

Turner said he will continue to be publisher of Today Magazine throughout the campaign.

He is a political enigma and it is rare that he says anything that can be checked without going to his office in Howell. Even then the authenticity of letters and documents must be nailed down.

Kelley's office will get the report for Turner on the performance of grand juries, as he requested.

But otherwise Kelley will ignore Turner ond so will Milliken—and wait for May 7.

EVERY DAY TASK

"Earth Day" has come and gone. We have cleaned up our parks and school grounds. We have worried about the dismal condition of our planet. Now that "Earth Day" is over, does our distress end?

Hopefully, Escanaba citizens are still asking themselves, "What Can I Do?"

Bay de Noc Community College sponsored an Environmental Symposium Wednesday to explore answers to this critical question. Discussion at the evening session challenged the individual citizen and consumer of Escanaba to help in four ways:

1, The Escanaba consumer can establish collection posts in the city for newspapers, returnable bottles and metal cans. These items are returned to the manufacturer (at his expense) and recycled for further use;

2, The Escanaba consumer can use his "dollar power" to promote ecologically desirable products. These include low phosphate detergents and lead-free gasoline;

3, The Escanaba consumer can refuse to purchase products that are destructive to air, land and water;

4, All citizens can stimnlate awareness of total environment at home.

Only by making every day an "Earth Day" can we hope to restore and maintain this beautiful world.

DAY TO COME?

"Earth Day Program Thoroughly Backed," "Mead Given Go Ahead On Pulp Mill"—two headlines on the front page of the Escanaba Daily Press of April 22.

A page to remember—a day yet to come when Mead cuts the ribbon to the $65 million pulp mill in Escanaba.

Mead won. The company plans a show place. What happens when a $65 million show place doesn't work?

Again we have a wait and see atmosphere in the city. Is this pulp mill going to work?

Hats off to the Save Our Air committee. You all have guts to go as far as you did. Did this committee get enough help from the people of Escanaba?

Or do we all just don't care? Or are we too silent for fear of losing jobs, losing progress or losing the Mead Corp.?

Bottled Water Now Major U.S. Industry

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As the nation's water supplies become contaminated, more and more Americans are pouring their drinking water from bottles rather than drawing it from taps.

At least 700 companies are now in the business, The American Bottle Water Association estimates, and their sales this year are expected to exceed $75 million. That will mean a $25 million increase in just three years.

Pollution isn't providing the only pressure beneath the sales geyster. Water shortages, affluence and more discriminating tastes are contributing. And new uses are being found all the time.

Understandably, millions of gallons of bottled water have been used to standardize the taste of liquors, beverages and other products, and dietetic considerations have dictated its use in other preparations.

Some of the newer uses weren't foreseen just a decade ago. Jet aircraft fuel is sometimes mixed with bottled water to keep engines cool during take-offs; and it is a final rinse in the plating of space vehicle skins.

Almost every sales forecast calls for continued increases in the business for years to come, a fact not lost on some of the major food and beverage companies which have been buying heavily into the industry.

The industry originally consisted of spring water companies, but now many bottlers begin with ordinary tap water, distill or demineralize it, and then reconstitute the product, perhaps with a bit of real spring water in order to give life to the taste.

Few spring water companies distribute over large areas. Many are still very small operations, in part because of the limited volume of their source.

Only one company, Mountain Valley Water Co. of Hot Springs, Ark., claims to distribute nationally from one source.

Its president, John Scott, claims that while some springs change temperature every day, the temperature and flow of his spring has not varied in a century.

Mountain Valley, it is said, was "discovered" by Hernando DeSoto in 1541, but presumably Indians had been drinking the water for many years before, for almost all civilizations have been attracted to springs.

Bishops Launch $50 Million Fund Crusade For Poor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have launched a $50 million crusade to aid blacks and other impoverished minorities.

At the semiannual meeting this week the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' also condemned the recent wave of state legislation to lift restrictions on abortions, and promised a campaign for social acceptance of pregnancies and births out of wedlock.

In acting to implement a $50 million drive against poverty, economic inequities and racism, the bishops decided to seek funds through special Thanksgiving offerings beginning next November.

They rejected proposals for combining the new fund raising with the annual Lenten appeal to finance Catholic Relief Services, the Church's international charitable arm, which raises about $8 million annually.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

Let's suppose you're in a contract the outcome of which appears to depend on a finesse. Whenever you rnu into such a case, you should make it a special point to also look for a way of increasing your chances beyond the 50 per cent probability of winning the finesse.

Take this hand where it would seem that declarer must win the spade finesse to make the slam. However, there is actually a good chance of making the hand even though West has the king of spades, and it costs declarer nothing to test this possibility before attempting the finesse.

Accordingly, he wins the club lead with the ace and cashes the K-Q of hearts and A-K of diamonds. He notes that West plays the 10-8 of diamonds as the suit is led.

Declarer crosses to dummy's king of clubs and plays the five of diamonds.

East cannot afford to step up with the queen, which would crash West's jack, so he follows low.

South does not bother to ruff the diamond because there is an excellent chance that West started with either the J-10-8 or Q-10-8. He discards a spade instead. As the cards happen to lie. West is forced to win with the jack and South automatically has the rest of the tricks because West is endplayed.

The suggested method of play succeeds because the diamonds are favorably divided, but it should be noted that, if they were not, declarer would still have the spade finesse available. The important point is that South substantially increases his chances of making the slam by first sounding out the diamonds.

When voltages too low to cause fires or shocks are used, painted walls and ceilings become heat sources. A wall at a London research center has been giving off heat for more than eight months.

Good Or Bad, Words Must Be Used Right

Dear Ann Landers: May I borrow your column to give a few million people a free English lesson?

Every time I hear someone misuse the words bad and badly, I cringe. It is so simple to learn to use these words properly. Bad is an adjective. You feel bad if you hurt someone's feelings. You do not feel badly. People frequently make a similar mistake with the words good and well. A person does not look well in her new dress, she looks good in it. To say a person looks well means they do not look sick. Food tastes bad, not badly. Or it tastes good, not well. Anyone who can't complete the series is a hopeless case.

Where are today's English teachers? Don't they teach English anymore?

I am an English teacher and I'm no longer teaching. I guess that answers my question. — D. L., Washington

Dear D. L.: Thanks for a good letter. You did well. What I mean is you didn't do badly.

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a factory where it is necessary to stand or sit alongside other women for several hours at a time. A girl no older than 20 started to work here last August. At first she was very quiet. After three weeks on the job she began to talk—mostly about her little boy who was born out of wedlock. Then she began to bring pictures—every other day. (She must spend $20 a week on film.)

All we hear is Van, Van, Van. It's Van this and Van that. To listen to her, Van is the most beautiful, the smartest, sweetest, and best behaved child in the world.

We all have children, Ann, and naturally we think our kids are special, but no mother at the factory brags about her legitimate kids the way this girl carries on about her illegitimate one. Is there a polite way to shut her up?—Vanned Out

Dear Out: No way—polite or impolite. The girl probably feels defensive because the boy was born out of wedlock. Once you understand why this young mother goes in for excesses you should find her bragging less irritating.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I worked hard for 30 years. We built a good business and although it seemed as if we were killing ourselves, we enjoyed it. When we received an offer to sell out at a handsome profit, we took it —thinking the time had come to take it easy. So my husband went on a job from 9 till 5.

We are both restless in our new life. My husband is depressed because he doesn't have enough to do. I hate having him around the house so much. We used to be busy and happy. Now, from 5:15 till midnight, we sit around and look at each other.

Are we too old at 54 to start a new business? We have the money, good health and energy. What do you say?—Haunted By Doubts

Dear Doubts: Obviously you both need a challenge in order to feel useful and productive. Neither you nor your husband are happy out of harness so my advice is to get back into business—on a smaller scale. You'll be glad you did.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Magnificent tapestries, sometimes taking years to complete, decorated the walls of many homes and churches in the Middle Ages. Woven with richly colored strands of silk and wool, they often pictured scenes from the Bible. To create a beautiful tapestry required patience . . . skill . . . devotion.

Today each of us weaves a tapestry — the fabric of our lives. We sit at a loom, wondering whether the pattern of our lives will be of bright rose, green or golden threads, or whether the events will show as somber, dark colors.

A weaver in the Middle Ages worked on the reverse side of his tapestry. By looking up at a mirror, he could see how the entire design looked on the right side.

When we look up to God in worship, we can see with clarity the pattern of our lives. Attend the church of your choice for perspective on your life's tapestry.

Kuhn noted that Miss Eldred was the state's third Miss America in the past 10 years and suggested Michigan be dubbed "the state of beautiful women."

The only woman senator, N. Lorraine Beebe, R - Dearborn, noted her male colleagues and suggested, instead, "the state of beautiful women—and wolves."

BE PREPARED
to save a life through
mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing

When breathing stops, this simple procedure may be used in cases of drowning, electric shock, choking, overdose of medicine, carbon monoxide poisoning and other respiratory emergencies.
For an adult, follow these FOUR simple steps and breathe vigorously about 12 times a minute. For a small child, take relatively short breaths, about 20 per minute.
Before attempting rescue breathing, lay victim on back. Turn head to side and wipe any foreign matter out of mouth with fingers. Then straighten victim's head.

1 Place one hand under victim's neck and lift. Tilt head back as far as possible by holding crown of the head with your other hand.

2 Pull chin upward until head is tilted back fully. This is essential for keeping the air passage open.

3 Place your mouth tightly over victim's mouth. Pinch nostrils shut. Breathe hard until chest rises. For babies and very young children, cover both nose and mouth tightly with your mouth.

4 Remove mouth. Listen for returning air. If not heard, recheck head position. Breathe again. If still no air exchange, turn victim on side and slap between shoulders. Repeat breathing removing mouth each time for escape of air.

Knicks Rally, Upend Lakers

NEW YORK (AP) — The hot hand belonged to Los Angeles' Jerry West, the cold shoulder to New York's Willis Reed . . . until a pair of lightfingered latecomers eased the pressure off the Knickerbockers' backs and dropped it back into the Lakers' laps.

Cazzie Russell and Walt Frazier, who had squirmed on the bench as New York blew a 20-point lead to the West-led Lakers, ignited a fourth quarter counter-attack that gave the Knicks a 124-112 victory in the opener of the National Basketball Association's championship playoff series Friday night.

Reed poured in 37 points, despite a first-half shoulder injury, as the Knicks got the jump in the best-of-7 set, which resumes Monday night at Madison Square Garden. Super-sub Mike Riordan, picking up the slack when Frazier got into foul trouble, added 19.

But it was Russell and Frazier, held to a combined total of two points through the first 39½ minutes, who turned the tide after West scored 16 of his 33 points in a third quarter spurt that sent the Lakers, trailing 50-30 at one point, to a 98-95 edge early in the final session.

"The Man Upstairs just seems to be on my side," said Russell, who followed Frazier's first field goal since the opening quarter with his first basket of the game, puting the Knicks ahead 99-98, and then hit three more two-pointers down the stretch.

"It took a little time for the adrenaline to flow tonight," added Cazzie, who was 0-for-3 from the floor in the first half.

"This is my first world championship series. I wouldn't say I was jittery, but I guess I was trying too hard in the first half. I know I wasn't as warm as I was when I came back in."

Frazier, sacrificing his offensive game in an effort to defend against West, was yanked after picking up his fourth foul with just 51 seconds gone in the third quarter. But he scored another key basket—off his own steal—during the Knicks' deciding burst and helped limit the Lakers to 20 fourth quarter points.

Penguins Out To Tie Series; Hawks Eye Win

By The Associated Press

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh is hoping to keep the heat on St. Louis and Billy Reay of Chicago is trying to cool off Boston as the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs continue Sunday.

"The heat went up as soon as we came on the ice," said Kelly after the Penguins dropped the Blues 3-2 Thursday to cut St. Louis' margin to 2-1 in the best-of-7 West Division playoffs. "If it's too hot in the kitchen, stay out. If it's too hot on the ice, stay off."

While Kelly was trying to keep momentum in Pittsburgh, Reay was trying to stop it in Boston, where the Bruins hold a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-7 East Division finals.

Boston, with the home ice advantage, was favored for a four-game sweep and to advance to the NHL finals for the first time in 12 years.

"We had better be up for Sunday's game," said defenseman Dallas Smith of Boston. "We were high for the first two games in Chicago and we won easily. "We weren't up for the third game . . . and it could've cost us.

"The Black Hawks are too good, great shooters. Our goalie, Gerry Cheevers, kept us alive and we're going to have to contribute."

A superb defensive performance by Cheevers helped the Bruins whip the Black Hawks 5-2 Thursday.

Although Cheevers has been outstanding in Boston's five-game playoff winning string which started with two over New York, the key to Boston's success is stopping Chicago's Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita.

Veteran Eddie Westfall has done a good job of shutting off Hull. The Golden Jet had only one shot on goal in the third game. Mikita has also been closely shadowed and only got off three shots Thursday.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh Penguin officials say some 10,500 tickets have been sold for Sunday's game, largest in the expansion club's three-year history.

Everything Going Fine As Tigers Post 8th Straight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Kaline couldn't remember the last time he slammed out five straight hits Bill Freehan knew it was his first hit ever off Minnesota reliever Tom Hall.

But Detroit Manager Mayo Smith was delighted by it all.

The streaking Tigers posted their eighth straight victory and remained atop the American League's East Division with an 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins Friday.

405-Foot Homer

Freehan lofted a 405-foot, two-run homer in the seventh inning off Hall after Jim Northrop walked for the tie-breaking runs.

"It was the first time I've got a hit off him," said Freehan, the Tiger catcher. "I didn't face him too much last year when he was rookie but I remember having trouble with him."

Kaline slapped out three singles and two doubles in five trips in raising his average almost 60 points to .373.

"I haven't had five hits in a game in a long time—must be as far back as '55 or '56," Kaline said after he reached the 2,465-hit level and moved into fourth place on the all-time Detroit hitting list.

10 - 3 Record

The Tigers, who were supposed to be suffering without suspended pitcher Denny McLain, now have a 10-3 record.

"Our pitching has been great ...absolutely fantastic," said Kaline. "We're a team, if we get the pitching, will score some runs and win some games."

It was John Hiller's turn to star on the mound for the Tigers. He held the hot-hitting Twins, who went into the game batting 295 as a team, to three hits in 5 2-3 innings in relief of Joe Niekro.

Attitude Good

"There's a great attitude on this club," said Smith. "You have to be a little surprised by our start in this situation. But our pitching is doing the job."

The Tigers started producing runs in the first inning when Dick McAuliffe lined a home run on the game's second pitch and Kaline doubled home Coco Gutierrez for a two-run lead.

But the Twins came back to tie in their first when Brant Alyea—the AL's RBI leader with 20—laced a bases-loaded double over Kaline's glove.

Four Runs In Third

The Tigers came back for four more in the third on Cesar Tovar's bases-loaded throwing error and Freehan's run-scoring single.

Alyea doubled in two more Twins' runs in the third, Tovar tripled in a run in the fourth and Harmon Killebrew slammed a home run in the fifth to tie the game before Freehan's drive settled it in the seventh.

"After we got two runs ahead," said Smith, "we knew we had to hang on."

Hitters Have Last Say In NL Victories

By The Associated Press

Not content to leave the hitting to the hitters, National League pitchers took matters in their own hands Friday with positive results on three separate fronts.

St Louis managed just three hits against Cincinnati's rookie flash, Wayne Simpson, but one of them was a sixth inning single by hurler George Culver that touched off a two-run rally and helped the Cards to a 3-1 victory over the Reds.

San Francisco broke an eighth inning tie against Montreal with a pair of three-run homers by Ron Hunt and Dick Dietz but the hit that started the rally was a double by, of course, pitcher Gaylord Perry. The Giants went on to win the game 12-3.

In Chicago, pitcher Ken Holtzman ripped a tie-breaking, two-run double and the streaking Cubs won their eighth straight, knocking off Houston 6-3.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Atlanta shut out Pittsburgh 9-0, Philadelphia edged San Diego 5-4 and Los Angeles edged New York 1-0 in 15 innings.

Lou Brock opened the Cards-Reds game with a leadoff homer—only the second run in four starts off Simpson. Then the Reds' rookie shut the door on the Cards until the sixth when Culver, who had been matching zeroes with the youngster, opened with a single. Errors by Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion sunk Simpson, allowing two runs to score and that was all Culver needed.

Perez jolted his ninth homer of the year and two other hits, raising his average to 500. The nine homers broke the National League record for the month of April. The old mark of eight was shared by Lee Walls, Willie McCovey and Wally Moon.

After the Expos had pushed across a run to tie the Giants at 2-2 in the seventh inning, Perry lashed a one-out double, Bobby Bonds walked and Hunt followed with his homer. Then Willie Mays walked, Ken Henderson singled and Dietz slugged another three-rnu homer.

Perry had a single and Mays ended an 0-for-15 slump with a single as the Giants added four insurance runs in the eighth—three of them crossing on a pair of wild pitches by reliever Carol Sembera.

Holtzman had held the Astros hitless until the sixth inning before Houston broke through for a pair of runs. But the Cubs bounced right back in the bottom half with hits by Billy Williams, Johnny Callison and J.C. Martin producing two runs before Holtzman's two-out double brought two more across.

Callison iced it with a two-run homer in the seventh as Chicago built its longest winning streak since 1953 when the Cubs strung 10 victories together.

Jim Nash scattered five hits and the Braves halted a six-game losing streak by blanking Pittsburgh. Tony Gonzalez drove in three runs and Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 15 games for Atlanta.

Beard Snares Tourney Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif (AP) — Frank Beard had just fired an eight-under-par 64, including a string of six consecutive birdies, but refused to be jarred out of his conservative, easy-going role.

"You know me," he said, "I never have anything to say." Beard's remarkable round — he needed only 24 putts — put him into the second round lead in the $150,000 Tournament of Champions Friday.

Was he thinking about the all-time PGA record of eight consecutive birdies when he had his string going?

"No, not really. You just hit it and go find it and hit it again."

Was it his best putting round?

"I don't know. I don't keep records on that sort of thing so I really don't know."

Has he ever had six birdies in a row?

"Again, I don't know. I've had five before, I'm, sure. I don't know about six."

How would he characterize his round?

"I played well. You have to to shoot 64. But it was kind of ragged at times."

Ragged or not, the 134 total — 10 under par on the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course — left him with a three shot lead going into today's third round.

British Open Champion Tony Jacklin had a 68 for 137 and Australian Bruce Crampton was in third place with a 69 for 138.

South African Gary Player, the defending champion and first round leader, never really got it going and drifted back with a 72 for 140. He was tied at that figure with Jack Nicklaus and Masters Champion Billy Casper, each with a 69.

Howard's Orbiting Homer Beats Angels

By The Associated Press

Frank Howard usually lets his bat do his talking but he decided to get his vocal chords into the debate Friday night. The bat won.

The giant slugger unloaded with his bat in the third inning of Washington's 5-3 victory over California, smashing one of the longest home runs in the history of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

Howard blasted a pitch by Andy Messersmith down a runway in the upper deck in left field, estimated at more than 500 feet. It was his fourth homer of the season and snapped a 3-3 tie.

Two innings later, Howard was gone. Called out on strikes by umpire Jim Honochick, Howard protested at the plate and continued his squawk from the dugout. Honochick, as usual, had the last word— "Goodbye."

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore shaded Kansas City 7-5, Detroit stopped Minnesota 8-6 and Cleveland whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-1. Milwaukee at Boston and Oakland at the New York Yankees were rained out.

Besides his mammoth homer, Howard started a three-run uprising in the first inning with a two-out walk. Mike Epstein singled and Lee Maye followed with a homer. The Angels scored in the second on Jim Fregosi's two-run single and Roger Repoz knotted it in the third with a homer.

After Howard's homer put the Senators back in front, winning pitcher Dicc Bosman drove in an insurance run with a fourth-inning single.

The Royals got solo homers from Bob Oliver (two), Jackie Hernandez and Amos Otis and the Orioles displayed some long-ball power of their own. Frank Robinson and Boog Powell hit consecutive homers in the seventh and Powell doubled home an insurance run in the ninth after Pete Richert put down a Kansas City threat. Baltimore starter Mike Cuellar also homered.

Tony Horton's bases-loaded two-run double broke a scoreless deadlock in the sixth inning and started the Indians to their victory over the White Sox. Another run scored on a wild pitch and Ted Uhlaender homered in the eighth.

Non-Profit IDC Plan Gets City Approval

Area businessmen, city and county government officials and representatives of various organizations gathered at the Surf Thursday night to hear three experts discuss the pros and cons of an Industrial Development Corporation (IDC).

Speaking to the group were Roger Rehberg of Lansing, executive secretary of the Governor's Committee to the Northern Great Lakes; Lee Meyers, Escanaba, executive chairman, Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress (UPCAP); and Aarne Ervast, Laurium, Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Dept. of Commerce.

The local consensus was favorable toward formation of a non-profit IDC to work for industrial expansion in this area. An application will be filed for incorporation and an organizational charter adopted.

The non-profit IDC (any realized profits will be reinvested and no dividends paid) will solicit memberships from private individuals and business and industry, according to Howard H. Handorf, County Extension Director and a member of the IDC steering committee.

Driver Injured In Road Mishap

Michigan State Police report a one-car accident which occurred Thursday night at 10:30 on M-77 in Germfask Township.

A car driven by Noel Losey, 21, Germfask, went out of control and rolled over. Losey told troopers he might have dozed off. He was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law — too fast for conditions.

The driver suffered some injuries but elected to seek his own medical treatment. His automobile was towed from the scene of the mishap, troopers said.

Still under investigation by state police is an accident involving a semi-truck and motorcycle which happened Wednesday at 4 p.m. on U.S. 2 in Manistique Township.

Theron St. John, 16, and his brother Richard, 12, were riding on a cycle and attempting a left turn off the highway when their cycle struck the side of semi-truck driven by Duane Blackberg, 28, Iron Mountain.

Blackberg told troopers he saw the cyclist signal for a left turn but didn't think he would be able to slow down quickly enough to avoid hitting the boys and veered into the left lane to avoid striking the cycle.

The two St. John boys, who live at 308 Weston Ave., were taken to the hospital for treatment of leg injuries.

U-M Group To Stage Program

"The Magic of the Stage", an entertaining survey of the theater from the ancient Greeks to modern poetic drama, will be presented at the MHS Auditorium on May 11 by the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program. The 9:30 a.m. performance is sponsored by the Community School under a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Using as its theme the concept of imagination, the one and one-half hour program combines an emphasis on comedy, especially prepared music and powerful drama to trace theatre through the ages.

This year's presentation consists of scenes from Sophocles' "Antigone," Carlo Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters," Shakespeare's "Othello," Moliere's "The Misanthrope," Edmund Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" and Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology."

A company of young professional actors will appear in the presentations and include James Baffico, Donna Haley, James Hosbein, Kathleen McGill and William Tate — all selected by the U of M Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions. All "Magic" personnel are graduate students in theatre at the U of M.

The company is on a month long tour which will take them to 20 communities, including Manistique.

Milliken Speaks Out Against Protestors

EAST LANSING (AP)— Gov. William Milliken spoke out against violent protest Friday night, saying the American public "has just about reached the limits of its patience."

Addressing the annual awards dinner of the Michigan Associated Press Broadcast Association (MAPBA), Milliken said dissenters should "use their powers of protest wisely."

The governor said "the real possibility exists that today's violent and excessive dissent could become tomorrow's violent and excessive repression."

"Our society will not be perfected by turmoil and violence," Milliken said. "It will be perfected only by decent people putting their anger and their frustration and their discontent to work to make things better."

Milliken said he was not opposed to dissent in the forms of speeches, picketing, writing, marching or demonstrating.

"I believe that during the sixties great social progress resulted from this kind of protest," he said. "But as we move into the seventies, we are seeing an ugly turn in the direction of protest. Many people have become impatient with the nonviolent forms of protest which worked so successfully in the civil rights revolution."

He said the danger is that "those who commit violence in the name of dissent could, in the process, destroy the right of dissent."

Milliken termed "the growing acceptance of violence and disruption for achieving social change" as "one of the most important and most dangerous developments in this country today."

The governor said there is much injustice in America, and that it should be solved.

However, he said, "above all of these facts of life in 1970. America hovers a more important reality—that the institutions of democracy can stand only so much battering and so much abuse before they collapse in the face of this angry onslaught."

Milliken said democracy is not a perfect system, but that over the long run the majority "is more often right, better informed, and more dependable in its judgement than any minority ever could be."

"The advocates of violence in this society conveniently ignore the suffering which their violence inflicts on people.' Milliken said. "They excuse their violence in the name of some abstract cause, refusing to admit that violence only begets violence, or that the means do not justify the ends."

"We can save democracy only by setting fire to the conscience of America," he said. "With words, not bombs, we must stir this great sleeping majority out of its sleep."

He said our institutions must be made responsive to "the complaints of the aggrieved minorities in this land."

Earlier in the day, the AP broadcasters announced they have named Milliken as their Newsmaker of the Year for 1969.

Building Funds Made Available By Private Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced that private institutions have pledged to increase commitments for residential mortgages by $2 billion this year.

This would provide about 150,000 new residences and a spur to a construction industry that has been characterized as in a recession.

The pledges came from commercial banks, life insurance companies and trustees of pension funds.

Bruce MacLaury, deputy undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, predicted that the extra morgage commitments will help pull down interest rates. He said that even before this the points some home purchasers have to pay will be eliminated.

President Nixon welcomed the pledges of more mortgage commitments, predicting they will enhance significantly "our ability to meet critical housing needs."

Calendar Sale Starts Sunday

The annual sale of Community Birthday Calendars by the Gladstone High School Band Booster Club will get under way Sunday.

A picture of the high school marching band will appear on the front of the calendar and will list schedules for school activities, meeting dates of local organizations as well as birthdays and anniversaries of subscribers.

Band Booster members will be making house to house calls all next week and the cost of each calendar is $1 and each additional listing is 25 cents. The maximum cost of a calendar is $2. Band Boosters make over 75 per cent of their money on this project and according to Mrs. Tony Marmalick, chairman, a good response from local residents will make this year's sale well worth while.

Proceeds are used to sponsor the band on a concert tour whenever possible and it is hoped that with the support of the entire community they will be able to continue these trips.

In the event anyone is unintentionally missed in this campaign a calendar may be obtained by calling Mrs. Tony Marmalick, 425-5191 during the week.

Records Falling In Drake Relays

The fabulous Mills brothers of Texas A & M made up half of a swift quartet that set a world mark of 1:21.7 in the 880-yard relay Friday afternoon after tying the old record of 1:22.1, set by San Jose State in 1967, in preliminaries earlier in the day.

The record-shattering team was led by Donny Rogers, who turned his 220 yards in 20.9 seconds and passed the baton to Rockie Woods who produced a 21.2-second 220, which was folowed by Marvin Mills' 20.0 and Curtis Mills' grueling 19.6.

The Aggies missed a chance to try for another record when they were disqualified in the preliminaries of the one - mile relay for being out of lane.

In all, six records and one tie were recorded in the university college division of the relays, and two federation events produced new marks going into the final day of the annual classic.

The Mills brothers, whose 880-yard relay mark also stands for the American, NCAA and Drake Relays record, teamed up with Woods and Scott Hendricks in 440-yard relay preliminaries to set a relays record of 40.s, matched two heats later by Oklahoma State.

The Cowboys team, which matched the Aggies in toppling the 40.4 standard set by Kansas in 1969, was composed of Jeff Litvak, Jim Bolding, Dennis Schultz and Earl Harris.

Dale Alexander, Dave Peterson, Bob Barratti and Ken Swenson of Kansas State erased the old meet record of 7:18.3 set by their school last year by pumping out a 7:16.3 in the two-mile relay.

Bowling Green turned in a 16:26.4 four-mile relay effort to tear down the old Relays record of 16:38.7 set by Kansas in 1966.

Chicago Bowler Grabs No. 4 Spot In ABC All-Events

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Russ London of Chicago put together series of 631, 730 and 588 here Friday for a 1,949 total which moved him into fourth place in the regular all-events standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

London, 30, teamed with Ernest Beavers, also of Chicago to post 1,293 and gain a tie with Richard Jones and Frank Ward of Philadelphia for fifth place in the regular doubles.

London had a total of 25 strikes and his 730 series in the doubles was the highest rolled in that division so far in the tournament, and the second highest in any division.

London opened his doubles with 236, came back with 214 and posted a 280 finale. In singles, he had games of 197, 181 and 210. Russ registerered single of 216, 201 and 214 for William A. Pope Co. of Chicago in team action Thursday night.

Henry Figg's 623 series highlighted by a 2783 game-highest posted in the Booster Team division so far-paced Pepsi Cola of Munster, Ind., to a 2,719 and eighth place in the Booster standings.

ABA Records Fall As LA Stars Clip Dallas Quintet

By The Associated Press

Dallas got the jump on Los Angeles—but Los Angeles had the reach on Dallas.

Despite a big early Dallas lead, Los Angeles' rebounding power told the eventual story as the Stars dumped the Chaps 146-139 to take a 3-2 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

The best-of-7 Western Division semifinal set switches to Long Beach, Calif., for the sixth game Sunday.

In Friday night's only other game, Indiana whipped Carolina 110-106 to win their best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals, 4-0.

He also scored the game high 38 one time in the first half, Dallas had a 15-point lead and appeared to have a comfortable margin. The Chaps led 70-60 at the intermission.

But then Los Angeles ran off a 15-1 spurt at the start of the second half that pulled the Stars away. Craig Raymond, Los Angeles' seven-foot center, picked off 18 rebounds as the Stars outrebounded the Chaps, 61-48. He also scored 20 points to go with Bob Warren's 20, and Merv Jackson's 23 and Mack Calvin's game-high 38.

Guard Glen Combs was high for Dallas with 32 points and Cincy Powell had 23 as the Chaps fired 48 percent from the field.

The 285 points scored by the teams was an ABA playoff record, breaking the old mark of 282 by the same clubs.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Card of Thanks

Pearce

We wish to take this means to thank our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the recent loss of our dear husband, father and grandfather, John Pearce. We wish to thank Pastor Walfred E. Nelson for his comforting words; to all who sent cards, flowers, donations of food to the house and to church, and to all who assisted both at home and serving of dinner at church and to anyone who in anyway helped relieve our burden. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

In Memoriam

Johnson

In memory of our beloved father and grandfather, Carl J. Johnson, who passed away seven years ago, April 26, 1963.

It is now seven years
Since God called you home.
Mom shed many tears,
She felt so alone.
Four months have now passed
Since God called Mom too.
We know she's happy at last
To share Heaven with you.
Precious memories of home
Are still in our mind,
As parents you couldn't have been,
More loving, patient and kind.
Since you both have left us,
We're very lonesome and sad:
But facing the future with Jesus
Some day we'll all be glad.

'Jumping Robert' Eyes Chute Mark

FLINT (AP) — Robert J. Rhyne plans to celebrate his 41st birthday by going up and down and up and down and up and down—41 times to be exact —for a parachute jumping record.

The Flint factory worker won't celebrate his birthday until Tuesday but his try at 41 parachute jumps is planned for today at the Dalton Airport near Flint.

"As far as I know, it would be a record number of jumps east of the Mississippi River," said Rhyne, who belongs to the Saginaw Valley Sport Parachute Club. "I know of one guy who made 51 jumps in one day down in Texas."

Rhyne, who has been skydiving seven years, made 14 jumps as a paratrooper during the Korean War and now figures his total at more than 700.

Using two planes, Rhyne said he will attempt his jumps from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., with two 10 - minute breaks in the morning and afternoon and a half-hour for lunch.

Rhyne said most jumps he has ever made in one day was seven, "but I wasn't trying to set any records before."

Fish Week Set Despite Troubles

LANSING (AP) — Proclaiming next week as Michigan Fish Week, Gov. William Milliken has announced plans for a fish dinner to be held Wednesday in the capitol rotunda.

"The fishing industry has been an important industry in the development of our state," Milliken said. "It remains so, despite localized problems posed by contamination of some waters, and by the precautionary, and hopefully temporary, curtailment of fishing in these waters."

Milliken referred to his fishing ban on Michigan waters of Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River, resulting from the scare over mercury contamination in fish.

Hart Displeased With Draft News

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D - Mich., said that president Nixon's speech on the draft Thursday was "disappointing" because of two questions to which it was not addressed."

"The President gave no suggestion as to the size of the Army he believes the national security will demand," Hart said, adding there was "no suggestion as to how we might reduce the size of our standing army."

Hart said that Nixon also "made no mention of the questio of selective conscientious objectors. Also, remembering that the administration sold the present draft lottery system on the basis that it would eliminate much of the uncertainty of the draft, Congress must take a long look at this direct national call proposal."

Chairman Named For Sports Fete

DETROIT (AP) — Gail Smith, director of advertising and merchandising for General Motors Corp., was named Friday as general chairman of the 16th annual Michigan Sports Hall of Fame induction banquet May 14. It will honor the 1970 selectees — Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions; Billy Rogell, ex-Detroit Tiger, and the late Charles Forsythe, former director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Abbie Hoffman Gets Capitol Brush-Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — While 375 elegantly dressed ladies had their hairdos wilted by a steady rain, Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman giggled at the delay he caused and shouted through the White House fence.

Hoffman was turned away when he tried to attend a White House ladies' tea for Finch College Alumnae as bodyguard for rock singer Grace Slick.

"Of course, he's not a Finch alumna," noted hostess Tricia Nixon, who is. "If he had been, we would have invited him."

Miss slick, lead singer of the "Jefferson Airplane," declined to attend the party when Hoffman was barred.

"We would have been glad to have had her attend the tea if she thought she could have without her 'bodyguard,' " Miss Nixon said.

Even without Hoffman, Miss Slick would have been a sensation at the tea in her fish net see-through blouse.

But it was obvious that the White House did not know who Miss Slick was when she was included in the guest list as a Finch alumna. A spokesman said the light dawned when she called to ask permission to bring a guard.

"I always have somebody with me," said Miss Slick at the gate, "especially at the White House."

"We're not going to let one of the first ladies of the New Nation go in there unescorted are we?" quipped Hoffman looking out of character in "straight" clothes, a green suit, white shirt and neatly knotted tie.

"They lose a lot of guests in there," he clucked.

When Hoffman got to the gate, a guard told him, "You know this is for ladies only." To which Hoffman replied, "I'm her bodyguard" After which the guard shoved Hoffman's body away from the entrance.

While the couple awaited further word, Hoffman said, "Some dude's coming out. Tricia's old man or something like that."

Haiti Shelled By Mutineers

MIAMI (AP) — Haiti was sealed off today after mutineers seized three Haitian coast guard vessels and fired on the island country's capital of Port au Prince.

The shells, apparently aimed at the palace of President Francois Duvalier, injured one person and damaged several homes, the government said.

Duvalier immediately closed airports and halted telephone service for all but the palace and minister-level officials.

Citizens were ordered to clear the streets.

The curfew was expected to be lifted today.

Arthur Bonhomme, the Haitian ambassador to the United States, said in Washington that Port au Prince was shelled twice by the rebel seamen.

The type of vessels used was not immediately known. In the past, the Haitian coast guard used 95-foot cutters with 40mm cannons.

The ambassador said Duvalier asked the United States for air cover in case trouble erupted again. However, a U.S. State Department official said the Haitians had been advised that "we can't intervene."

Duvalier has been bothered with such outbursts for 13 years since he became president of the small Caribbean country. He gained the presidency on popularity attained as a country doctor.

Haiti shares the Caribbean island with the Dominican Republic.

No Pollution On Credit River

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — The trout season opens today on the Credit River, and fishermen along the bank will say thanks to an antipollution project which made good.

Ten years ago the Credit was a filthy, choked stream, neglected and abused for more than a century. Now it breaks clean across its rapids on the way to Lake Ontario.

Money and dedicated men brought the Credit back to life and provided a haven for trout and Kokanee salmon. Part of the $3.5 million expended since 1963 came from communities in the Credit watershed; more came from the Ontario government.

More than $1 million built a dam to provide a constant flow of water. Other money went for land acquisitions along the banks, to provide protection against future ravages. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority Foundation has taken control of 3,000 acres through purchase or gifts. At the same time, the provincial Water Resources Commission saw to it that no urban effluents reached the river.

Robert Turnbull, a Toronto Globe and Mail writer who pinpointed the Credit's troubles in a 1963 series, says: "There is no room for complacency. . .One moment of relaxed vigilance and the Credit could slide back into degradation."

The Golden Age Club will meet Sunday at the Civic Center at 2 p.m. Members are asked to bring a dish of their choice.

Boy Scout Troop 414 will hold their Pack meeting Monday at 7 p. m. at St. Patrick's Parish Hall. "Circus," is the program theme and will feature clowns, magic acts, animal, Indian dancing, a bull fight and hobo band. Awards will also be presented.

Times Reports Police Payoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — New York policemen receive "millions of dollars a year" in illicit payments from gamblers, narcotics dealers and businessmen, the New York Times reported Saturday.

Widespread graft among policemen was documented in a six-month survey by Times reporters, the newspaper said, with information coming from policemen, former policemen, private citizens and police and court records.

Quoting sources within the police department, the Times said a "number of cases" of corruption already have been brought before city administrators and top police officials, but have gone uninvestigated.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, after reading the Times article, termed the findings "extremely serious" and said they "go to the heart of the effectiveness of law enforcement in our city."

The mayor appointed a top-level committee Thursday to investigate police corruption.

The Times said most law enforcement experts agree that the most regular source of police corruption in New York City is the "numbers racket," with annual payoffs estimated by some at $15 million in all levels of government in the city.

According to policemen interviewed, graft connected with narcotics enforcement is less carefully organized, the Times said, but "the potential profits are much larger."

Quoting a police source, the newspaper said payoffs could range from $5,000 for agereeing to change testimony against an accused drug seller to $50,000 for the sale of a "wire" — conversations recorded by a wiretap.

Trucker Didn't Let Girl Scout Cookies Crumble

ST. LOUS (AP) — Donal Lane, president of Teamsters Local 600, found the Girl Scout cookie too tough to crumble.

Delivery of nearly 1.5 million boxes of Girl Scout cookies have been delayed since April 1 by the strike of Lane's 9,500 truck drivers.

Mrs. Charlotte Davis, executive secretary of the St. Louis Gcrl Scout Council, complained that Lane had refused to consider her pleas that he release them from the warehouse.

Lane not only agreed Thursday to spring the cookies loose, but he ordered his union business agents to deliver them to distribution points without charge.

The annual cookie sale accounts for nearly half the council's budget.

Recruiting More White Students In School Plans

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Elizabeth City State University, which has about 1,000 Negro students and 25 whites, has begun a campaign to recruit more whites.

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission regional office in Charlottesville, Va., had asked the school, which receives some federal funds, what steps it was taking to desegregate.

Dr. Marion D. Thorpe, president of the state-supported school, replied the state was being asked to assist in hiring a fuflltime recruiter to devote special attention to students.

Forts To Open Gates May 16

LANSING — Gates at Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island and Fort Michilimackinac in Mackinaw City will swing open to the public May 16, two weeks ahead of the past schedule, in a special move to dovetail with Michigan Week and attract large school groups before their classrooms close for the summer.

Michigan Week is set for May 16-23.

Last year, the two forts drew a combined record turnout of 475,000 tourists, reports the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, which operates both popular historic sites.

Another busy season is seen for the forts in 1970 where the Commission has spent more than $200,000 during the past winter to add a number of new exhibits which showcase more historic settings of these facilities.

Among major new improvements at Fort Michilimackinac this season are the reconstructed 1740 Priest's House and a 35-foot Indian-crafted birchbark canoe which was purchased by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

At Fort Mackinac, latest restoration work will give tourists their first chance to pass through the rebuilt 1859 barracks — complete with soldiers' bunks — and the 1879 one-room schoolhouse.

Opening on Mackinac Island around mid-June will be the Benjamin Blacksmith Shop where a skilled smith will hammer hand-forged iron, and a State Park Visitor Center to acquaint tourists with historic attractions of the Island.

Ask Reduction In Seaway Tolls

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Spokesmen for the Great Lakes shipping economy urged the government Friday to reduce tolls which an official said is hurting the Midwest economy by placing the St. Lawrence Seaway "in the hands of loan sharks."

Complaints about Seaway passage expenses were registered by U.S. and Canadian representatives during a meeting sponsored by National Waterways Conference Inc. It was the first in a series of hearings on the costs faced by Great Lakes States in their efforts to ship goods to the sea.

"The tolls were a compromise to get the Seaway, so we ought not to ask for their total removal until federal tax difficulties are solved," Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles said. "But the federal government ought to be removing barriers to our economy, not increasing them."

The meeting was designed to organize opposition to U.S. Transportation Department proposals for increasing Seaway tolls in 1971.

Louis C. Purdey of Toledo, Ohio, president of the conference, said the increasing interest on the original Seaway investment is making the waterway "a prisoner of its debt."

The Seaway, he said, has recovered more than $36 million in the last 10 years through tolls, but the over-all debt has risen to more than $155 million. This, he said, leads to suggestions for higher tolls to meet the increase, but higher tolls will discourage commercial traffic.

Purdey called for revisions of the legislation "which literally placed the Seaway in the hands of loan sharks."

He noted the Senate is considering a revision bill, sponsored by 15 senators.

Senate Okays 'Explosive' Bill

LANSING (AP) — Aiming to halt the use of home-made bombs, the Michigan Senate has overwhelmingly endorsed a bill requiring official permits to purchase explosives such as dynamite and blasting caps.

The Senate voted 34-0 this week for the bill sponsored by Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte, and sent it to the House.

Under the measure, no one under 21 would be allowed to buy explosives.

Those over 21 would be required to obtain a permit from a local police agency if they wanted to buy "just about everything that's needed to complete a bombing."

Included would be nitroglycerine, dynamite, blasting caps, electric blasting caps, safety fuses, fuses and lighters for explosives, fuse ignitors, picric acid, lead acid fulminate of mercury, detonating primers but not reloading primers, "and other dangerous explosive material."

Exempted from the list were black powder and smokeless powder, which some senators argued were used primarily by sportsmen, not persons who'd use them for bombs.

Meanwhile, conscious of public concern over pollution, the Senate rejected a move to allow communities under 4,000 population to exempt themselves from state law governing disposal of garbage and other refuse.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville, won only two "aye" votes and 30 "nays." Reconsideration was slated for next week.

Byker and others argued that small communities could not afford the sanitary landfills required for refuse disposals and, in some cases, people "just pile junk by the side of the road."

"If they can't bury it, they've got to burn it," said Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids. "And then they've got smoke."

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, said he was "tired of hearing that we can't afford to clear up pollution. We can't afford not to."

By a 22-12 vote, the Senate passed a House-approved measure that would allow a farmer to dispose of rubbish "accumulated as a part of the improvement of the planting of privately owned farm land" on his own land.
